F. Skinner, 2016-04-26 On Parent s Day in 1952 B F Skinner visited his daughter s fourth grade math class As he watched the lesson he became increasingly uncomfortable Almost every principle of effective teaching that he had studied for more than 20 years was being violated in that classroom Yet it was a typical class The teacher showed how to solve the day s problems then gave the students a worksheet to do Some children began to work readily while others shifted uncomfortably in their chairs or raised their hands for help The teacher went from desk to desk giving help and feedback Skinner knew what was needed Each student should be given a problem tailored precisely to his or her skill level not to the class average and every answer needed to be assessed immediately to determine the next step The task was clearly impossible for one teacher That afternoon Skinner set to work on a teaching machine Today s computers have made the mechanical machine obsolete but the principles of how to design instruction in steps that lead from a basic level to competent performance are as valid today as they were in the 20th century This book brings together Skinner s writings on education during the years he was most involved in improving education Who's who in Finance and Industry, 1999 "Feeling Your Pain" James Bovard, 2015-08-25 James Bovard is no fan of Big Government in the US and under the Clinton Gore administration In his new book Bovard looks at Clinton and Gore s record on such abuses and absurdities as taxes gun control the Waco fiasco AmeriCorps and federal funding of every program from those dealing with disaster relief to those that put on puppet shows in Northern California He looks at Hillary Clinton s informal role in the government as well as Newt Gingrich s poor stewardship of the Republican party in its quest for a leaner federal government In the style that made Lost Rights a classic Bovard takes us on a sentimental journey through the last eight years It s a trip no one will want to miss Books Out-of-print, 1980 Psychological Foundations of Educational Technology William Clark Trow, Eugene E.
