Europe and the Mediterranean as Linguistic Areas Paolo Ramat,Elisa Roma,2007 This volume is a collection of 12 papers which originated from a research project on Europe and the Mediterranean from a linguistic point of view history and prospects The papers deal with specific morphosyntactic aspects of language structure and evolution The comparative perspective is adopted both from a synchronic typological and a diachronic historical angle focusing in particular on possible contact phenomena Therefore methodological key words of this book are areal typology and linguistic area The issues addressed cover such diverse aspects of language structure and change as verb morphology relative clause formation Noun Phrase determination demonstrative systems possessive markers in Noun Phrases conjunctive disjunctive and adversative constructions non canonical object marking impersonal constructions reduplication and early translations of the Gospels These topics are discussed particularly in relation to Romance Germanic Celtic and Semitic languages both modern and ancient This book will interest researchers in typological historical functional and general linguistics

Social Context and Fluency in L2 Learners Lynda Pritchard Newcombe,2007 The focus in this book is on learners experiences using Welsh outside class but the issues discussed have implications for a wide range of other situations where the population is bilingual or multilingual and interaction takes place in a language of wider communication

Resources in Education ,1976 A Learning Profession? Wendy Robinson,2014-07-11 This ground breaking book uncovers a hidden history of the professional development of serving teachers Drawing on hitherto unpublished archive material Wendy Robinson reveals an optimistic and liberal age of high class conferences in the 1920s and 1930s in London hotels and Oxford colleges free from government control where teachers from across the country and abroad gathered for professional intellectual and cultural refreshment The status attached to these occasions was signified by the celebrities who graced them including royalty public intellectuals educational practitioners and politicians Professor Robinson then shows how post war training became more instrumental taken over by the Ministry of Education with its centrally prescribed advanced courses and from 1970 by Local Education

Authorities invention of apparently democratic Teachers Centres This analysis is complemented by face to face interviews with teachers and other practitioners once active in professional development Fascinating detailed interviews brilliantly capture teachers lived experience of professional development and its influence on their teaching career development and professional identity Fresh and original lucidly written by one of the leading historians of education in Britain A Learning Profession is essential and engaging reading for those interested in the development of a teaching profession Improving Learning in College Roz Ivanic, Richard Edwards, David Barton, Marilyn Martin-Jones, Zoe Fowler, Buddug Hughes, Greg Mannion, Kate Miller, Candice Satchwell, June Smith, 2009-03-04 What's the problem with literacy at college How might everyday literacy be harnessed for educational ends Based on the first major study of literacy practices in colleges in the UK this book explores the reading and writing associated with learning subjects across the college curriculum It investigates literacy practices in which students engage outside of college and teaching and learning strategies through which these can help support the curriculum With insightful analyses of innovative practices it considers ways of changing teaching practices to enable students to draw upon their full potential Recent research work has challenged the myth of individual student deficit arguing cogently that people have funds of knowledge from diverse and vibrant cultural roots and that these have been misguidedly disqualified by the education system It has claimed that different ways with words can provide valuable resources for learning However the empirical exploration of this claim has lagged far behind the theoretical debate Improving Learning in College resolves this by showing the integrity and richness of the literacy practices of a significant population not previously the focus of such research those who take vocational and academic college courses in colleges It addresses an issue which has not until now been developed within this research tradition that of how these practices can not only be valued and validated but mobilised and harnessed to enhance learning in educational settings This book will interest all teachers teacher educators and researchers concerned with post compulsory education and vocational education in compulsory schooling
