for many conditions has been extensively tested by genome wide association studies GWAS there remains much to be understood regarding the genetics of these health issues Twin studies for example have found a relatively high rate of inheritance for depression and anxiety disorders To better appreciate the role that genetics plays in these disorders it is useful to understand the extent to which other factors also contribute to the condition Other major contributing factors to mental disorders are the environment and psychological factors These environmental and psychological concerns have been further exacerbated by the growth of social media and the requirement especially for young adults and teenagers to always be on It is likely that the metaverse in whatever form it ultimately takes will further exacerbate these conditions On the other hand social media and the metaverse can be tools to help those suffering from mental health conditions Online therapists and bots can provide frontline care to those who can't or won't go to an in person therapy session AI can be employed to provide some forms of therapy in light of the growing demand for licensed therapists and the limited supply

Early Detection of Mental Health Disorders by Social Media Monitoring Fabio Crestani, David E. Losada, Javier Parapar, 2022-09-14 eRisk stands for Early Risk Prediction on the Internet It is concerned with the exploration of techniques for the early detection of mental health disorders which manifest in the way people write and communicate on the internet in particular in user generated content e.g. Facebook Twitter or other social media Early detection technologies can be employed in several different areas but particularly in those related to health and safety For instance early alerts could be sent when the writing of a teenager starts showing increasing signs of depression or when a social media user starts showing suicidal inclinations or again when a potential offender starts publishing antisocial threats on a blog forum or social network eRisk has been the pioneer of a new interdisciplinary area of research that is potentially applicable to a wide variety of situations problems and personal profiles This book presents the best results of the first five years of the eRisk project which started in 2017 and developed into one of the most successful tracks of CLEF the Conference and Lab of the Evaluation Forum
