Museum Space Kali Tzortzi, 2016-03-09 Museums are among the iconic buildings of the twenty first century as remarkable for their architectural diversity as for the variety of collections they display But how does the architecture of museums affect our experience as visitors This book proposes that by seeing space as common ground between architecture and museology and so between the museum building and its display we can illuminate the individuality of each museum and the distinctive experience it offers for example how some museums create a sense of personal exploration while others are more intensely didactic and how the visit in some cases is transformed into a spatial experience and in other cases into a more social event The book starts with an overview of the history of museum buildings and display strategies and a discussion of theoretical and critical approaches It then focuses on specific museums as in depth case studies and uses methods of spatial analysis to look at the key design choices available to architects and curators and their effects on visitors behaviour Theoretically grounded methodologically original and richly illustrated this book will equip students researchers and professionals in the fields of architecture museum studies curating exhibition design and cultural studies with a guide for studying museums and a theoretical framework for their interpretation

The Art Gallery on Stage Mariacristina Cavecchi, 2024-03-21 Winner of the AIA Associazione Italiana di Anglistica Book

Prize 2024 The Art Gallery on Stage is the first book to consider the representation of the art gallery on the contemporary British stage and to discuss how playwrights have begun to regard it as inspiration location focus or theme in an ever more intense game of cross fertilization The study analyzes the impact on dramatic form and theatrical presentation of what has been a paradigmatic shift in the way art galleries and museums display their collections and how these are perceived establishing a hitherto unexplored connection between modes of exhibiting and modes of representation It traces a trajectory from plays that were initially performed in traditional theatres in accordance with a naturalistic play structure to plays that favour of a radical reconfiguration of visual representation Indeed since the beginning of the new millennium playwrights and theatre makers have increasingly experimented with new dramatic forms and site specific venues while forging collaborations with art makers and curators The book focuses on plays from the 1980s onwards such as Howard Barker's Scenes from an Execution Nick Dear's The Art of Success Alan Bennett's A Question of Attribution Timberlake Wertenbaker's Three Birds Alighting on a Field and The Line David Edgar's Pentecost Martin Crimp's Attempt on Her Life Rebecca Lenkiewicz's Shoreditch Madonna and The Painter David Leddy's Long Live the Little Knife and Tim Crouch's My Arm An Oak Tree and England and considers the vital contribution to the field made by set designers Ultimately through this study we come to understand how modern drama can offer a set of interpretative tools to enhance our understanding of the mechanisms underlying the social construction of art and furthermore the potential of theatre and the gallery space to question our fundamental cultural assumptions and values

The Contemporary Museum Simon Knell, 2018-10-11 The Contemporary Museum issues a challenge to those who view the museum as an artefact of history constrained in its outlook as much by professional institutional and disciplinary creed as by the collections it accumulated in the distant past Denying that the museum can locate its purpose in the pursuit of tradition or in idealistic speculation about the future the book asserts that this can only be found through an ongoing and proactive negotiation with the present the contemporary This volume is not concerned with any present but with the peculiar circumstances of what it refers to as the global contemporary the sense of living in a globally connected world that is preoccupied with the contemporary To situate the museum in this world of real and immediate need and action beyond the reach of history the book argues is to empower it to challenge existing dogmas and inequalities and sweep aside old hierarchies As a result fundamental questions need to be asked about such things as the museum's relationship to global time and space to systems and technologies of knowing to the life well lived to the movement and rights of people and to the psychology permanence and organisation of culture Incorporating diverse viewpoints from around the world The Contemporary Museum is a follow up volume to Museum Revolutions and as such should be essential reading for students in the fields of museum and heritage studies cultural studies communication and media studies art history and social policy Academics and museum professionals will also find this book a source of inspiration

examines a fundamental shift in institutional behavior in museums located in the United States and the United Kingdom. Contending that art museums have moved toward a new paradigm of public engagement, it posits that modern museum visitors are treated as self-directed clients with the agency to make meaning for themselves. The book then considers how this change has come about, examining factors such as the onset of a new museology, an experience economy, and a marketing revolution. Drawing on extensive research undertaken at Britain's Tate Modern, the book examines a range of issues, including visitor engagement, curatorial practice, and museum management. A visit experience that is customizable to the individual visitor, in which curators and marketers work together with visitor clients to create an experience of personalized meaning, is Rodney argues, rising in prevalence in the art museum field, but it is also being stymied by certain structural impediments. This book examines such obstacles, including institutional division of labor, long-standing conceptions or misconceptions of the museum's mission, and the orientation of museums toward a certain conceptual model of their visitors. The Personalization of the Museum Visit is essential reading for scholars and students engaging with issues of visitor engagement, curatorial practice, and museum management. With a particular focus on the role of business interests and public policy, the book should also be of interest to those undertaking research in fields outside of museum and visitor studies.

Contemporary British Art Grant Pooke, 2012-11-12 The last few decades have been among the most dynamic within recent British cultural history. Artists across all genres and media have developed and re-fashioned their practice against a radically changing social and cultural landscape, both national and global. This book takes a fresh look at some of the themes, ideas, and directions which have informed British art since the later 1980s through to the first decade of the new millennium. In addition to discussing some iconic images and examples, it also looks more broadly at the contexts in which a new post-conceptual generation of artists, those typically born since the late 1950s and 1960s, have approached and developed aspects of their professional practice. Contemporary British Art is an ideal introduction to the field. To guide the reader, the book is organized around genres or related practices: painting, sculpture, and installation; and film, video, and performance. The first chapter explores aspects of the contemporary art market and some of the contexts within which art is made, supported, and exhibited. The chapters that discuss various genres of art practice also mention books that may be useful to support further reading. Extensively illustrated with a wide range of work, both known and less well known, from artists such as Chris Ofili, Rachel Whiteread, Damien Hirst, Banksy, Anthony Gormley, Jack Vettriano, Sam Taylor Wood, Steve McQueen, and Tracey Emin, and many more. Museum Bodies Helen Rees Leahy, 2016-04-15 Museum Bodies provides an account of how museums have staged, prescribed, and accommodated a repertoire of bodily practices from their emergence in the eighteenth century to the present day. As long as museums have existed, their visitors have been scrutinized, both formally and informally, and their behaviour calibrated as a register of cognitive receptivity and cultural competence. Yet there has been little sustained theoretical or practical attention given to the visitors' embodied encounter with the museum. In Museum Bodies, Helen Rees

Leahy discusses the politics and practice of visitor studies and the differentiation and exclusion of certain bodies on the basis of for example age gender educational attainment ethnicity and disability At a time when museums are more than ever concerned with size demographic mix and the diversity of their audiences as well as with the ways in which visitors engage with and respond to institutional space and content this wide ranging study of visitors embodied experience of the museum is long overdue

Dancing on Violent Ground Arabella Stanger, 2021-09-15 The politics of theater dance is commonly theorized in relation to bodily freedom resistance agitation or repair This book questions those utopian imaginaries arguing that the visions and sensations of canonical Euro American choreographies carry hidden forms of racial violence not in the sense of the physical or psychological traumas arising in the practice of these arts but through the histories of social domination that materially underwrite them Developing a new theory of choreographic space Arabella Stanger shows how embodied forms of hope promised in ballet and progressive dance modernisms conceal and depend on spatial operations of imperial colonial and racial subjection Stanger unearths dance s violent ground by interrogating the expansionist fantasies of Marius Petipa s imperial ballet settler colonial and corporate land practices in the modern dance of Martha Graham and George Balanchine reactionary discourses of the human in Rudolf von Laban s and Oskar Schlemmer s movement geometries Merce Cunningham s experimentalism as a white settler fantasy of the land of the free and the imperial amnesia of Boris Charmatz s interventions into metropolitan museums Drawing on materialist thought critical race theory and indigenous studies Stanger ultimately advocates for dance studies to adopt a position of critical negativity an analytical attitude attuned to how dance s exuberant modeling of certain forms of life might provide cover for life negating practices Bold in its arguments and rigorous in its critique Dancing on Violent Ground asks how performance scholars can develop a practice of thinking hopefully without expunging history from their site of analysis

Reconstructing Performance Art Tancredi Gusman, 2023-05-26 This book investigates the practices of reconstructing and representing performance art and their power to shape this art form and our understanding of it Performance art emerged internationally between the 1960s and 1970s crossing disciplinary boundaries between performing arts and visual arts Because of the challenge it posed to the ontologies and paradigms of these fields performance art has since stimulated an ongoing debate on the most appropriate means to document preserve and display it Tancredi Gusman brings together international scholars from different disciplinary fields to examine methods media and approaches by which this art form has been represented and re activated over time and its transnational history reconstructed Through contributions and case studies spanning various countries regions and artistic fields the authors outline an innovative theoretical methodological framework for capturing the processes and strategies for transmitting the tangible and intangible heritage of performance art This book will be of great appeal to students researchers and practitioners in the fields of Theatre and Performance Studies as well as Visual Arts and Art History who have an interest in performance art its history and presence in the contemporary artistic and cultural landscape
