Tackling a weight problem is often viewed as a personal responsibility that requires making healthier choices. The latest research however shows that external factors from family and friendships to advertising and the workplace environment make an equal if not greater contribution. Just look at the stats: A person's chance of becoming obese increases by 57 percent if a close friend is obese, 40 percent if a sibling is obese and 37 percent if a spouse is obese. That's where Thinfluence comes in. Through a research based examination of various social, environmental and policy based issues, renowned Harvard researchers Dr Walter Willett and Dr Malissa Wood examine how relationships, workplace, media and other factors are affecting readers' weights. Thinfluence doesn't tell readers to ditch their friends and family, change jobs or move to another state. It offers a clear three step action plan: analyze, act, influence. For readers to identify hidden factors affecting weight, develop a personal toolbox to combat external effects and become positive influences on others around them.
