art from its origins in the Stone Age through to the Film Age The Persistence of the Old Regime Arno Mayer, 2024-12-10 In this classic work which analyzes the context in which thirty years of war and revolution wracked the European continent the great historian Arno Mayer emphasizes the backwardness of the European economies and their political subjugation by aristocratic elites and their allies Mayer turns upside down the vision of societies marked by modernization and forward thrusting bourgeois and popular social classes thereby transforming our understanding of the traumatic crises of the early twentieth century An Archaeology of Images Miranda Aldhouse Green, 2004-08-02 Using archaeology and social anthropology and more than 100 original line drawings and photographs An Archaeology of Images takes a fresh look at how ancient images of both people and animals were used in the Iron Age and Roman societies of Europe 600 BC to AD 400 and investigates the various meanings with which images may have been imbued The book challenges the usual interpretation of statues reliefs and figurines as passive things to be looked at or worshipped and reveals them instead as active artefacts designed to be used handled and broken It is made clear that the placing of images in temples or graves may not have been the only episode in their biographies and a single image may have gone through several existences before its working life was over Miranda Aldhouse Green examines a wide range of other issues from gender and identity to foreignness enmity and captivity as well as the significance of the materials used to make the images The result is a comprehensive survey of the multifarious functions and experiences of images in the communities that produced and consumed them Challenging many previously held assumptions about the meaning and significance of Celtic and Roman art An Archaeology of Images will be controversial yet essential reading for anyone interested in this area

Symbolist Landscapes James Kearns, 1989 Materials and Meaning in Architecture Nathaniel Coleman, 2020-02-20 Interweaving architecture philosophy and cultural history Materials and Meaning in Architecture develops a rich and multi dimensional exploration of materials and materiality in an age when architectural practice seems otherwise preoccupied with image and visual representation Arguing that architecture is primarily experienced by the whole body rather than chiefly with the eyes this broad ranging study shows how the most engaging built works are as tactile as they are sensuous communicating directly with the bodily senses especially touch It explores the theme of material imagination and the power of establishing place identity in an architect's work to consider the enduring expressive possibilities of material use in architecture The book's chapters can be dipped into each individual chapter providing close readings of built works by selected modern masters Scarpa Zumthor Williams and Tsien insights into key texts and theories Ruskin Loos Bachelard or short cultural histories of materials wood brick concrete steel and glass And yet taken together the chapters build to a powerful book length argument about how meaning accrues to materials through time and about the need to reinsert the bodily experience of materiality into architectural design It is thus also in part a manifesto arguing for architecture to act as a bulwark against the tide of an increasingly depersonalised built environment With insights for a wide range of readers ranging from students through to researchers and professional designers Materials and Meaning in Architecture will cause theorists to rethink their assumptions and designers to see new potential for their projects The Turn of the Century/Le tournant du siècle Christian Berg, Frank Durieux, Geert Lernout, 2012-06-21 No detailed description available for The Turn of the Century Le tournant du siècle The Turn of the Century Christian Berg, Frank Durieux, Geert Lernout, 1995 Rewritten versions of contributions to an international conference held at the University of Antwerp in May 1992 Starting point for the conference was the vagueness of the very terms modernism and modernity In the first section a group of comparatists address the theoretical and terminological problems of modernism Practical readings of modernist writers discussions of different modernist movements and the work of critics who have contributed to debates about modernism make up the second section The third section looks at the problem of modernism from an interartistic and interdisciplinary perspective

Tolstoy's 'What is Art?' Terry Diffey, 2014-08-27 With its demand that works of art be judged according to the their morally didactic content Tolstoy's reviled aesthetics has seemed to exclude from the canon far too many works widely accepted as masterpieces including Shakespeare and Beethoven This book first published in 1985 argues that these are not mere oversights on the part of Tolstoy he knew full well the consequences of his line of reasoning The author contends that even if we disagree with and eventually reject much of what Tolstoy concludes his account of the nature and purpose of art is nevertheless worth consideration Diffey's argument by no means accepts all of What is Art but by suggesting that the work is best interpreted as a counterpoint to the amoral aestheticism prevalent in Russia at the time he does much to restore it to a status deserving attention particularly in today's climate of extreme relativism
