Kafker, James Michael Laux, 1976 The French Revolution: Conflicting Interpretations Frank A. Kafker, James Michael Laux, 1968 Rethinking the French Revolution George C. Comninel, 1987

Historians generally and Marxists in particular have presented the revolution of 1789 as a bourgeois revolution one which marked the ascendance of the bourgeois as a class the defeat of a feudal aristocracy and the triumph of capitalism Recent revisionist accounts however have raised convincing arguments against the idea of the bourgeois class revolution and the model on which it is based In this provocative study George Comninel surveys existing interpretations of the French Revolution and the methodological issues these raise for historians He argues that the weaknesses of Marxist scholarship originate in Marx's own method which has led historians to fall back on abstract conceptions of the transition from feudalism to capitalism Comninel reasserts the principles of historical materialism that found their mature expression in Das Kapital and outlines an interpretation which concludes that while the revolution unified the nation and centralized the French state it did not create a capitalist society close analysis of sometimes tiny groups of key political actors whether the king and his ministers or the besieged leaders of the Jacobin republic and attention to the deeply local politics of both rural and urban populations Identities of class gender and ethnicity are interrogated but so too are conceptions and practices linked to citizenship community order security and freedom each in their way just as central to revolutionary experiences and equally amenable to critical analysis and reflection This Handbook covers the structural and political contexts that build up to give new views on the classic question of the origins of revolution the different dimensions of personal and social experience that illuminate the political moment of 1789 itself the goals and dilemmas of the period of constitutional monarchy the processes of destabilisation and ongoing conflict that ended that experiment the key issues surrounding the emergence and experience of terror and the short and long term legacies for both good and ill of the revolutionary trauma for France and for global politics
