Soldiers Bride:

Entangling Alliances Susan Zeiger, 2010-03-01 Throughout the twentieth century American male soldiers returned home from wars with foreign born wives in tow often from allied but at times from enemy nations resulting in a new official category of immigrant the allied war bride These brides began to appear en masse after World War I peaked after World War II and persisted through the Korean and Vietnam Wars GIs also met and married former enemy women under conditions of postwar occupation although at times the US government banned such unions In this comprehensive complex history of war brides in 20th century American history Susan Zeiger uses relationships between American male soldiers and foreign women as a lens to view larger issues of sexuality race and gender in United States foreign relations Entangling Alliances draws on a rich array of sources to trace how war and postwar anxieties about power and national identity have long been projected onto war brides and how these anxieties translate into public policies particularly immigration The Rural New-Yorker

, 1919 Koreatowns Jinwon Kim, Soo Mee Kim, Stephen Cho Suh, 2020-06-30 This collection defines Koreatowns as spatial configurations that concentrate elements of Korea demographically economically politically and culturally The contributors provide exploratory accounts and critical evaluations of Koreatowns in different countries throughout the world Ranging from familiar settings such as Los Angeles and New York City to more unfamiliar locales such as Singapore Beijing Mexico U S Mexico borderlands and the American Midwest this collection not only examines the social characteristics and contours of these spaces but also the types of discourses and symbols that they exude Women, Families and the British Army, 1700-1880 Vol 2 Jennine Hurl-Eamon, Lynn MacKay, 2020-03-10 This series concentrates on women and the soldiers in the ranks whose lives they shared assembling a wide body of evidence of their romantic entanglements and domestic concerns The new military history of recent decades has demanded a broadening of the source base beyond elite accounts or those that concentrate solely on battlefield experiences Armies did not operate in isolation and men s family ties influenced the course of events in a variety of ways Campfollowing women and children occupied a liminal space in campaign life Those who travelled on the strength of the army received rations in return for providing services such as laundry and nursing but they could also be grouped with prostitutes and condemned as a burden by officers Parents wives and offspring left behind at home remained in soldiers thoughts despite an army culture aimed at replacing kin with regimental ties Soldiers families suffering both on the march and back in Britain attracted public attention at key points in this period as well This series provides for the first time in one place a wide body of texts relating to common soldiers personal lives the women with whom they became involved their children and the families who cared for them It brings hitherto unpublished material into print for the first time and resurrects accounts that have not been in wide circulation since the nineteenth century The collection combines the observations of officers government officials and others with memoirs and letters from men in the ranks and from the women themselves It draws extensively on press accounts especially in the nineteenth century It also demonstrates the value of using literary depictions alongside the letters diaries memoirs and war office papers that form the traditional source base of military historians This second volume covers the period during the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic War era

The unprecedented economic success of South Korea since the 1990s has led in turn to a large increase in the number of immigrants and foreign workers in Korean industries This book describes and explains the experiences of discrimination and racism that foreigners and new Koreans have faced in a multicultural South Korea It looks at how society has treated the foreigners and what their experiences have been given that common discourse about race in Korea surrounds issues of Korean heterogeneity and pure blood nationalism Starting with critiques of Korean scholarship and policy framework on multiculturalism this book argues for the need to revisit the most fundamental aspect of multiculturalism the host population's ability to respect new comers rather than discriminate against them The author employs a critical realist understanding of racism and attempts to identify long lasting institutional factors which make Korean society less than welcoming new or temporary Koreans A large number of new reportages are identified and systematically analysed based on the principles of grounded theory method The findings show that nouveau riche nationalism and pure blood nationalism are widely practised when Koreans deal with foreigners As a newly industrialised and highly successful nation Korean society is still in transition and treats foreigners according to economic standard of their countries of origin As one of the very first books in English about foreigners experiences of Korean nationalism multiculturalism and discrimination it will be of great interest to students and scholars of Sociology Ethnic studies Asian studies Korean studies Media studies and Cultural studies      Presbyterian Banner , 1907      Asian American Studies Now Jean Yu-Wen Shen Wu, Thomas Chen, 2010-03-08
