The Food Of Art:

Food in Art Gillian Riley, 2014-10-15 From Giuseppe Arcimboldo's painting of the Holy Roman Emperor Rudolf II as a heap of fruits and vegetables to artists depicting lavish banquets for wealthy patrons food and art are remarkably intertwined In this richly illustrated book Gillian Riley provides fresh insight into how the relationship between humans and food has been portrayed in art from ancient times to the Renaissance Exploring a myriad of images including hunting scenes depicted in Egyptian Books of Hours and fruit in Roman wall paintings and mosaics Riley argues that works of art present us with historical information about the preparation and preservation of food that written sources do not for example how meat fish cheese and vegetables were dried salted and smoked or how honey was used to conserve fruit She also examines what these works reveal to us about how animals and plants were raised cultivated hunted harvested and traded throughout history Looking at the many connections between food myth and religion she surveys an array of artworks to answer questions such as whether the Golden Apples of the Hesperides were in fact apples or instead quinces or oranges She also tries to understand whether our perception of fruit in Christian art is skewed by their symbolic meaning With 170 color images of fine art illuminated manuscripts mosaics frescoes stained glass and funerary monuments Food in Art is an aesthetically pleasing and highly readable book for art buffs and foodies alike

Feasting James Yood, 1992 From an elegant table laden with ripening fruit by Claude Monet to a colorful contemporary confection by Wayne Thiebaud Feasting lavishly illustrates humanity's love affair with food From the Baroque period to the present day through many cultures mediums and styles this volume traces artists' fascination with food and the fine art of dining Truly a celebration of artistic and epicurean delights this lavish visual feast features masterpieces from the outstanding collections of The Art Institute of Chicago by Rubens Monet Renoir Peale Moillon van Gogh Cezanne Bonnard Demuth Harnett Chardin and Albright among others The author James Yood has written a lively and entertaining introduction to the history of food as a subject in art both as sustenance and as ritual illuminating food's cultural significance as well as its artistic attraction Each color plate is accompanied by an extensive and informative caption that captures the historic as well as the artistic moment This is the quintessential gift book for art lovers food lovers and anyone who appreciates a good meal
