HSC Final Study: ADVANCED MATHEMATICS

TRIGONOMETRY (T2 and T3 historical contribution ~15%)

Key Areas addressed by this worksheet

T2 Trig Functions and Identities

- Exact Trig Ratios: the most common question type of this topic area was last examined in a dedicated question in 2017. Students are required to solve a simple trig equation in exact radian form, within a specified range. Numerous examples look at this, including the harder 2008 HSC for which caused problems;
- questions giving an exact trig ratio that require students to use Pythagoras and find exact  $\sin$ ,  $\cos$  and  $\cot$  ratios is covered (similar to HSCSA Topic Guidance exemplar questions).

- Trig Identities and Harder Equations: examined with a dedicated question in 8 of the last 9 years (most recently in 2021).
- this topic can be examined in a broad array of questions that have produced sub-50% mean marks on a majority of occasions. We revise a number of these.

T3 Trig Functions and Graphs

- Trig Graphs: examined in each of the last 9 years, primarily through multiple choice although 2021 and 2017 saw 2-3 mark allocations;
- Trig Graphs and Transformations, although not examined in 2020-21, should be a revision focus in our view and this is reflected in the revision set;
- amplitude and period of various trig functions is well covered (including the period of tan functions which has caused problems in the past);
- we also revise examples that reflect HSCSA sample exam questions in this topic area;
- Trig Applications: a content area which, if examined, has historically involved a substantial mark allocations and a high level of difficulty;
- last examined in 2020, we review two past HSC questions to cover this very important revision area.
