Martin archive, editor Marcus Gipps stumbled across over fifty pages of unpublished Uncle stories which are just as hilarious and well-crafted as the published work He also discovered a fascinating biography of Martin, the missionary turned author, by his daughter which explores the unique imagination and experiences that informed this remarkable and inventive genius Both the additional Uncle stories and the biography have never been seen before and Marcus would love to share them with Uncle's legions of fans and also introduce J.P. Martin and Uncle to new readers Richard E. Norman and Race Filmmaking Barbara Tapa Lupack, 2013-11-08 A history of the early 1900s southern-born white filmmaker and the silent films he created for black audiences In the early 1900s so-called race filmmakers set out to produce black-oriented pictures to counteract the racist caricatures that had dominated cinema from its inception Richard E. Norman, a southern-born white filmmaker, was one such pioneer From humble beginnings as a roving home talent filmmaker recreating photoplays that starred local citizens, Norman would go on to produce high-quality feature-length race pictures Together with his better-known contemporaries Oscar Micheaux and Noble and George Johnson, Richard E. Norman helped to define early race filmmaking Making use of unique archival resources including Norman's personal and professional correspondence, detailed distribution records, and newly discovered original shooting scripts, this book offers a vibrant portrait of race in early cinema Grounded in impressive archival research, Barbara Lupack's book offers a long-overdue history of Richard E. Norman and the filmmaking company he established early in the twentieth century Lupack's ability to describe Norman's films and the work that went into their production reanimates them for readers and stresses their role in shaping early African American cinematic representation Paula Massood, author of Making a Promised Land: Harlem in 20th Century Photography and Film, thoroughly researched and crisply written The first book-length work on Norman, Lupack's monograph clearly delineates the Norman Company's importance Richard E. Norman and Race Filmmaking's most profound contribution lies perhaps in how it illuminates the fraught economics of race filmmaking Journal of American History Lupack's book provides a wealth of archival information about this vibrant moment in film history This is a solid contribution to regional film studies and race film business practice and will appeal to scholars, students, and film buffs alike

Black Camera Where the Shadows Lie Pia Skogemann, 2009 Where the Shadows Lie takes the reader on a journey through Tolkien's Middle Earth following the hobbits, their companions, and the characters they encounter on their quest. Along the way, Skogemann reveals the deep symbolic layers that are the source of joy and enchantment that many find in reading The Lord of the Rings. Aragorn, with the aid of Gandalf, Legolas, and Gimli, ascends to the throne and becomes the center of a great unified kingdom, a symbol of the collective Self. The four hobbits representing individual ego consciousness are transformed by the quest and acquire the psychological tools they need to renew the Shire, the small domain enfolded in the great Jung's theories of the collective unconscious and the archetypes provide a key to understanding the forces of fantasy that are so powerful in Tolkien's masterpiece and thereby a key to understanding ourselves and the events of the outside world in our modern times.

Marking Time Fred Brown, 2005 The roadside historical markers of East Tennessee highlight the fascinating personalities and significant events of a culturally and historically rich region. For three years Knoxville News Sentinel columnist Fred Brown presented the stories behind the local markers placed by the Tennessee Historical Commission. He searched the highways and back roads of East Tennessee tracking down markers with directions that were sometimes no more specific than Highway 11, Greene County. Arranged by county, the entries link East Tennessee's past and present and highlight the enormous diversity of the state's history from its prehistoric past through its involvement in World War II. The markers detail bitter struggles with Native Americans in the eighteenth century but also explain the unique contribution of Cherokee culture and civilization such as Sequoyah's development of the Cherokee syllabary. Brown commemorates the numerous Civil War sites throughout the region but he also includes the service of East Tennesseans in later wars. One marker commemorates Kiffin Yates Rockwell, a founding pilot of the Lafayette Escadrille, a famed squadron of aviators in World War I. Another marker details the achievements of Sgt. Elbert L. Kinser of Greene County who was posthumously decorated for his leadership of a First Marine Division Rifle Platoon on Okinawa. The markers also showcase East Tennessee's unique political history. They tell the story of the lost state of Franklin in the 1780s and record the region's efforts to secede from the state when Tennessee left the Union in 1861. Brown's narrative also explains the nature of opposing political factions throughout the decades through the biographies of their leaders such as Elihu Embree, a Quaker abolitionist who founded an antislavery paper in East Tennessee. From the vantage of the armchair or out on the road, Marking Time is a surprising and engaging trip on the byways of East Tennessee's politics, culture, and history through the stories of the men and women who shaped the state.
