with pages reduced to 1/4 size can be found at the back of the Teacher's edition. Like most third graders, my son found learning the multiplication tables through rote memorization a challenge. After an afternoon of tiresome drills, I knew there had to be a better way. I drew a grid for tables 1-10. Not surprisingly, Scott knew tables 1, 2, 5, and 10, the tables with easy patterns. Well, then why not find patterns for the rest of the tables? Tables for EVEN numbers 2, 4, 6, and 8 we discovered end in some combination of 2, 4, 6, 8, 0 and are easy to learn. Tables for ODD numbers we found also have distinct patterns. Patterns made Scott smile. He could see the underlying structure and knew he got it right. The traditional method of learning one math fact at a time, such as 8×6 , is not only difficult but highly inefficient. Rote memorization is passive and mechanical. Students typically find it boring. Why not learn one pattern for the entire table? Discovering patterns is active, creative, and engaging. The essence of mathematics is patterns. Learning to recognize patterns at an early age develops analytical skills. Patterns greatly benefit children with special needs, such as those with ADD, ADHD, autism, and dyslexia. They can better recall and visualize the table when they see a pattern. This is true for all children. Patterns aid recall. My workbook utilizes both left and right brain strategies to teach multiplication. There are marked differences between children who are left hemisphere dominant and those who are right dominant. Whereas the left hemisphere dominant child can construct the whole from the parts, the right dominant prefers the big picture, seeing patterns and making connections. Special needs children are often right brain dominant. Learning the multiplication tables is much easier when both hemispheres are engaged. It is the responsibility of parents and teachers to ensure children learn the multiplication tables. Without them, a child will not progress beyond third grade math. Fractions, decimals, percentages, and algebra will be beyond a child's reach. In California, the number one reason students do not graduate from high school is failure to pass algebra. A leading cause is failure to master the times tables. It is a national disgrace that fifteen-year-olds in the U.S. rank near the bottom of industrialized nations in math skills. We must reverse this alarming trend. The time to intervene is in the third grade. Teachers, why not a more effective approach to the multiplication tables than the drill and kill of rote memorization? Why not bring the magic of math into the classroom? If all third graders were to genuinely like math, they would be more likely to succeed in school. Parents, too, must do their part. Parents have a huge influence over a third grader. By high school, it may be too late. Mastery of the multiplication tables is essential to your child's future. My goal in writing this workbook is not only multiplication mastery for all children but to instill in them a love of numbers and fascination with math.
