The book begins by tracing the history of public discourse on gender from the 1890s through the 1930s a discourse that included the rise of feminism Each chapter then analyzes works by female and male novelists that address key issues related to gender and nationalism the concept of intrahistoria or an essential Spanish soul modernist uses of figures from the Spanish literary tradition notably Don Quixote and Don Juan biological theories of gender prevalent in the 1920s and 1930s and the growth of an organized feminist movement that coincided with the burgeoning Republican movement This is the first book dealing with this period of Spanish literature to consider women novelists such as Maria Martinez Sierra Carmen de Burgos and Concha Espina alongside canonical male novelists including Miguel de Unamuno Ramon del Valle Inclan and Pio Baroja With its contrasting conceptions of modernism Johnson's work provides a compelling new model for bridging the gender divide in the study of Spanish fiction Spanish Women's Writing 1849-1996 Catherine Davies, 2000-12-01 Traces the tradition of Spanish women's writing from the end of the Romantic period until the present day Professor Davies places the major authors within the changing political cultural and economic context of women's lives over the past century and a half with particular attention to women's accounts of female subjectivity in relation to the Spanish nation state government politics and the women's liberation movement The Feminist Encyclopedia of Spanish Literature Janet Pérez, Maureen Ihrie, 2002 Revista de estudios hispánicos University of Alabama.
