Jafar, E. Casanova, 2013-12-10 This collection of original scholarly work and first person accounts takes globalization processes and the transnational links these processes create as the jumping off point for an examination of what it means to be have or aspire to a beautiful body Seeing Beauty, Sensing Race in Transnational Indonesia L. Ayu Saraswati, 2013-03-31 In Indonesia light skin color has been desirable throughout recorded history Seeing Beauty Sensing Race explores Indonesia's changing beauty ideals and traces them to a number of influences first to ninth century India and some of the oldest surviving Indonesian literary works then a thousand years later to the impact of Dutch colonialism and the wartime occupation of Japan and finally in the post colonial period to the popularity of American culture The book shows how the transnational circulation of people images and ideas have shaped and shifted discourses and hierarchies of race gender skin color and beauty in Indonesia The author employs affect theories and feminist cultural studies as a lens through which to analyze a vast range of materials including the Old Javanese epic poem Ramayana archival materials magazine advertisements commercial products and numerous interviews with Indonesian women The book offers a rich repertoire of analytical and theoretical tools that allow readers to rethink issues of race and gender in a global context and understand how feelings and emotions Western constructs as well as Indian Javanese and Indonesian notions such as rasa and malu contribute to and are constitutive of transnational and gendered processes of racialization Saraswati argues that it is how emotions come to be attached to certain objects and how they circulate that shape the emotionscape of white beauty in Indonesia Her ground breaking work is a nuanced theoretical exploration of the ways in which representations of beauty and the emotions they embody travel geographically and help shape attitudes and beliefs toward race and gender in a transnational world

Natural Chelsea Mary Elise Johnson, 2024-10-15

How Black women celebrate their natural hair and uproot racialized beauty standards

Hair is not simply a biological feature it is a canvas for expression

Hair can be cut colored dyed covered gelled waxed plucked lasered dreadlocked braided and relaxed

Yet its significance extends beyond mere aesthetics

Hair can carry profound moral spiritual and cultural connotations serving as a reflection of one's beliefs heritage and even political stance

In Natural Chelsea Mary Elise Johnson delves into the complex world surrounding Black women's hair and offers a firsthand look into the kitchens beauty shops conventions and blogs that make up the twenty first century natural hair movement the latest evolution in Black beauty politics

Johnson shares her own hair story and amplifies the voices of women across the globe who after years of chemically relaxing their hair return to a natural style

Johnson describes how many women initially transition to natural hair out of curiosity or as a wellness practice but come to view their choice as political upon confronting personal insecurities and social stigma both within and outside of the Black community

She also investigates natural hair entrepreneurs who use their knowledge to create lucrative and socially transformative haircare ventures

Distinct from a politics of respectability or Afrocentricity Johnson's argument is that today's natural hair movement advances a politics of authenticity

She offers going natural as a practice of self love and acceptance a critique of exclusionary economic arrangements and an exploitative beauty industry and an act of anti racist political resistance

Natural powerfully illustrates how the natural hair movement is part of a larger social change among Black women to assert their own purchasing power standards of beauty and bodily autonomy

In other words it attempts to unravel the sexuality of geopolitics by describing the association between femininity and China in popular culture and nationalist discourse

In addition to advertisements political writings plays and films the archive for this inquiry consists of fieldwork observations and interviews

The Libidinal Economy of China engages a range of post colonial and psychoanalytically informed thinkers in a truly cross disciplinary study

Lacanian theories on hysteria femininity and narcissism are applied in the international domain of geopolitics to formulate a general theory on China's relationship to the West

David Eng and Homi Bhabha are employed for discussing racial fetishism in contemporary China while Slavoj Žižek's ideas on violence and the Other are engaged in explaining the emotional dimension of national identification The study concludes that China and the New Chinese Nationalism is firmly under the gaze of a Western Other analogous to a male gaze That Other rules the libidinal economy of consumer culture which explains China's recurring history of wanting to emulate and catch up with the West while simultaneously reacting to such an attained intimacy with castration anxiety and aggressive hysteria
