The Foreign Policies Of Northern Europe:

Foreign Policies Of Northern Europe Bengt Sundelius, 2019-04-05 This cross national treatment of the foreign policies of Northern Europe Denmark Finland Iceland Norway Sweden is organized by substantive policy areas rather than by country thus allowing most similar case analyses of several dimensions of the countries international relations The authors make comparisons among the countries in each area of investigation and present details of security international development and neighborhood and foreign policy processes They also describe and explain international and domestic forces that shape the region s external policies The combination of sound empirically based data and attention to broader international and theoretical interests allows relevant comparisons with other advanced industrial states Northern Europe and the Making of the EU's Mediterranean and Middle East Policies Dr Timo Behr, Dr Teija Tiilikainen, 2015-02-28 What drives European foreign policy towards the wider Mediterranean and Middle East region This collection takes an innovative approach to answering this question by considering the impact of intra European divisions on European policies towards this crucial region It also seeks to answer the questions of which factors are shaping the foreign policies of these countries in the Mediterranean and Middle East what has been their contribution to common EU policies and whether their growing activism signal an end to old geo clientalistic division as a core driver of European foreign policy The Foreign Policies of European Union Member States Ian Manners, Richard Whitman, 2000 This comparative analysis of the foreign policies of European Union member states includes comprehensive coverage of the post Maastricht period and the three newest members of the EU In the only comparative study of its kind since 1976 the book analyzes the dual impact of the Maastricht Treaty on the European Union and the post Cold War environment on the foreign policy processes of the EU s member states The book argues for a new approach to the foreign policy analysis of EU states that recognizes the fundamental changes that membership brings after the Cold War but also acknowledges the diverse role of policies which states seek to retain or advance as being special National and European Foreign Policies Reuben Wong, Christopher Hill, 2012-04-27 National and European Foreign Policy explores the processes of interaction between the national and the European levels in foreign policy making in European Union states The volume also assesses the mutual influence which the Member States exert on each other independent of the EU institutions thus tracing the extent to which Member State foreign policies are being Europeanized into more convergent coordinated policies With chapters examining France Germany Italy UK Denmark Greece Spain Finland Poland and Slovenia the overarching questions the volume addresses centre on the nature of the relationship between the foreign policies of the Member States and European foreign policy Engaging with Europeanization with theoretical rigour the contributors to this volume examine the EU s impact on the foreign policies of Member States old and new the impact of the Member States on the EU s external relations and the influence of the Member States on each other s foreign policies Providing interesting detail on changes in foreign policy thinking and national policies using the concept of

The Foreign Policies of the European Union and the United States in North Africa Francesco Cavatorta, Vincent Durac, 2013-09-13 The war in Iraq seemed to bring to a head underlying differences between the United States and the vast majority of European countries regarding the best means to maintain international peace and stability The unilateralism of the United States as opposed to the multilateralism of the European Union is seen as a very significant source of potential rivalry between the two actors This volume examines in detail whether the policies of the United States and the EU are truly diverging with respect to the most pressing issues facing North Africa or whether in fact they are converging in terms of objectives to be achieved and strategies for their implementation Through a number of papers that include both comparative and case specific studies this book enables a better understanding of the differences and similarities in EU and US foreign policies and security strategies for the region a clearer analysis of their respective democracy promotion policies and a better examination of their respective approach to the Islamist question in light of the continued success of such movements This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of North African Studies

Northern Europe and the Making of the EU's Mediterranean and Middle East Policies Timo Behr, Teija Tiilikainen, 2016-05-23 What drives European foreign policy towards the wider Mediterranean and Middle East region This collection takes an innovative approach to answering this question by considering the impact of intra European divisions on European policies towards this crucial region European foreign policy has traditionally been defined by a clear division of labour southern European member states take the lead in the EU's southern neighbourhood while central and northern European countries drive policies in the EU's eastern neighbourhood The resulting north south split has entrenched geo clientelistic behaviour as a core principle of EU foreign policy making and has fuelled a static intra European competition over influence and resources However as European power dynamics shift these old divisions no longer hold and northern and central European countries have been pushed towards a more pro active role in the region But what factors are shaping the foreign policies of these countries in the Mediterranean and Middle East What has been their contribution to common EU policies And does their growing activism signal an end to old geo clientalistic division as a core driver of European foreign policy
