Sister Jamaica A Study Of Women Work And Households In Kingston:

Sister Jamaica Lynn A. Bolles, 1996-03-19 Sister Jamaica is about women factory workers their households jobs and lives in Kingston during the destabilization of the Michael Manley administration 1978-79 It shows how these working class women and their household members achieved access to scarce resources and survived a national political and economic crisis The author argues that such achievements were the result of these women and their households exercising a variety of traditional and contemporary cultural social and economic options Bolles looks at the influences of race class and gender emphasizing women's roles in kinship kindredship and domestic organization Domestic chores cash flows and networks of exchange are examined in order to illustrate which household member performed what kind of task and under what kind of circumstances The division of labor among 127 households is examined Finally Bolles looks at the factories and female work forces against the background of international capitalism This text will provide beneficial reading for introductory anthropology classes and courses in women's studies Afro American studies and Caribbean and Latin American studies

Black Women, Academe, and the Tenure Process in the United States and the Caribbean Talia Esnard, Deirdre Cobb-Roberts, 2018-08-06 This book explores the meanings experiences and challenges faced by Black women faculty that are either on the tenure track or have earned tenure The authors advance the notion of comparative intersectionality to tease through the contextual peculiarities and commonalities that define their identities as Black women and their experiences with tenure and promotion across the two geographical spaces By so doing it works through a comparative treatment of existing social inequalities educational disparities and injustices in the promotion and retention of Black women academics Such interpretative examinations offer important insights into how Black women's subjugated knowledge and experiences continue to be suppressed within mainstream structures of power and how they are negotiated across contexts Vodou en Vogue Eziaku Atuama Nwokocha, 2023-04-18 In Haitian Vodou spirits impact Black practitioners everyday lives tightly connecting the sacred and the secular As Eziaku Atuama Nwokocha reveals in this richly textured book that connection is manifest in the dynamic relationship between public religious ceremonies material aesthetics bodily adornment and spirit possession Nwokocha spent more than a decade observing Vodou ceremonies from Montreal and New York to Miami and Port au Prince She engaged particularly with a Haitian practitioner and former fashion designer Manbo Maude who presided over Vodou temples in Mattapan Massachusetts and Jacmel Haiti With vivid description and nuanced analysis Nwokocha shows how Manbo Maude's use of dress and her production of ritual garments are key to serving Black gods and illuminate a larger transnational economy of fashion and spiritual exchange This innovative book centers on fashion and other forms of self presentation yet it draws together many strands of thought and practice showing how religion is a multisensorial experience of engagement with what the gods want and demand from worshippers Nwokocha's ethnographic work will challenge and enrich readers understandings not only of Vodou and its place in Black religious experience but also of religion
