Topics on Economics and Social Science Barrington K. Brown,2009-05-11 This manuscript consists of 16 research papers that were completed between the years 1982 and 2005 the analyses of which range from the purely theoretical to the empirical and extending to the more ideological and philosophical In any case the emphasis of each paper is upon creativity with inventiveness and innovation being the essential elements Part two of this manuscript consists of a purely theoretical paper This paper presents a fresh approach to macroeconomic theory and policy Part Three consisting of empirically oriented projects employs unique variable and model specifications in order to verify existing theories in economics The first three papers in this part verifies the theories of bilateral monopoly and the employment effects of minimum wage legislation under conditions of competition monopsony and monopoly The next paper examines Caribbean economic integration and verifies the principle of comparative advantage The fifth paper in this part examines the relationship between market structure and rates of return The sixth paper in this part deals with the gaming industry The fourth part of this manuscript deals with the more ideological and philosophical aspects of economics and social science The first two papers in this part tend to emphasize laissez faire capitalism The third and last paper of this part begins to break with this tendency and thus serves as somewhat of an introduction to the fifth part of this manuscript The fifth part of this manuscript is much more interdisciplinary in nature compared to the earlier parts and deals with class conflict and extends to conflict in general The first paper presents the primary class conflict model and five additional papers follow The fifth paper while an empirical undertaking is included here because it is consistent with the general topic of this part of the manuscript Our Social World Jeanne H. Ballantine,Keith A. Roberts,2009-11-20 Our Social World Introduction to Sociology Brief Edition introduces the discipline of sociology to the contemporary student and provides an integrated comprehensible framework from which to view the world in a concise format In each chapter authors Jeanne H Ballantine and Keith A Roberts provide an organizing theme that is not exclusively tied to one theoretical paradigm to help students see relationships between topics Our Social World presents the perspective of students living in the larger global world Features of this brief edition Offers a strong global focus A global perspective is integrated into each chapter to encourage students to think of global society as a logical extension of their own micro world Deep Learning Approach Encourages Students to think critically about the social World Presents The Social World Model in each chapter This organizing framework helps students understand the interrelatedness of core concepts Making Vancouver Robert A.J. McDonald,2011-11-01 Making Vancouver explores social relationships in Vancouver from 1863 to 1913 It considers how urbanization structured social boundaries among Burrard Inlet s increasingly large population and is premised on the belief that in studying social boundaries historians must abandon single category forms of analysis and build into their research strategies the capacity to explore complexity Robert McDonald thus traces the relationship between the two forms of identify class and status for the whole of Vancouver society The book starts with the years when settlement on Burrard Inlet centred around two lumber mills explores periods of elite dominance of city institutions and then of growing social and political conflict following the arrival of the railway examines the heightening of class tensions at the turn of the century charts economic growth during the boom years before the war and concludes with three chapters on the tripartite status hierarchy that emerged in concert with that of a class dichotomy It reveals a western city that was neither egalitarian nor closed to opportunity Vancouver up to the pre war crash of 1913 was open and dynamic The rapidity of growth easy access to resources narrow industrial base and influence of ethnicity and race softened the thrust towards class division inherent in capitalism Far more powerful in directing social relations was the quest for status creating a social structure that was no less hierarchical than that predicted by class theory but much more fluid The social boundary that separated the working class from others is revealed as a division that for much of the pre war boom period divided Vancouver society more fundamentally than the boundary separating labour from capital Social Stratification Roxanne Connelly, Vernon Gayle, 2016-04-01 Research into social stratification and social divisions has always been a central component of sociological study This volume brings together a range of thematically organised case studies comprising empirical and methodological analyses addressing the challenges of studying trends and processes in social stratification This collection has four themes The first concerns the measurement of social stratification since the problem of relating concepts measurements and operationalizations continues to cause difficulties for sociological analysis This book clarifies the appropriate deployment of existing measurement options and presents new empirical strategies of measurement and interpretation The conception of the life course and individual social biography is very popular in modern sociology The second theme of this volume exploits the contemporary expansion of micro level longitudinal data and the analytical approaches available to researchers to exploit such records It comprises chapters which exemplify innovative empirical analysis of life course processes in a longitudinal context thus offering an advance on previous sociological accounts concerned with longitudinal trends and processes The third theme of the book concerns the interrelationship between contemporary demographic institutional and socioeconomic transformations and structures of social inequality Although the role of wider social changes is rarely neglected in sociological reviews such changes continue to raise analytical challenges for any assessment of empirical differences and trends The fourth theme of the book discusses selected features of policy and political responses to social stratification This volume will be of interest to students academics and policy experts working in the field of social stratification The Educational Hopes and Ambitions of Left-Behind Children in Rural China Yang Hong, 2021-10-15 This monograph highlights the educational experiences of rural children who are left behind by their migrant worker parents in China analyzing how this situation impacts on their aspirations and self identity Via an ethnographic and qualitative case study of a rural school in southwest China the author presents the real lives of these disadvantaged children along with their challenges and needs and provides an in depth understanding of how being left behind impacts on their future aspirations Building on the sociological theories of Pierre Bourdieu the author makes an original contribution by combining seemingly incompatible disciplinary perspectives such as cultural capital from sociology rational action from behavioral economics and self efficacy from psychology Hence the book endeavors to transfer these Western theories to an Eastern context and demonstrates cultural nuances that are not always captured when applied in the West The book will attract academic scholars and postgraduate students in the area of socially disadvantaged children and young people as well as those who are working on youth studies and rural education
