Learning to Read and Write Ellen J. Brooks,2017-11-22 Originally published in 1986 This is an excellent resourcebook for the holistic teaching of language and the arts The book works its way through theories of language acquisition and literacy before specifically discussing the role of the arts in literacy education and the integration approach Each chapter has an extensive annotated bibliography detailing the resources available The final listing includes both resources for teachers but also the children Bridging the gap between theory and practice this sociopsycholinguistic account will be of great use to anyone seeking a better understanding of teaching and learning reading and writing Library of Congress Catalog: Motion Pictures and Filmstrips Library of Congress,1968 The Book Buyer's Guide , Experiential Activities for Intercultural Learning H. Ned Seelye,1995-12-01 The need for new approaches methods and techniques in cross cultural training and intercultural education are virtually insatiable especially for experiential activities The emphasis in this book is on activities that foster the development of intercultural awareness and cross cultural sensitivity helping learners understand some of the principal dimensions of intercultural communication cross cultural human relations and cultural diversity The selections include simulations case studies role plays critical incidents and individual and group exercises A number address relatively complex workplace issues others focus on intercultural dynamics in educational contexts Some are printed here for the first time others are culled from less accessible sources They range from basic introductory activities to those that facilitate the exploration of intercultural issues in significant depth In an introductory essay Sheila Ramsey an experienced scholar and trainer examines the nature of intercultural training and lays out a conceptual framework for assessing its effectiveness The rest of the book is made up of activities organized around six facets of intercultural contact cultural differences for beginners understanding oneself as a cultural person the intercultural perspective working across cultures cross cultural foul ups and returning home Each section opens with an introduction followed by activities Each activity includes at a minimum objectives audience materials required setting time required and procedure for facilitation Many of the activities include handouts or illustrations This book will be especially valuable for trainers and educators who want to further ground their work in a solid theoretical base and at the same time augment their resources to expand their repertoire
