Taylorized Citizenship:

The Diary of Henry Machyn, Citizen and Merchant-taylor of London, from A.D. 1550 to A.D. 1563 Henry Machyn, 1848 American Civil Procedure John Bilyeu Oakley, Vikram D. Amar, Vikram Amar, 2009-01-01 This convenient description of civil procedure in the federal and state courts of the United States will be greatly welcomed by lawyers and legal scholars everywhere Without going into deep analysis the book covers every important feature of these legal systems drawing on the expertise and experience of two well versed practitioners As well as the rules policies normative principles and future trends the authors cite recent cases affecting procedure Areas covered include sources judicial organization exercise of the legal profession jurisdiction due process standards rules of evidence enforcement of judgements arbitration and much more Canadian Club Lois Harder, 2022-10-03 Birth based citizenship is widely considered to be the most secure claim to political belonging Despite the general belief that liberal democracies are formed through consent in fact most people are members of a political community by virtue of the circumstances of their birth In Canadian Club Lois Harder tracks the development of Canada's Citizenship Act from its first iteration in 1947 to the provisions governing the citizenship of children born abroad to Canadian parents with the assistance of reproductive technologies Reviewing a range of cases Harder reveals how membership in the Canadian political community relies on norms surrounding gender family and sexuality as well as presumptions regarding the constitution of authentic national identity racial hierarchy and the rightness of settler colonialism Canadian Club concludes with a consideration of alternative approaches to forming political communities Ultimately it asks whether birth based citizenship is the best we can do and what a more democratic and socially just alternative might look like Civic Education for Diverse Citizens in Global Times Beth C. Rubin, James M. Giarelli, 2013-10-11 This book explores four interrelated themes rethinking civic education in light of the diversity of U S society re examining these notions in an increasingly interconnected global context re considering the ways that civic education is researched and practiced and taking stock of where we are currently through use of an historical understanding of civic education There is a gap between theory and practice in social studies education while social studies researchers call for teachers to nurture skills of analysis decision making and participatory citizenship students in social studies classrooms are often found participating in passive tasks e g quiz and test taking worksheet completion listening to lectures rather than engaging critically with the curriculum Civic Education for Diverse Citizens in Global Times directed at students researchers and practitioners of social studies education seeks to engage this divide by offering a collection of work that puts practice at the center of research and theory Handbook of Citizenship Studies Engin F Isin, Bryan S Turner, 2002 The contributions of Woodiwiss Lister and Sassen are outstanding but not unrepresentative of the many merits of this excellent collection The British Journal of Sociology From women's rights civil rights and sexual rights for gays and lesbians to disability rights and language rights we have experienced in the past few decades a major trend in Western nation states

towards new claims for inclusion This trend has echoed around the world from the Zapatistas to Chechen and Kurdish nationalists social and political movements are framing their struggles in the languages of rights and recognition and hence of citizenship Citizenship has thus become an increasingly important axis in the social sciences Social scientists have been rethinking the role of political agent or subject Not only are the rights and obligations of citizens being redefined but also what it means to be a citizen has become an issue of central concern As the process of globalization produces multiple diasporas we can expect increasingly complex relationships between homeland and host societies that will make the traditional idea of national citizenship problematic As societies are forced to manage cultural difference and associated tensions and conflict there will be changes in the processes by which states allocate citizenship and a differentiation of the category of citizen This book constitutes the most authoritative and comprehensive guide to the terrain Drawing on a wealth of interdisciplinary knowledge and including some of the leading commentators of the day it is an essential guide to understanding modern citizenship About the editors Engin F Isin is Associate Professor of Social Science at York University His recent works include Being Political Genealogies of Citizenship Minnesota 2002 and with P K Wood Citizenship and Identity Sage 1999 He is the Managing Editor of Citizenship Studies Bryan S Turner is Professor of Sociology at the University of Cambridge He has written widely on the sociology of citizenship in Citizenship and Capitalism Unwin Hyman 1986 and Citizenship and Social Theory Sage 1993 He is also the author of The Body and Society Sage 1996 and Classical Sociology Sage 1999 and has been editor of Citizenship Studies since 1997

Mediating Sexual Citizenship Anita Brady, Kellie Burns, Cristyn Davies, 2017-07-06 Mediating Sexual Citizenship considers how the neoliberal imperatives of adaptation improvement and transformation that inform the shifting artistic and industrial landscape of television are increasingly indexed to performed disruptions in the norms of sexuality and gender Drawing on examples from a range of television genres quality drama reality television talk shows sitcoms and outlets network cable subscription video on demand the analysis in this book demonstrates how as one of the most dominant cultural technologies television plays a critical role in the production maintenance and potential reconfiguring of the social organisation of embodiment be it within gender identities kinship structures or the categorisation of sexual desire It suggests that in order to understand television's role in producing gendered and sexual citizenship we must pay critical attention to the significant shifts in how television is produced broadcast and consumed

Citizenship In A Global Age Delanty, Gerard, 2000-12-01 This book provides a comprehensive and concise overview of the main debates on citizenship and the implications of globalization It argues that citizenship is no longer defined by nationality and the nation state but has become de-territorialized and fragmented into the separate discourses of rights participation responsibility and identity

The Twilight of Constitutionalism? Petra Dobner, Martin Loughlin, 2012-01-26 The concepts and values that underpin traditional constitutionalism are increasingly being challenged by political realities that place substantial power beyond the state Among the few certainties of a global economy is the growing incongruity between the political the world of things that need to be ordered collectively in order to sustain society and the state the major institution of authoritative political decision making during modern times The consequences and possible remedies of this double disjunction of politics and state and of state and constitution form the centre of an open debate about constitutionalism beyond the state The essays gathered in this collection explore the range of issues raised by this debate The effects of recent changes on two of the main building blocks of constitutionalism statehood and democracy are examined in Parts I and II Since the movement of overcoming statehood has arguably been advanced furthest in the European context the question of the future of constitutionalist ideas in the framework of the EU provides the key theme of Part III The remaining parts consider possible transformations or substitutes The engagement of constitutions with international law offers one line of transmutation of constitutionalism Part IV and the diffusion of constitutionalism into separate social spheres provides an alternative way of pursuing constitutionalism in a new key Part VI Finally the ability of the theory of global administrative law examined in Part V to offer an alternative account of the potential of jurisdictional control of global governing processes is examined Through these explorations the book offers cross disciplinary insights into the impact of recent political and economic changes on modern constitutionalism and an assessment of the prospects for constitutionalism in a transnational environment

The Parent as Citizen Brian Duff, 2011 How ideas about parenthood undermine politics

Welfare, Inequality and Social Citizenship Daniel Edmiston, 2020-02-12 Exploring the lived realities of both poverty and prosperity in the UK this book examines the material and symbolic significance of welfare austerity and its implications for social citizenship and inequality The book offers a rare and vivid insight into the everyday lives attitudes and behaviours of the rich as well as the poor demonstrating how those marginalised and validated by the existing welfare system make sense of the prevailing socio political settlement and their own position within it Through the testimonies of both affluent and deprived citizens the book problematises dominant policy thinking surrounding the functions and limits of welfare examining the civic attitudes and engagements of the rich and the poor to demonstrate how welfare austerity and rising structural inequalities secure and maintain institutional legitimacy The book offers a timely contribution to academic and policy debates pertaining to citizenship welfare reform and inequality

Citizenship, identity and immigration in the European Union Theodora Kostakopoulou, 2024-07-30 European citizenship identity and immigration are constitutive issues facing the European polity and have important consequences for domestic political systems There has been a great deal published about citizenship within the setting of the nation state and comparative immigration policies but relatively little has been written on their theorisation in a post national post statist context such as the EU and on alternative European institutional designs Now available in paperback this volume blends normative political theory with European integration and develops an original theoretical framework for European Union citizenship identity and immigration as well as a set of policy proposals for institutional reform Challenging the conventionally held views in these areas the author argues that a constructive model of European citizenship and identity is vital to the construction of a democratic heterogeneous and inclusive European polity The book will appeal to academics and political actors concerned with issues of European governance as well as to undergraduate and postgraduate students of European politics European integration European Union Law political theory and sociology

Citizenship Inclusion and Intellectual Disability Niklas

Altermark, 2017-11-09 What happens when a group traditionally defined as lacking the necessary capacities of citizenship is targeted by government programs that have made citizenship inclusion their main goal Combining theoretical perspectives of political philosophy social theory and disability studies this book untangles the current state of Western intellectual disability politics following the replacement of state institutionalisation by independent and supported living individual rights and self determination Taking its cue from Foucault's conception of biopolitics denoting the government of the individuals and the totality of the population its overarching argument is that the ambiguous positioning of people with intellectual disabilities with respect to the ideals of citizenship results in a regime of government that simultaneously includes and excludes people of this group On the one hand its members are projected to become ideal citizens via the cultivation of citizenship capacities On the other the right to live independently and by their own choices is curtailed as soon as they are seen as failing with respect to the ideals of reason and rationality Therefore coercion restraints and paternalism which were all supposed to end with deinstitutionalisation are still ingrained in services targeting the group In equal parts a theoretical work advancing debates of critical disability theory social theory and post structural philosophy as well as an empirical engagement with the history of intellectual disability politics and the ways in which present day politics target the group this book will be of interest to all students and scholars of disability studies disability politics and political theory

Citizenship, Diversity and Pluralism Alan Cairns, 1999

Citizenship has both a vertical and a horizontal dimension The vertical links individuals to the state by reinforcing the idea that it is their state that they are full members of an ongoing association that is expected to survive the passing generations Accordingly their relation to the state is not narrowly instrumental but is supported by a reservoir of loyalty and patriotism that gives legitimacy to the state The horizontal relationship is the positive identification with fellow citizens as valued members of the same civic community Here citizenship reinforces empathy and sustains solidarity through its official endorsement of who counts as one of us Citizenship therefore is a linking mechanism that in its most perfect expression binds the citizenry to the state and to each other In Citizenship Diversity and Pluralism leading scholars assess the transformation of these two dimensions of citizenship in increasingly diverse and plural modern societies both in Canada and internationally Subjects addressed include the changing ethnic demography of states social citizenship multiculturalism feminist perspectives on citizenship aboriginal nationalism identity politics and the internationalisation of human rights Alan C Cairns is adjunct professor of political science at the University of Waterloo and author of Charter versus Federalism The Dilemmas of Constitutional Reform John C Courtney is professor of political science at the University
