TofC cont Conclusions challenging prejudice Undoing prejudice I lessons from the three lenses Undoing prejudice II empowerment In this book the author uses historical sociological and psychological perspectives to help students see a complete picture of prejudice Pref This book first considers the meaning of differences and how prejudice is structured around dealing with differences It next examines those efforts to understand prejudice that argue that perhaps there is something about the targeted groups that would explain why they are thought ill of and perhaps even treated differently from the rest of us The book then refocuses from the targeted groups to the prejudiced person arguing that perhaps there is something about people who are prejudiced that we must examine in order to understand this troubling topic Next the author argues that because prejudice is an intergroup phenomenon perhaps it is best to examine prejudice in terms of intergroup relations Finally the book addresses two additional issues the consequences of prejudice and what to do to reduce prejudice

The Social Psychology of Prejudice Gerhart Saenger, 1969 Stereotyping and Prejudice Daniel Bar-Tal, Carl F. Graumann, Arie W. Kruglanski, Wolfgang Stroebe, 2013-11-11

The study of stereotyping and prejudice is a study of human nature group membership and intergroup relationships It sheds light on each of these aspects of social psychology With respect to the first two it has been observed that since groups provide the best framework for satisfying various human needs individuals continuously organize themselves in collectives They belong to a variety of groups many of which they voluntarily select and some to which they are ascribed Group membership therefore is one of the most salient and important of an individual's characteristics The implication of this characteristic is that human beings not only constantly classify other people into group categories either by identifying membership or constructing their own categories but also judge and evaluate them on this basis The stereotypes and prejudice are outcomes of this process They are the beliefs and attitudes toward members of another group In addition the study of stereotyping and prejudice reflects an interest in intergroup relationships While we recognize that a discussion of intergroup relationships may focus on behaviors describing actions such as confrontations violence wars cooperation alliance negotiation or coordination we also believe that each of these intergroup behaviors is mediated by perceptions beliefs and attitudes In the case of intergroup behaviors the listed actions are not performed instinctively or mindlessly but are preceded by cognitive processes which among other outputs involve the formation of stereotypes and prejudice toward the other group
