Socialist Propaganda In The Twentieth Century Novel:

Socialist Propaganda in the Twentieth-century British Novel David Smith, 1978 Encyclopedia of the Novel Paul Schellinger, 2014-04-08 The Encyclopedia of the Novel is the first reference book that focuses on the development of the novel throughout the world Entries on individual writers assess the place of that writer within the development of the novel form explaining why and in exactly what ways that writer is important Similarly an entry on an individual novel discusses the importance of that novel not only from analyzing the particular innovations that novel has introduced and the ways in which it has influenced the subsequent course of the genre A wide range of topic entries explore the history criticism theory production dissemination and reception of the novel A very important component of the Encyclopedia of the Novel is its long surveys of development of the novel in various regions of the world Representation and the Twentieth-century Novel Paul D. Morris, 2005 The Popular Front Novel in Britain, 1934-1940 Elinor Taylor, 2017-11-01 In The Popular Front Novel in Britain 1934-1940 Elinor Taylor provides the first study of the relationship between the British novel and the anti fascist Popular Front strategy endorsed by the Comintern in 1935 Through readings of novels by British Communists including Jack Lindsay John Sommerfield Lewis Jones and James Barke Taylor shows that the realist novel of the left was a key site in which the politics of anti fascist alliance were rehearsed Maintaining a dialogue with theories of populism and with Georg Lukacs's vision of a revived literary realism ensuing from the Popular Front this book at once illuminates the cultural formation of the Popular Front in Britain and proposes a new framework for reading British fiction of this period German Literature of the Twentieth Century Ingo Roland Stoehr, 2001 Traces literary developments in the German speaking countries from 1900 to the present This study of German literature in the past hundred years sets its subject clearly in the artistic and political context of developments in Western Europe during the century It begins with the turn of the century aestheticism and visions of decay led by Schnitzler Hofmannsthal and other Austrian writers and the quite different explosion of new artistic energy in the Expressionist and Dada movements These movements are succeeded by the rise of Modernism culminating in the inter war years the poetry of Rilke Brecht's epic theatre and novels by Thomas Mann Kafka Hesse Musil Döblin and Brecht the influence of Nazism on literary production is considered The study of developments after 1945 reflects the struggle to establish a post Holocaust literature and to deal with the questions posed by the political division of Germany Finally the convergence of East and West German literature after unification is addressed Ingo R Stoehr teaches literature at Kilgore College Texas and is editor of the bilingual journal of German literature in English translation Dimension2 Reader's Guide to British History David Loades, 2020-12-17 The Reader's Guide to British History is the essential source to secondary material on British history This resource contains over 1 000 A-Z entries on the history of Britain from ancient and Roman Britain to the present day Each entry lists 6-12 of the best known books on the subject then discusses those works in an essay of 800 to 1 000 words prepared by an expert in the field The essays provide advice on the range and depth of coverage as well as the emphasis and point of view espoused in each publication

Reader's Guide to Literature in English Mark Hawkins-Dady, 2012-12-06 Reader's Guide Literature in English provides expert guidance to and critical analysis of the vast number of books available within the subject of English literature from Anglo Saxon times to the current American British and Commonwealth scene It is designed to help students teachers and librarians choose the most appropriate books for research and study

Home in British Working-Class Fiction Nicola Wilson, 2016-03-09 Home in British Working Class Fiction offers a fresh take on British working class writing that turns away from a masculinist work based understanding of class in favour of home gender domestic labour and the family kitchen As Nicola Wilson shows the history of the British working classes has often been written from the outside with observers looking into the world of the inhabitants Here Wilson engages with the long cultural history of this gaze and asks how home is represented in the writing of authors who come from a working class background Her book explores the depiction of home as a key emotional and material site in working class writing from the Edwardian period through to the early 1990s Wilson presents new readings of classic texts including The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists Love on the Dole and Saturday Night and Sunday Morning analyzing them alongside works by authors including James Hanley Walter Brierley Lewis Grassie Gibbon Buchi Emecheta Pat Barker James Kelman and the rediscovered ex mill girl novelist Ethel Carnie Holdsworth Wilson's broad understanding of working class writing allows her to incorporate figures typically ignored in this context as she demonstrates the importance of home's role in the making and expression of class feeling and identity

Literature and the Political Imagination Andrea T. Baumeister, John Horton, 2013-04-15 This volume shows how modern political theory can be enriched through an engagement with works of literature It uses the resources of literature to explore issues such as nationalism liberal philosophy utopianism narrative and the role of theory in political thought A variety of approaches are adopted and the aim is to show some of the many and diverse ways in which literature may enrich political theorising as well as considering some of the problems to which this may give rise The theorists discussed include Richard Rorty Alasdair MacIntyre Charles Taylor and Martha Nussbaum There are literary references from Greek tragedy Jonathan Swift Brian Moore Elizabeth Bowen and contemporary feminist utopian fiction All the contributors have a long standing interest in the relations between literature and moral and political thought They are concerned not to be restricted by conventional academic boundaries and are not united by any party line or uniformity of intellectual commitments This volume will be of great interest to all students engaged in the study of politics and literature

Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Latin American and Caribbean Literature, 1900-2003 Daniel Balderston, Mike Gonzalez, 2004-02-12 The Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Latin American and Caribbean Literature 1900-2003 draws together entries on all aspects of literature including authors critics major works magazines genres schools and movements in these regions from the beginning of the twentieth century to the present day With more than 200 entries written by a team of international contributors this Encyclopedia successfully covers the popular to the esoteric The

Encyclopedia is an invaluable reference resource for those studying Latin American and or Caribbean literature as well as being of huge interest to those following Spanish or Portuguese language courses

Constructions of 'the Jew' in English Literature and Society Bryan Cheyette, 1995-10-26 Combining cultural theory discourse analysis and new historicism with readings of the works of major contemporary authors this study concludes that the Jew is characterized unstereotypically as the embodiment of uncertainty within English literature and society

The Fiction of Doris Lessing Ratna Raman, 2021-04-30 Doris Lessing 1919-2013 a prolific contemporary author was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature in 2007 for her life work Examining five decades of Lessing's unique life narrative strategies and the literary traditions that she drew upon and improvised this book highlights her extraordinary significance as a writer of our times and for our times Lessing's fiction and non fiction provide a seminal understanding of the key issues that shaped the twentieth century Autodidactic and keenly interested in the world around her Lessing flagged the problems of racism in Africa the inequity of class in modern England the limitations of white middle class women's movements that overlooked the rights of women across race and class the marginalisation of individuals the horror of nuclear war and the need for disarmament and the hazardous global expansion in the face of unrelenting technological progress Further she raised the concern of the atomisation of modern families violence and the urgent need for alternate modes of viewing voicing anxieties decades ahead of other contemporary writers Making futuristic projections through innumerable genres of writing such as realistic narratives memoirs diaries and science fiction Lessing examines myth psychoanalysis and Marxist perspectives engaging with a gamut of experiences that have defined modernity and sets up feminist blueprints that challenge atrophying patriarchal hegemonies

Twentieth Century Fiction George Woodcock, 1983-04-01

Cinema, Literature & Society Peter Miles, Malcolm Smith, 2013-12-17 During the interwar period cinema and literature seemed to be at odds with each other part of the continuing struggle between mass and elite culture which so worried writers such as Aldous Huxley T S Eliot and the Leavises And this cultural divide appeared to be sharp evidence of a deeper struggle for control of the nation's consciousness not only between dominant and oppositional elements within Britain but between British and American values as well On the one hand films like Sing As We Go Proud Valley and The Stars Look Down consolidated the assumptions about the existence of a national rather than separate class identities On the other hand working class literature such as Love on the Dole articulated working class experience in a manner intended to bridge the gap between the Two Englands This book originally published in 1987 examines how two of the most significant cultural forms in Britain contributed indirectly to the stability of Britain in the interwar crisis helping to construct a new class alliance A major element in the investigation is an analysis of the mechanics of the development of a national cultural identity alongside separate working class culture the development of the lower middle class and the implications of the intrusion of Hollywood culture The treatment throughout is thematic rather than text oriented works of

Graham Greene George Orwell Bert Coombes Evelyn Waugh the British Documentary Film Movement and Michael Balcon are included in the wide range of material covered Class Fictions Pamela Fox,1994-11-21 Many recent discussions of working class culture in literary and cultural studies have tended to present an oversimplified view of resistance In this groundbreaking work Pamela Fox offers a far more complex theory of working class identity particularly as reflected in British novels of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Through the concept of class shame she produces a model of working class subjectivity that understands resistance in a more accurate and useful way as a complicated kind of refusal directed at both dominated and dominant culture With a focus on certain classics in the working class literary canon such as The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists and Love on the Dole as well as lesser known texts by working class women Fox uncovers the anxieties that underlie representations of class and consciousness Shame repeatedly emerges as a powerful counterforce in these works continually unsettling the surface narrative of protest to reveal an ambivalent relation toward the working class identities the novels apparently champion Class Fictions offers an equally rigorous analysis of cultural studies itself which has historically sought to defend and value the radical difference of working class culture Fox also brings to her analysis a strong feminist perspective that devotes considerable attention to the often overlooked role of gender in working class fiction She demonstrates that working class novels not only expose master narratives of middle class culture that must be resisted but that they also reveal to us a need to create counter narratives or formulas of working class life In doing so this book provides a more subtle sense of the role of resistance in working class culture While of interest to scholars of Victorian and working class fiction Pamela Fox's argument has far reaching implications for the way literary and cultural studies will be defined and practiced Twentieth Century American Literature Warren French,1980-11-01 British Novelists Since 1960 Merritt Moseley,1999 Contains biographical sketches of representative British novelists whose work began to appear roughly around 1960 The New Georgics ,2016-09-12 The human condition in rural provincial locations is once again gaining status as a subject of European high fiction after several decades in which it was dismissed on aesthetic and ideological grounds This volume is one of the first attempts to investigate perspectives on local cultures values and languages both systematically and in a European context It does so by examining the works of a variety of authors including Hugo Claus Llamazares Bergounioux and Millet Buffalino and Consolo and also several Soviet authors who paint a grim picture of a collectivized and thus ossified rurality How do these themes relate to the ongoing trend of globalization How do these works which are often experimental connect in their form topics language and ideological subtext to the traditional rural or regional genres Far from naively celebrating a lost Eden most of these new Georgics reflect critically on the tensions in contemporary peripheral rural or regional cultures to the point of parodying the traditional topoi and genres This book is of interest to those wishing to reflect on the dynamics and conflicts in contemporary European rural culture Narrative and Genre Mary Chamberlain,Paul Thompson,2002-11-01 Any life story whether a written autobiography or an oral testimony is shaped not only by the reworkings of experience through memory and re evaluation but also art Any communication has to use shared conventions not only of language itself but also the more complex expectations of genre of the forms expected within a given context and type of communication This collection of essays by international academics draws on a wide range of disciplines in the social sciences and the humanities to examine how far the expectations and forms of genre shape different kinds of autobiography and influence what messages they can convey After investigating the problem of genre definition and tracing the evolution of genre as a concept contributors explore such issues as How far can we argue that what people narrate in their autobiographical stories is selected and shaped by the repertoire of genre available to them To what extent is oral autobiography shaped by its social and cultural context What is the relationship between autobiographical sources and the ethnographer Narrative and Genre presents exciting new debates in an emerging field and will encourage international and interdisciplinary debate Its authors and contributors are scholars from the fields of anthropology cultural studies literary analysis psychoanalysis social history and sociology
