Idinopulos, Brian C. Wilson, 2018-09-24 Reappraising Durkheim for the Study and Teaching of Religion Today is an occasion to critically analyze and reassess the work of this intellectual pioneer It is also an effort to signal the continuing importance of Durkheim for today s graduate and advanced undergraduate classrooms Reappraising Durkheim brings together ten new critical essays in which noted sociologists psychologists phenomenologists philosophers and historians of religion grapple with the questions Durkheim raised and the solutions he proposed Taken together the volume is a careful historical and multi disciplinary study of Durkheim that will lead students to a better understanding of how to study religion Reappraising Durkheim will be an excellent text for courses focusing on theory and method in the academic study of religion at both the graduate and advanced undergraduate level It would therefore be appropriate for use in departments of religious studies philosophy sociology and anthropology     Christian Education , 1929     Teaching Religion Using Technology in Higher Education

John Hilton III, 2018-03-19 This edited collection helps those teaching religion in higher education utilize technology to increase student learning both inside and outside of the classroom Recent times have seen major technological shifts that have important implications for how religion is taught at a post secondary level Providing multiple perspectives on a range of topics including social media use and interactive classroom learning this book presents a series of original case studies and insights on how technology can be used in religion classes in higher education to improve student learning

Teaching Religious Literacy to Combat Religious Bullying W. Y. Alice Chan, 2021-05-05 This text explores the phenomenon of religious bullying as it manifests in two North American contexts and theorizes religious literacy as a viable school based intervention to promote understanding of religious and non religious difference Using substantive qualitative data from schools and communities in California and Quebec Teaching Religious Literacy to Combat Religious Bullying examines the impact of mandatory religious literacy courses delivered in secondary schools and identifies curricula teacher attitudes training and administrative support as key determinants of course impact Drawing on Bronfenbrenner s social ecological framework the text then illustrates how the environmental factors both in and outside of the school considerably influence teacher and student attitudes to religious and non religious traditions Practical recommendations are made to combat overarching societal trends and religious discrimination within the classroom and context is cited as key to an effective discussion on religious literacy more broadly This text will benefit researchers academics and educators with an interest in religious literacy religious education the sociology of education and those looking at the field of bullying and truancy more widely Those interested in intersectionality marginalized communities secularism and educational policy will also benefit from the volume      Faith and reason Unified in the World of faith Phenomena Sharon R.

Bradley-Munn,2016-03-11 Faith and reason Unified in the World of faith Phenomena seeks to substantiate that although science or the school of thought can never fully comprehend the realm of faith it can come closer to understanding this unique domain through the study of its manifested properties known as faith phenomena This book seeks to establish that just as reason is not superior to faith neither is faith inadequate to reason but rather each is a counter part to the other fulfilling their individual office while finding completion in the other This book will ignite your spirit man as you endeavor to understand the immaterial substance of faith and world of miracles faith creates through a rational viewfinder      Learning to Teach Religious Education in the Secondary School ,2013-05-13 Learning to Teach Religious Education in the Secondary School provides insights from current educational theory and the best contemporary classroom teaching and learning and suggests tasks activities and further reading that are designed to enhance the quality of initial school experience for the student teacher Key themes addressed include the place of Religious Education in the curriculum state and faith community schooling developing schemes of work language and religious literacy teaching religion at 16 plus religion and moral education collective worship This second edition has been thoroughly updated throughout to take account of changes to policy and the curriculum It includes two additional chapters on Religious Education and Citizenship and Teaching Religious Education at A level as well as new versions of three original chapters Teaching Children with Special Educational Needs Religious Education and Moral Education and Resources for Religious Education Supporting teachers in developing levels of religious and theological literacy both of individual pupils and the society as a whole this comprehensive and accessible text will give practising teachers and students an introduction to the craft of teaching Religious Education in the secondary school      The Learned Practice of Religion in the Modern University Donald Wiebe,2019-11-14 In these essays Donald Wiebe unveils a significant problem in the academic study of religion in colleges and universities in North America and Europe that studies almost always exhibit a religious bias To explore this issue Wiebe looks at the religious and moral agendas behind the study of religion showing that the boundaries between the objective study of religion and religious education as a tool for bettering society have become blurred As a result he argues religious studies departments have fostered an environment where religion has become a learned or scholarly practice rather than the object of academic scrutiny This book provides a critical history of the failure of 20th and 21st century scholars to follow through on the 19th century ideal of an objective scientific study of religious thought and behaviour Although emancipated from direct ecclesiastical control and to some extent from sectarian theologizing Wiebe argues that research and scholarship in the academic department of religious studies has failed to break free from religious constraints He shows that an objective scientific study of religious thought and practice is not only possible but the only appropriate approach to the study of religious phenomena

Law, Religion, Constitution Dr Cristiana Cianitto, Ms Donlu Thayer, Professor Silvio Ferrari, Professor W Cole Durham Jr., 2013-09-28 What is the place assigned to religion in the constitutions of contemporary States What role is religion expected to perform in the fields that are the object of constitutional regulation Is separation of religion and politics a necessary precondition for democracy and the rule of law These questions are addressed in this book through an analysis of the constitutional texts that are in force in different parts of the world Constitutions are at the centre of almost all contemporary legal systems and provide the principles and values that inspire the action of the national law makers After a discussion of some topics that are central to the constitutional regulation of religion the book considers a number of national systems covering countries with a variety of religious and cultural backgrounds The final section of the book is devoted to the discussion of the constitutional regulation of some particularly controversial issues such as religious education the relation between freedom of speech and freedom of religion abortion and freedom of conscience

Law, Education, and the Place of Religion in Public Schools Charles Russo, 2021-09-30 This text presents a comparative cross cultural analysis of the legal status of religion in public education in eighteen different nations while offering recommendations for the future improvement of religious education in public schools Offering rich analytical insights from a range of renowned scholars with expertise in law education and religion this volume provides detailed consideration of legal complexities impacting the place of religion and religious education in public education The volume pays attention to issues of national and international relevance including the separation of the church and state public funding of religious education the accommodation of students devotional needs and compulsory religious education The volume thus highlights the increasingly complex interplay of religion law and education in diverse educational settings and cultures across developing and developed nations Providing a valuable contribution to the field of religious secondary education research this volume will be of interest to researchers academics and educators with an interest in religion and law international and comparative education and those involved with educational policy at all levels Those more broadly interested in moral and values education will also benefit from the discussions the book contains Keeping Faith at

Princeton Frederick Houk Borsch, 2012-02-26 An inside look at how religious diversity came to Princeton In 1981 Frederick Houk Borsch returned to Princeton University his alma mater to serve as dean of the chapel at the Ivy League school In Keeping Faith at Princeton Borsch tells the story of Princeton s journey from its founding in 1746 as a college for Presbyterian ministers to the religiously diverse institution it is today He sets this landmark narrative history against the backdrop of his own quest for spiritual illumination first as a student at Princeton in the 1950s and later as campus minister amid the turmoil and uncertainty of 1980s America Borsch traces how the trauma of the Depression and two world wars challenged the idea of progress through education and religion the very idea on which Princeton was founded Even as the numbers of students gaining access to higher education grew exponentially after World War II student demographics at Princeton and other elite schools remained all male predominantly white and Protestant Then came the 1960s Campuses across America became battlegrounds for the antiwar movement civil rights and gender equality By the dawn of the Reagan era women and blacks were being admitted to Princeton So were greater numbers of Jews Catholics and others Borsch gives an electrifying insider s account of this era of upheaval and great promise With warmth clarity and penetrating firsthand insights Keeping Faith at Princeton demonstrates how Princeton and other major American universities learned to promote religious diversity among their students teachers and administrators Learning to Teach RE in the Secondary School

Anne-Marie Brandom, Andrew Wright, 2005-08-12 Learning to Teach Religious Education in the Secondary School draws together insights from current educational theory and the best contemporary classroom teaching and learning and suggests tasks activities and further reading designed to enhance the quality of initial school experience for the student teacher It aims to support teachers in developing levels of religious and theological literacy both of individual pupils and the society as a whole Practising teachers and students will appreciate this comprehensive and accessible introduction to the craft of teaching Religious Education in the secondary school Current Perspectives on the Value, Teaching, Learning, and Assessment of Design in STEM Education Jeffrey Buckley, Eva Hartell, Nicolaas Blom, 2023-08-25 Design is a central activity within Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics STEM education Within enacted practice design can feature within intended learning outcomes for example in learning to design and it can feature within pedagogical methodologies for example by learning through design Often holding differing disciplinary interpretations such as design as cyclical problem solving iterative design conceptual design or design with or without make understanding the educational merits of the ill defined and open nature of authentic designerly activity is paramount This Research Topic sets out to gain a more nuanced understanding of the value and role s of design within STEM educational contexts This Research Topic focuses on design within STEM educational contexts particularly in terms of teaching learning and assessment The aim is to contribute to the evidential basis which can be used to guide the incorporation of design into educational practice The topic has two central research objectives The first is to generate evidence regarding what design is in STEM education For example is the ability to design a singular or manifold construct Is the capacity to design or are factors of this ability both learnable and teachable How transferable is designerly knowledge between contexts How do different disciplinary contexts influence the interpretation of design The second is to further our understanding of how best to incorporate design within STEM education contexts For example how much emphasis should be placed on learning to or through design in school How should design be assessed within formal education Where and when is design best incorporated into education In posing these questions the goal of this research topic is to provide scholarly discourse which supports critical reflection and the challenging of assumptions regarding design in education

Religions, Beliefs and Education in the European Court of Human Rights Nigel Fancourt, 2024-02-20 This book represents an exposition of judicial pedagogies as a new concept and discusses juridical educational issues in detail through an analysis of the educational claims and assumptions of judges decisions in the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR It sheds light on how within courtrooms around the world judges are increasingly being asked to decide upon issues of religion and belief in schooling whether about admissions policies curriculum planning or pupils and teachers dress and jewellery With key human rights principles at stake these proceedings are often fraught clashing with strong opinions about education and schooling Focusing on decisions made in the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR the author considers how the supranational court looks at these issues and considers the ECtHR s role within the European Education space Drawing upon research and scholarship surrounding these questions the book surveys a series of educational issues including curriculum and assessment and takes a comparative approach in the discussion of case studies to demonstrate the variety and depth of judges thinking Thus rather than considering the national or supranational legal principles and questions as jurisprudential issues typically about religion or human rights it reviews them from an educational perspective as folk theories of teaching and learning Finally it considers the implications of a theory of judicial pedagogy for the courts educational competence in deciding on these matters for education and educational policy research the European education space legal scholarship and for legal and judicial education Developing a novel and innovative approach to the pedagogies at play in a courtroom and providing fresh insights into the courts as agents of social change it will appeal to scholars and researchers working across the disciplines of education law and religious studies     The Routledge International Handbook of Religious Education Derek Davis,Elena Miroshnikova,2013-02-01 How and what to teach about religion is controversial in every country The Routledge International Handbook of Religious Education is the first book to comprehensively address the range of ways that major countries around the world teach religion in public and private educational institutions It discusses how three models in particular seem to dominate the landscape Countries with strong cultural traditions focused on a majority religion tend to adopt an identification model where instruction is provided only in the tenets of the majority religion often to the detriment of other religions and their adherents Countries with traditions that differentiate church and state tend to adopt a separation model thus either offering instruction in a wide range of religions or in some cases teaching very little about religion intentionally leaving it to religious institutions and the home setting to provide religious instruction Still other countries attempt managed pluralism in which neither one nor many but rather a limited handful of major religious traditions are taught Inevitably there are countries which do not fit any of these dominant models and the range of methods touched upon in this book will surprise even the most enlightened reader Religious instruction by educational institutions in 53 countries and regions of the world are explored by experts native to each country These chapters discuss Legal parameters in terms of subjective versus objective instruction in religion Constitutional statutory social and political contexts to religious approaches Distinctions between the kinds of instruction permitted in elementary and secondary schools versus what is allowed in institutions of higher learning Regional assessments which provide a welcome overview and comparison This comprehensive and authoritative volume will appeal to educators scholars religious leaders politicians and others interested in how religion and education interface around the world     Teaching Religion and Healing Linda L.
