Kathleen Keller

The French Imperial Nation State Negritude Colonial Humanism And Interwar Political Rationality:

The French Imperial Nation-State Gary Wilder, 2020-05-08 France experienced a period of crisis following World War I when the relationship between the nation and its colonies became a subject of public debate The French Imperial Nation State focuses on two intersecting movements that redefined imperial politics colonial humanism led by administrative reformers in West Africa and the Paris based Negritude project comprising African and Caribbean elites Gary Wilder develops a sophisticated account of the contradictory character of colonial government and examines the cultural nationalism of Negritude as a multifaceted movement rooted in an alternative black public sphere He argues that interwar France must be understood as an imperial nation state an integrated sociopolitical system that linked a parliamentary republic to an administrative empire An interdisciplinary study of colonial modernity combining French history colonial studies and social theory The French Imperial Nation State will compel readers to revise conventional assumptions about the distinctions between republicanism and racism metropolitan and colonial societies and national and transnational processes

In the Museum of Man Alice L. Conklin, 2013-10-04 In the Museum of Man offers new insight into the thorny relationship between science society and empire at the high water mark of French imperialism and European racism Alice L Conklin takes us into the formative years of French anthropology and social theory between 1850 and 1900 then deep into the practice of anthropology under the name of ethnology both in Paris and in the empire before and especially after World War I and finally into the fate of the discipline and its practitioners under the German Occupation and its immediate aftermath Conklin addresses the influence exerted by academic networks museum collections and imperial connections in defining human diversity socioculturally rather than biologically especially in the wake of resurgent anti-Semitism at the time of the Dreyfus Affair and in the 1930s and 1940s Students of the progressive social scientist Marcel Mauss were exposed to the ravages of imperialism in the French colonies where they did fieldwork as a result they began to challenge both colonialism and the scientific racism that provided its intellectual justification Indeed a number of them were killed in the Resistance fighting for the humanist values they had learned from their teachers and in the field A riveting story of a close knit community of scholars who came to see all societies as equally complex In the Museum of Man serves as a reminder that if scientific expertise once authorized racism anthropologists also learned to rethink their paradigms and mobilize against racial prejudice a lesson well worth remembering today

After the Imperial Turn Antoinette Burton,2003-05-29 Essays in this collection assess the nation as a subject of disciplinary inquiry considering both its enduring relevance and its inadequacy as an analytical category for studying history literature and culture

Ordering Africa Helen Tilley,Robert Gordon,2017-03-01 African research played a major role in transforming the discipline of anthropology in the twentieth century Ethnographic studies in turn had significant effects on the way imperial powers in Africa approached subject peoples Ordering Africa provides the first comparative history of these processes With essays exploring metropolitan research institutes Africans as ethnographers the transnational features of knowledge production and the relationship between anthropology and colonial administration this volume both consolidates and extends a range of new research questions focusing on the politics of imperial knowledge Specific chapters examine French West Africa the Belgian and French Congo the Anglo Egyptian Sudan Italian Northeast Africa Kenya and Equatorial Africa Gabon as well as developments in Britain France Germany Italy and Switzerland A major collection of essays that will be welcomed by scholars interested in imperial history and the history of Africa

Muslims in Interwar Europe ,2015-10-05 Muslims in Interwar Europe provides a comprehensive overview of the history of Muslims in interwar Europe Based on personal and official archives memoirs press writings and correspondences the contributors analyse the multiple aspects of the global Muslim religious political and intellectual affiliations in interwar Europe They argue that Muslims in interwar Europe were neither simply visitors nor colonial victims but that they constituted a group of engaged actors in the European and international space Contributors are Ali Al Tuma Egd nas Ra ius Gerdien Jonker Klaas Stutje Naomi Davidson Pieter Sjoerd van Koningsveld Umar Ryad Zaur Gasimov and Wiebke Bachmann This title is available online in its entirety in Open Access

Beyond Fragmentation Juanita De Barros,Audra Diptee,David Vincent Trotman,2006 In this book leading scholars pull together some of the most recent research on the key themes of Caribbean history slavery the transition to freedom colonialism and decolonization Although all parts of the Caribbean experienced these phases the manner in which they did so differed significantly in part because of their distinct imperial histories Contemporary fragmentation and insularity have led to significant variations in the region s historiography The contributors examine the divergent historiographical and methodological developments in the British French Spanish and Dutch Caribbean By addressing these four linguistic areas of the Caribbean they aim to overcome the traditional differences imposed by language and in the process to explore hotly debated subjects and new directions in Caribbean scholarship

Colonial Suspects

Kathleen Keller,2018-04-01 A Vietnamese cook a German journalist and a Senegalese student what did they have in common They were all suspicious persons kept under surveillance by French colonial authorities in West Africa in the 1920s and 1930s Colonial Suspects looks at the web of surveillance set up by the French government during the twentieth century as France s empire slipped into crisis As French West Africa and the French Empire more generally underwent fundamental transformations during the interwar years French colonial authorities pivoted from a stated policy of assimilation to that of association Surveillance of both colonial subjects and visitors traveling through the colonies increased in scope The effect of this change in policy was profound a culture of suspicion became deeply ingrained in French West African society Kathleen Keller notes that the surveillance techniques developed over time by the French included shadowing postal control port police informants denunciations home searches and gossip This ad hoc approach to colonial surveillance mostly proved ineffectual however and French colonies became transitory spaces where a global cast of characters intermixed and French power remained precarious Increasingly French officials in the colonies and at home reacted in short sighted ways as both perceived and real backlash occurred with respect to communism pan Africanism anticolonialism black radicalism and pan Islamism Focusing primarily on the port city of Dakar Senegal Keller unravels the threads of intrigue rumor and misdirection that informed this chaotic period of French colonial history
