Environmental Constitutionalism in the Anthropocene Domenico Amirante,Silvia Bagni,2022-04-03 This book examines the relationship between man and nature through different cultural approaches to encourage new environmental legislation as a means of fostering acceptance at a local level In 2019 the International Union of Geological Sciences IUGS recognised that we have entered a new era the Anthropocene specifically characterised by the impact of one species mankind on environmental change The Anthropocene is penetrating the discourse of both hard sciences and humanities and social sciences by posing new epistemological as well as practical challenges to many disciplines Legal sciences have so far been at the margins of this intellectual renewal with few contributions on the central role that the notion of Anthropocene could play in forging a more effective and just environmental law By applying a multidisciplinary approach and adopting a Law as Culture paradigm to the study of law this book explores new paths of investigation and possible solutions to be applied New perspectives for the constitutional framing of environmental policies rights and alternative methods for bottom up participatory law making and conflict resolution are investigated showing that environmental justice is not just an option but an objective within reach The book will be essential reading for students academics and policymakers in the areas of law environmental studies and anthropology

Ecocriticism of the Global South Scott Slovic, Swarnalatha Rangarajan, Vidya Sarveswaran, 2015-03-24 The vast majority of existing ecocritical studies even those which espouse the postcolonial ecocritical perspective operate within a first world sensibility speaking on behalf of subalternized human communities and degraded landscapes without actually eliciting the voices of the impacted communities Ecocriticism of the Global South seeks to allow scholars from or intimately familiar with underrepresented regions to write back to the world's centers of political and military and economic power expressing views of the intersections of nature and culture from the perspective of developing countries This approach highlights what activist and writer Vandana Shiva has described as the relationship between ecology and the politics of survival showing both commonalities and local idiosyncrasies by juxtaposing such countries as China and Northern Ireland New Zealand and Cameroon Much like Ecoambiguity Community and Development this new book is devoted to representing diverse and innovative ecocritical voices from throughout the world particularly from developing nations The two volumes complement each other by pointing out the need for further cultivation of the environmental humanities in regions of the world that are essentially the front line of the human struggle to invent sustainable and just civilizations on an imperiled planet
