The Four The Chineseenglish Bilingual Series Of Chinese Clabics:

Multimodal Approaches to Chinese-English Translation and Interpreting Meifang Zhang,Dezheng (William) Feng,2020-12-29 Nowadays discourse analysis deals with not only texts but also paratexts and images so do translation and interpreting studies Therefore the concept of multimodality has become an increasingly important topic in the subject areas of linguistics discourse analysis and translation studies However up to now not much research has been done systematically on multimodal factors in translation and interpreting and even less in exploring research models or methodologies for multimodal analysis in translation and interpreting This book aims to introduce and apply different theories of the multimodal discourse analysis to the study of translations with case studies on Chinese classics such as the Monkey King Mulan and The Art of War as well as on interpretations of up to date issues including the Chinese Belt and Road Initiatives and Macao tourism The chapters reflect the first attempts to apply multimodal approaches to translation and interpreting with a special focus on Chinese English translations and interpreting They provide new understandings of transformations in the multimodal translation process and useful reference models for researchers who are interested in doing research of a similar kind especially for those who are interested in looking into translations related to Chinese language literature and culture

A CRITIQUE OF TRANSLATION THEORIES IN CHINESE TRADITION HONGYIN WANG,2018-02-22 A Critique of Translation Theories in Chinese Tradition From Dao an to Fu Lei represents an attempt to review traditional Chinese translation theories covering an intellectual history of about 2 000 years from Eastern Han Dynasty 25-220 in dynastic China up to contemporary China. Following an approach informed by the Western history of philosophy, this two-volume work makes detailed analysis and modern interpretation of ten major theories or theoretical argumentations from the theory of Dao an early Buddhist sutra translator and theorist to that of Fu Lei a contemporary Chinese translator of French literature. Throughout the critique in Volume One a three-dimensional methodology is adopted in different theoretical contexts that is historical evaluation, theoretical explanation and creative modern transformation of each theory with regard to its basic propositions, concepts and categories from its classical form into a modern form. Presented in Volume Two is what the author has got in his exploration by drawing on the traditional Chinese culture resources into the modern Chinese translation theory now still in the making.

Rendering Chinese Classics into English II Pan Wenguo, 2025-10-31. This second volume of the three-part encyclopedia of Chinese-English translation provides a comprehensive exploration of the evolution of translation studies in both China and the West. The book systematically examines the development of Western translation theory, organizing its progression into five distinct phases. It also traces the history of Chinese translation from early Buddhist sutra translations to modern practices, offering comparative analysis of Eastern and Western theories and methodologies. Additionally, the volume explores the evolution of Chinese translation theory before and after the twentieth century, with particular attention to the contributions of key figures such as Yan Fu. An essential resource for scholars, students, and practitioners, this volume offers invaluable insights into translation methodology and serves as a practical guide for those working with classical Chinese texts. It is a must-read for anyone engaged in Chinese-English translation or Chinese studies.

Language Arts in Asia 2 Christina DeCoursey, 2014-06-19. This volume is the second of a series deepening the research, understanding and academic study of Language Arts as an English language teaching paradigm. Previously used extensively in native-speaking countries, Language Arts has been taken up in the past decade in many parts of Asia. Language Arts uses intrinsically motivating materials such as literature, drama and popular culture to help students develop mastery of written and spoken language and text types. In recent years, Language Arts has embraced media and multiliteracies as well as critical and creative thinking, intercultural sensitivity, civics and ethics. This volume offers a breadth of topics which embody methodologically sophisticated and contemporary language arts research. These include multimodal analysis, virtual environments, the use of comics, anime and film in second language teaching and learners' experiences of drama and literary tourism. The use of literature and the arts in humanist education has a long history within Europe. It was traditionally appreciated for its ability to instil ethics and finer sensibilities and teach leadership. But the traditional program was marred by its function in inculcating and preserving elitist, high-culture voices, texts and values. The post-colonial incarnation of Language Arts has been informed by critical and linguistic theory, helping it to embrace a popular scope and include a wide array of authentic social and media texts. The movement of English language teaching beyond native-speaker shores has given rise to a vibrant variety of World Englishes whose literary and media works are now represented within Language Arts The explosion of media over the past few decades has given rise to an increasing array of media to use in language teaching These trends invite scholarly analysis and this is clearly reflected in the chapters in this volume Linguistics has long had a connection to and a natural role to play in analysing the creative verbal and visual arts As a paradigm Language Arts now takes an inclusive view of the continuum of spoken written and performed languages and texts Cutting edge Language Arts research is now also supported through the new journal Language Arts and Linguistics Taylor and Francis 2019, 1992
