Social Reformers In Urban China:

Social Reformers in Urban China: The Chinese Y.M.C.A., 1895-1926 Shirley S. Garrett, 1973 Social Reformers in Urban China Shirley S. Garrett, 1970 During the years before the advent of the Nationalist regime in China a public concern for social welfare took shape The cry for reform and the need for energies with which to meet the new demands of urban life opened the way for the Y M C A and other Western institutions to influence the course of change In this volume Garrett presents the impressive early history of the Y M C A in China an organization which during the first quarter of the twentieth century became that country s most prominent private agency of social planning The men who went to China as Y M C A personnel were a new breed infused not only with a sense of service but also with qualities of practicality and flexibility that enabled them to appreciate another culture The author interviewed many ex Y M C A China hands and combed a variety of archives to complete this inside account of the missionary origins of and Chinese participation and leadership in the Chinese Y M C A In describing its many constructive measures of reform she covers the Y s formation of the first youth association in the country its pioneer work in education health and welfare programs and its promotion of community wide urban action What emerges is a portrait of a reform minded institution eager to respond to the needs of students and workers but fearful that revolutionary change might alter its identity beyond recognition Social Reformers in Urban China Shirley S. Garrett, 1970 Urban China The World Bank; Development Research Center of the State Council, 2014-07-29 In the last 30 years China s record economic growth lifted half a billion people out of poverty with rapid urbanization providing abundant labor cheap land and good infrastructure While China has avoided some of the common ills of urbanization strains are showing as inefficient land development leads to urban sprawl and ghost towns pollution threatens people s health and farmland and water resources are becoming scarce With China s urban population projected to rise to about one billion or close to 70 percent of the country s population by 2030 China s leaders are seeking a more coordinated urbanization process Urban China is a joint research report by a team from the World Bank and the Development Research Center of China s State Council which was established to address the challenges and opportunities of urbanization in China and to help China forge a new model of urbanization The report takes as its point of departure the conviction that China s urbanization can become more efficient inclusive and sustainable However it stresses that achieving this vision will require strong support from both government and the markets for policy reforms in a number of area The report proposes six main areas for reform first amending land management institutions to foster more efficient land use denser cities modernized agriculture and more equitable wealth distribution second adjusting the hukou household registration system to increase labor mobility and provide urban migrant workers equal access to a common standard of public services third placing urban finances on a more sustainable footing while fostering financial discipline among local governments fourth improving urban planning to enhance connectivity and encourage scale and agglomeration economies

fifth reducing environmental pressures through more efficient resource management and sixth improving governance at the local level Governing Neighborhoods in Urban China Beibei Tang, 2023-05-15 Governing Neighborhoods in Urban China examines the key mechanisms operating at the grassroots level in China that contribute to urban development and increased public support for the legitimacy and authority of the Chinese state. Beibei Tang uncovers new trends and dynamics of urban neighborhood governance since the 2000s to reveal the significant factors that contribute to regime survival. Tang introduces the concept of hybrid authoritarianism, a governance mechanism an authoritarian state employs to produce governance legitimacy, public support, and regime sustainability. Hybrid authoritarianism is situated in an intermediary governance space between state and society. It accommodates both state and non-state actors, deals with a wide range of governance issues, employs flexible governance strategies, and in this context ultimately strengthens CCP leadership. Tang documents processes of hybrid authoritarianism through her focus on various types of urban neighborhoods, including new urban middle-class neighborhoods and the increasing urbanization of the countryside. Governing Neighborhoods in Urban China provides a conceptual framework that avoids scholarly approaches that tend to reify either one-party autocracy or Western-centric notions of democracy.

The Role of American NGOs in China's Modernization Norton Wheeler, 2012-11-27 In the waning years of the Cold War, the United States and China began to cautiously engage in cultural, educational, and policy exchanges which in turn strengthened new security and economic ties. These links have helped shape the most important bilateral relationship in the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. This book explores the dynamics of cultural exchange through an in-depth historical investigation of three organizations at the forefront of U.S.-China non-governmental relations: the Hopkins Nanjing Center for Chinese and American Studies, the National Committee on United States-China Relations, and The 1990 Institute. Norton Wheeler reveals the impact of American non-governmental organizations (NGOs) on education, environment, fiscal policy, and civil society in contemporary China. In turn, this book illuminates the important role that NGOs play in complementing formal diplomacy and presents a model of society-to-society relations that moves beyond old debates over cultural imperialism. Finally, the book highlights the increasingly significant role of Chinese Americans as bridges between the two societies. Based on extensive archival research and interviews with leading American and Chinese figures, this book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese politics and history.

Urban China in Transition John Logan, 2011-07-22 Using an innovative approach, this book interprets the unprecedented transformation of contemporary China's major cities. It deals with a diversity of trends and analyzes their sources. Offers a multi-dimensional analysis of urban life in China. Highlights a diversity of trends in the areas of migration, criminal victimization, gated communities, and the status of women. Suburbanization and neighbourhood associations. Each chapter includes input from both an expert on urban life in China and an outside expert from the fields of sociology, geography, economics, planning, political science, history, demography, architecture, or anthropology.

An alternative theoretical perspective comparing the Chinese experience with other urban settings in the United States Poland Russia Vietnam East and South East Asia and South America The Politics of Community Building in Urban China Thomas Heberer, Christian Göbel, 2011-03-29 This book aims to make sense of the recent reform of neighbourhood institutions in urban China It builds on the observation that the late 1990s saw a comeback of the state in urban China after the increased economization of life in the 1980s had initially forced it to withdraw Based on several months of fieldwork in locations ranging from poor and dilapidated neighbourhoods in Shenyang City to middle class gated communities in Shenzhen the authors analyze recent attempts by the central government to enhance stability in China's increasingly volatile cities In particular they argue that the central government has begun to restructure urban neighbourhoods and has encouraged residents to govern themselves by means of democratic procedures Heberer and Göbel also contend that whilst on the one hand the central government has managed to bring the Party state back into urban society especially by tapping into a range of social groups that depend on it it has not however managed to establish a broad base for participation In testing this hypothesis the book examines the rationales strategies and impacts of this comeback by systematically analyzing how the reorganization of neighbourhood committees was actually conducted and find that opportunities for participation were far more limited than initially promised The book will be of interest to students and scholars of Chinese Studies Development Studies Urban Studies and Asian Studies in general Radicalism and Education Reform in 20th-Century China Suzanne Pepper, 2000-07-10 The first comprehensive book to cover the whole sweep of twentieth century Chinese education Public Health and the Modernization of China, 1865-2015 Liping Bu, 2017-07-14 This book based on extensive original research traces the development of China's public health system showing how advances in public health have been an integral part of China's rise It outlines the phenomenal improvements in public health for example the increase in life expectancy from 38 in 1949 to 73 in 2010 relates developments in public health to prevailing political ideologies and discusses how the drivers of health improvements were unlike in the West modern medical professionals and intellectuals who understood that whatever the prevailing ideology China needs to be a strong country The book explores how public health concepts policies programmes institutions and practices changed and developed through social and political upheavals war and famine and argues that this perspective of China's development is refreshingly different from China's development viewed purely in political terms Marginalization in Urban China F. Wu, C. Webster, 2010-10-28 This book covers social inequalities in Chinese cities and provides comparative perspectives on inequality and social polarization neoliberalization and the poor the change of property rights rural to urban migration and migrants enclaves deprivation and residential segregation state social security and reemployment training programs Urban China in the New Era Zhiming Cheng, Mark Wang, Junhua Chen, 2014-07-08 This book aims to provide a scholarly account of recent understandings and reflections on some of the prevalent and emerging issues in urban and regional China such as urbanization inequality hukou

Digital Media in Urban China Wilfred Yang Wang, 2019-10-04 This book examines the use and culture of digital media in Chinese cities By examining examples and data from Chinese and global social media platforms the book argues that digital media facilitate Chinese people s sense of local self and local identity In doing so the book moves on from the polarised debate regarding the democratic function of Chinese internet to instead examine the connection between digital technologies and the country s history culture and eventually people and their everyday lives It offers a rich analysis of a Chinese city in the digital age and challenges the nationalistic approach to study China s digital media culture

The Search for Modern China Jonathan D. Spence, 1990 This work chronicles the history of China for over four hundred years through the spring of 1989

Boundaries and Categories Feng Wang, 2008 A systematic and in depth analysis and explanation of China s rapid increase in inequality in the last two decades

Gay and Lesbian Subculture in Urban China Loretta Wing Wah Ho, 2009-09-10 This book contributes to a critical understanding of how Chinese same sex identity in urban China is variously imagined how it is transformed and how it presents its resistances as China continues to open up to global power relations Equally important the book will 1 sharpen knowledge of China's recent socio economic change and political agenda 2 build a greater awareness of Chinese cultural sexual and ethical values and 3 offer new perspectives on Chineseness and Chinese same sex identity Uniquely it explores the emergence of Chinese same sex identity through understanding the everyday lived same sex experience amid China's opening up to cultural sexual and economic globalisation This understanding is based on a culturally sensitive framework which accommodates the diverse and sometimes paradoxical articulation of same sex identity in urban China It comes to the conclusion that same sex identity in China is articulated in a paradoxical way open and decentred but at the same time nationalist and conforming to state control This book will be of interest to scholars and students in Chinese studies Gender Studies sexuality and cultural studies

Endogenous Origins of Economic Reforms in India and China Rajiv G. Malusté, 2011-07 Attitudinal change in the context of economic reforms has been referred to in Rodrik and Subramanian 2005 DeLong 2003 Kohli 1989 and Panagariya 2004 2008 This dissertation provides empirical support for this literature establishing an earlier start for India's economic policy liberalisation than presented in stylized accounts It demonstrates the endogenous nature of the origins of these policy shifts Attitudinal change literature had directed attention to the need for further research into India's policy changes of the early 1980s and for studying broader comparability issues in other developing countries This research makes a contribution towards filling these gaps This dissertation shows that India started its economic liberalisation under the Indira Gandhi administration from 1980 to 1984 These findings depart from the conventional view that India's economic policy changes were initiated by the Narasimha Rao government in 1991 or by the Rajiv Gandhi administration in the mid to late 1980s The dissertation establishes that policy shifts of the early 1980s had endogenous origins in the political leadership's attitudinal changes The Indira Gandhi administration of the early 1980s revisited the statist policies of its previous tenure from 1966 to 1977 The new approach entailed more openness towards private enterprise scaling back the role of the public sector and starting India's integration into the global economy The dissertation also discusses the comparable role of attitudinal changes at the start of China's policy liberalisation led by Deng Xiaoping from 1978 to 1982 It focuses on the significance and challenges faced by China's political leadership in bringing about societal attitudinal change The dissertation concludes by drawing comparisons between India and China developing a linkage between their endogenous attitudinal changes and economic policy liberalisation
