Science and Technology Education and Communication Maarten C. A. van der Sanden, Marc J. de Vries, 2016-11-25 Science technology education on the one hand and communication on the other are to a large extent still separate worlds and many opportunities for synergy and cross fertilisation are yet unused This divide is unfortunate since educators need communication skills and communicators often use aspects of education in their strategies Moreover innovation processes in both domains ask for education and communication insights and skills Therefore scholars and practitioners in both domains must seek connections and synergy by exchanging insights and ideas This book discusses the shared aims of science technology education and communication such as science literacy and engagement as well as common processes and challenges such as social learning social design and professionalisation and assessment Aims processes and challenges that inspire enhance and deepen the education and communication synergy from a theoretical and practical side If one reads the various chapters and reflects on them from one's own perspective as a scholar or practitioner the question is no longer if cross fertilisation and synergy are needed but when are we seriously going to take up this challenge together This book aims to initiate the dialogue that the situation in the development of the topic requires at this point

Keeping the Promise Dennis Carlson, C. P. Gause, 2007 Textbook Sociology and the New Systems Theory Kenneth D. Bailey, 1994-01-01 After providing a review of classical theory this book carefully sketches the chief contributions of living systems theory social entropy theory autopoiesis and other approaches It shows that these approaches are without flaws of earlier functionalism yet they retain the breadth and integrative potential needed by mainstream theorists concerned about the threat of hyperspecialization and fragmentation within sociology International Media Communication in a Global Age Guy Golan, Thomas Johnson, Wayne Wanta, 2009-09-10 This volume provides a comprehensive examination of key issues regarding global communication focusing particularly on international news and strategic communication It addresses those news factors that influence the newsworthiness of international events providing a synthesis of both theoretical and practical studies that highlight the complicated nature of the international news selection process It also deals with international news coverage presenting research on the cross national and cross cultural nature of media coverage of global events in the interdisciplinary context of research on political communication war coverage new technologies and online communication The work concludes with a focus on global strategic communications in the age of globalization global economies and cross national media ownership chapters here provide readers with some of the most up to date research on international advertising public relations and other key issues in international communications With contributions from many of the leading scholars in the field of international media communication research this collection presents a valuable resource for advancing knowledge and understanding of the complicated international communication phenomenon It will be of value to upper level undergraduates and graduate students in mass media and communication programs and to scholars whose research focuses on global communication research Complexity Applications in Language and Communication Sciences Angels Massip-Bonet, Gemma Bel-Enguix, Albert Bastardas-Boada, 2019-01-11 This book offers insights on the study of natural language as a complex adaptive system It discusses a new way to tackle the problem of language modeling and provides clues on how the close relation between natural language and some biological structures can be very fruitful for science The book examines the theoretical framework and then applies its main principles to various areas of linguistics It discusses applications in language contact language change diachronic linguistics and the potential enhancement of classical approaches to historical linguistics by means of new methodologies used in physics biology and agent systems theory It shows how studying language evolution and change using computational simulations enables to integrate social structures in the evolution of language and how this can give rise to a new way to approach sociolinguistics Finally it explores applications for discourse analysis semantics and cognition

Explaining Law Larry D. Barnett, 2015-08-04 Sociologist lawyer Larry D Barnett advances the macrosociological thesis that in nations that are structurally complex and democratically governed concepts and doctrines of law on society central social activities are fashioned by society level conditions not by particular or even prominent individuals Because a substantial body of social science research has found that law in a modern nation does not have a large permanent effect on the frequency of such activities the book contends that the content of law on the activities is a product not a determinant of the society in which the law exists Explaining Law bolsters this contention with several original studies and illustrates types of quantitative evidence that can be used to build a macrosociological theory of law

Sourcebook of Family Theories and Methods Pauline Boss,William J. Doherty,Ralph LaRossa,Walter R. Schumm,Suzanne K. Steinmetz,2008-11-19 Origins We call this book on theoretical orientations and methodological strategies in family studies a sourcebook because it details the social and personal roots i e sources from which these orientations and strategies flow Thus an appropriate way to preface this book is to talk first of its roots its beginnings In the mid 1980s there emerged in some quarters the sense that it was time for family studies to take stock of itself A goal was thus set to write a book that like Janus would face both backward and forward a book that would give readers both a perspective on the past and a map for the future There were precedents for such a project The Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Harold Christensen and published in 1964 the two Contemporary Theories about the Family volumes edited by Wesley Burr Reuben Hill F Ivan Nye and Ira Reiss published in 1979 and the Handbook of Marriage and the Family edited by Marvin Sussman and Suzanne Steinmetz then in production
