Zenon Vantini Pamela Sambrook, 2021-05-27 In this remarkable study Pamela Sambrook rescues from obscurity the contribution of a former member of Napoleon's Imperial Guard to the development of specialist hotels and catering in the formative years of the railway network in England and France In doing so she interrogates what lies behind some of Zenon Vantini's very real achievements legacies and disasters She asks how far he was driven by his familial background in Elba and his involvement in the political turmoil of early nineteenth century France and to what extent his whole life was known to those around him Vantini's extraordinary life encapsulates the change between two very different worlds the old imperial past and the new age of entrepreneurial risk taking Never shaking off his old political loyalties he believed resolutely that the mobility afforded by railway travel would change Europe fundamentally In the long view he was a component part in the very early years of an industry which revolutionised England and Europe more than did even his hero Napoleon

Our Own Devices Edward Tenner, 2009-08-26 This delightful and instructive history of invention shows why National Public Radio dubbed Tenner the philosopher of everyday technology Looking at how our inventions have impacted our world in ways we never intended or imagined he shows that the things we create have a tendency to bounce back and change us The reclining chair originally designed for brief healthful relaxation has become the very symbol of obesity The helmet invented for military purposes has made possible new sports like mountain biking and rollerblading The typewriter created to make business run more smoothly has resulted in wide spread vision problems which in turn have made people more reliant on another invention eyeglasses As he sheds light on the many ways inventions surprise and renew us Tenner considers where technology will take us in the future and what we can expect from the devices that we no longer seem able to live without
