The Fragmented Novel In Mexico The Politics Of Form:

The Fragmented Novel in Mexico Carol Clark D'Lugo, 2010-01-01 From Mariano Azuela's 1915 novel Los de abajo to Rosamara Roffiel's Amora of 1989 fragmented narrative has been one of the defining features of innovative Mexican fiction in the twentieth century In this innovative study Carol Clark D'Lugo examines fragmentation as a literary strategy that reflects the social and political fissures within modern Mexican society and introduces readers to a more participatory reading of texts D'Lugo traces defining moments in the development of Mexican fiction and the role fragmentation plays in each Some of the topics she covers are nationalist literature of the 1930s and 1940s self-referential novels of the 1950s that focus on the process of reading and writing the works of Carlos Fuentes novels of La Onda that came out of rebellious 1960s Mexican youth culture gay and lesbian fiction and recent women's writings With its sophisticated theoretical methodology that encompasses literature and society this book serves as an admirable survey of the twentieth century Mexican novel It will be important reading for students of Latin American culture and history as well as literature

Revolution and State in Modern Mexico Adam David Morton, 2013-10-04 Now in an updated edition this groundbreaking study develops a new approach to understanding the formation of the postrevolutionary state in Mexico In a shift away from dominant interpretations Adam David Morton considers the construction of the revolution and the modern Mexican state through a fresh analysis of the Mexican Revolution the era of import substitution industrialization and neoliberalism Throughout the author makes interdisciplinary links among geography political economy postcolonialism and Latin American studies in order to provide a new framework for analyzing the development of state power in Mexico He also explores key processes in the contestation of the modern state specifically through studies of the role of intellectuals democratization and democratic transition and spaces of resistance As Morton argues all these themes can only be fully understood through the lens of uneven development in Latin America Centrally the book shows how the history of modern state formation and uneven development in Mexico is best understood as a form of passive revolution referring to the ongoing class strategies that have shaped relations between state and civil society As such Morton makes an important interdisciplinary contribution to debates on state formation relevant to Mexican studies postcolonial and development studies historical sociology and international political economy by revitalizing the debate on the uneven and combined character of development in Mexico and throughout Latin America In so doing he convincingly contends that uneven development can once again become a tool for radical political economy analysis in and beyond the region A substantive new epilogue engages the main theoretical debates that have emerged since the book was first published while also exploring the dominant geographies of power and resistance that are shaping state space in Mexico in the twenty first century And now a Spanish edition Revoluci n y Estado en M xico moderno M xico D F Siglo XXI 2017 is available as well Click here to see the book trailer lines where narratives of nation are embodied and consecrated StartFragment Strategic Occidentalism Ignacio M. Sanchez Prado, 2018-08-15 Strategic Occidentalism examines the transformation in both aesthetics and infrastructure of Mexican fiction since the late 1970s During this time a framework has emerged characterized by the corporatization of publishing a frictional relationship between Mexican literature and global book markets and the desire of Mexican writers to break from dominant models of national culture In the course of this analysis Ignacio M Sanchez Prado engages with theories of world literature proposing that world literature is a construction produced at various levels including the national that must be studied from its material conditions of production in specific sites In particular he argues that Mexican writers have engaged in a strategic Occidentalism in which their idiosyncratic connections with world literature have responded to dynamics different from those identified by world systems or diffusionist theorists Strategic Occidentalism identifies three scenes in which a cosmopolitan aesthetics in Mexican world literature has been produced Sergio Pitol's translation of Eastern European and marginal British modernist literature the emergence of the Crack group as a polemic against the legacies of magical realism and the challenges of writers like Carmen Boullosa Cristina Rivera Garza and Ana Garc a Bergua to the roles traditionally assigned to Latin American writers in world literature Revisiting the Mexican Student Movement of 1968 Juan J. Rojo, 2016-04-21 Tracing the evolution of Mexican literary and cultural production following the Tlatelolco massacre this book shows its progression from a homogeneous construct set on establishing the true history of Tlatelolco against the version of the State to a more nuanced and complex series of historical narratives The initial representations of the events of 1968 were essentially limited to that of the State and that of the Consejo Nacional de Huelga National Strike Council and only later incorporated novels and films Juan J Rojo examines the manner in which films posters testimonios and the Memorial del 68 expanded the boundaries of those initial articulations to a more democratic representation of key participants in the student movement of 1968 Mexico's Ruins Raúl Rodríguez-Hernández, 2008-01-03 Explores the trope of modernity in Garc a Ponce's writings
