Social Policies For The Elderly In The Third World:

Aging in the Third World Kevin G. Kinsella, 1988 Aging and Adult Development in the Developing World Frank E. Eyetsemitan, James T. Gire, 2003-02-28 Most studies of human development in developing societies have focused on the childhood stage and in a few cases exploration has extended up to adolescence since this age group represents about half the population in developing societies The developed world however is experiencing a surge in the elderly population and this has spurred its study There is growing recognition that studies are needed in order to understand aging in all contexts and to discover how the experience may differ in developing and developed societies In this book the authors discuss the appropriateness or inappropriateness of applying Western theories and perspectives to studies of aging in the developing world The present study critically examines the major theories in the area of aging and adult development covering such domains as the physical psychological and social aspects of aging death and dying and social and public policies Applying the concepts of individualism and collectivism as well as the global and environmental dimensions of the developing world the authors have earmarked the theories that seem suitable only to the developed world and those that appear to be universally relevant

Work and Caring for the Elderly Viola M. Lechner, Margaret B. Neal, 1999 Work and Caring for the Elderly directly addresses the pressing issues of this worldwide dilemma by examining how 11 geographically dispersed countries in various stages of economic and social development are responding to this challenging problem

Old-Age Security in Comparative Perspective John B. Williamson, Fred C.

Pampel,1993-03-11 This work makes extensive use of seven well developed historical case studies describing the evolution of public old age security in industrial nations Germany United Kingdom Sweden and the United States and developing nations Brazil Nigeria and India The authors focus on specifying contexts in which general theoretical perspectives can be used to account for these developments One of the few studies which integrates historical and quantitative data this accessible work will prove helpful to students and researchers of the welfare state aging policy and comparative sociology Social Policies for the Elderly in the Third World Martin Tracy,1991-01-30 This book introduces a problem solving model to cross national studies of social programs for the elderly in economically developing nations the Third World a term that is used here only as a designation of unspecified relatively lower levels of industrial and economic development Current models of cross national analysis tend to focus on theory testing and description they fail to provide the practical information that indigenous policymakers need to decide whether another nation s policy program or provision is appropriate to their own country

Understanding Old Age Gail Wilson,2000-02-22 Providing a comprehensive overview of issues of ageing from a global perspective this ambitious text introduces the reader to a wide range of issues and policies on ageing Topics examined include theoretical perspectives on ageing in society demographic trends roles played by older people as political actors migration health pensions family and institutional care and elder abuse This will be an essential text for students of social gerontology as well as an invaluable resource for students of nursing social work social policy and development studies

Senior Citizens of India S. Irudaya Rajan,Udaya S. Mishra,2020-09-08 This book provides an overview of multiple facets of ageing and its evolving dynamics in various Indian states It elaborates on key dimensions like health dependence and disability as well as living arrangements for the elderly Drawing on information from National Sample Surveys to offer readers a broader and richer understanding of the evolving demographic reality in India the book addresses a range of detailed policies and programmes for the elderly in India Given its scope the book is essential reading for students and researchers in the fields of sociology demography economics and development studies It also offers a valuable reference guide for anyone engaged in planning and policy formulation for social security welfare of the aged or mainstreaming ageing concerns Aging in the Global South Maria Carinnes P. Alejandria,Subharati Ghosh,Nicolas Sacco,2018-12-18 This book is a collection of work on aging and development from authors from the global south Aging is steadily evolving as a public health and social crisis for which countries of the global south are ill prepared The forces of development and improved public health services have ensured that human being live longer But there is enough evidence that such longevity do not commensurate with good health As such many countries of the global south are seeing a booming population who are aging in poor health without the necessary safety net to ensure quality of life This book discusses work from Asia Africa and South

America to explore the challenges facing older adults Topics include aging in institutions living arrangements of older adults food insecurity social isolation end of life migration and policy papers This is the first book to bring together varied perspectives on the situation of older adults and the challenges and opportunities that lie in developing innovative sustainable programs to support elderly care services Other Cultures, Elder Years Ellen Rhoads Holmes, Lowell D. Holmes, 1995-05-24 Holmes and Holmes have revised their 1983 book and it remains a good supplement for an undergraduate gerontology course or anthropology course It is written at a readable level each chapter has a clear summary It provides an excellent summary of secondary sources avoiding extensive review of primary research complicated theory and methodological issues Clinical Gerontologist Hailed as extremely well organized balanced and impartial in its first edition by The Gerontologist Other Cultures Elder Years is once again available in a fully revamped second edition This new edition provides a comprehensive comparative viewpoint on our knowledge about worldwide patterns of aging It addresses everything from demographic patterns to family relations from perceptions of the life cycle to the impact of modernization on the aged Replete with summaries of crucial studies from various parts of the world Other Cultures Elder Years also offers three extended case descriptions of Inuit Samoan and white American aged as well as an examination of aging patterns among major American ethnic groups Among the other subjects the text addresses are cultural perspectives in health care the future of aging in America and creativity and the life cycle Other Cultures Elder Years is the key text available for use by anyone teaching courses on aging and culture I found the current book a significant improvement over the first edition It remains to be the only usable text in the anthropology of aging available I see the audiences for the book as instructors for the following courses Anthropology of Aging Sociology of Aging and general social gerontology courses I have used this book in past Anthropology of Aging courses and would do so again Jay Sokolovsky University of Maryland Baltimore County This book does a truly artful job of organizing and presenting the complex diversity of human experience related to aging and cultural influence This book offers an implicit biocultural laboratory to the reader the biologic universal of human aging is shaped by the prism of cultural influence The reader is guided through the evolutionary history of aging among anthropoid primates to hominids to Homo sapiens sapiens who are then examined from cultural perspectives found around the globe The effect is one of inquiry search synthesis and ultimately a confrontation with our inner selves as we negotiate the inexorable march toward our ultimate destiny J Neil Henderson Suncoast Gerontology Center University of South Florida Healthy Longevity in China Yi Zeng, Dudley L. Poston, Denese Ashbaugh Vlosky, Danan Gu, 2008-01-10 Key research in the world's largest aging population in China has fed into this important new work which aims to answer questions critical to older people worldwide These include is the period of disability compressing or expanding with increasing life expectancy and what factors are associated with these trends in the recent decades And is it possible to realize morbidity compression with a prolongation of the life span in the future Essential reading for gerontologists Canadian Social Policy Anne

Westhues,2006 What are the major issues confronting social policy makers today What theoretical perspectives shape our thinking about the causes of social problems and how we should respond What can we do to influence decision makers about which policy choice to make In this completely revised and updated edition of Canadian Social Policy a new generation of social policy analysts discusses these important questions Readers who are interested in discovering the current policy debates and who want to understand the policy making process at various levels of government as well as how they can influence the process and assess whether policies are working will find this book invaluable Economic Growth and Driedger,Neena L. Chappell,2014-05-20 Aging and Ethnicity Toward an Interface provides a framework for comparison in aging and ethnicity This book examines the ethnic factor and its importance for the study of the elderly Organized into five chapters this book begins with an overview of the general demographic characteristics underlying the social structure of the ethnic elderly This text then explores the extent to which elements of assimilation and modernization affect the lives of Canada's ethnic elderly Other chapters consider the existing social policies as they pertain to ethnic groups and present a research agenda to guide basic and evaluation research This book discusses as well the role of primary group relations for maintaining ethnic identity and for preventing loss of status within the family The final chapter deals with methodological issues to be considered when studying the ethnic elderly This book is a valuable resource for sociologists ethnic assimilationists medical specialists and gerontologists Handbook of Communication and Aging Research Jon F.

Nussbaum, Justine Coupland, 2004-04-12 This second edition of the Handbook of Communication and Aging Research captures the ever changing and expanding domain of aging research Since it was first recognized that there is more to social aging than demography gerontology has needed a communication perspective Like the first edition this handbook sets out to demonstrate that aging is not only an individual process but an interactive one The study of communication can lead to an understanding of what it means to grow old We may age physiologically and chronologically but our social aging how we behave as social actors toward others and even how we align ourselves with or come to understand the signs of difference or change as we age are phenomena achieved primarily through communication experiences Synthesizing the vast amount of research that has been published on communication and aging in numerous international outlets over the last three decades the book's contributors include scholars from North America and the United Kingdom who are active researchers in the perspectives covered in their particular chapter Many of the chapters work to deny earlier images of aging as involving normative decrement to provide a picture of aging as a process of development involving positive choices and providing new opportunities A recurring theme in many chapters is that of the heterogeneity of the group of people who are variously categorized as older aged elderly or over 65 The contributors review the literature analytically in a way that reveals not only current theoretical and methodological approaches to communication and aging research but also sets the future agenda This handbook will be of great interest to scholars and researchers in gerontology developmental psychology and communication and in this updated edition will continue to play a key role in the study of communication and aging

Critical Perspectives on Aging Meredith Minkler, Carroll Estes, 2020-11-25 This unique volume brings together 20 critical essays on aging within the context of the broad social political and economic factors that help shape and determine the realities of growing old Rather than viewing aging in isolation it explores the social creation of old age dependency and the profound influence of race gender and social class on what it means to grow old It looks too at such topics as the biomedicalization of aging the role of business and the media in changing societal images of the old the fact and fiction behind senior power the multibillion dollar nursing home industry and the role of advanced capitalist nations in creating economic dependency among elders in the Third World Ibss: Political Science: 1991 British Library of Political and Economic Science, 1993 IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences
