Gifts and Interests Antoon Vanderveelde,2000 According to a common understanding of economics economists attempt to understand and explain societal reality in the light of individual self interest For them a gift is no exception to this except for the slight and misleading veil of altruism which covers a purely egoistic motivation On the other hand theologians philosophers and ethicists use a more normative concept of man Man realises his best potential through deeds of selfless sacrifice that remain unknown to everyone In reality however people are either entirely egoistic nor altruistic Marcel Mauss model of the gift is interesting because it seems to escape the classical or rather modern egoism altruism dichotomy Gifts are not primarily motivated by the well being of myself or the other but rather by the desire to bring about or maintain a certain kind of social relation between giver and receiver Altruistic as well as egoistic motivations are an integral part of that relation The role of gifts in the constitution of social relations and social cohesion explains why most kinds of gifts are reciprocal and even obligatory In this book anthropologists sociologists and economists as well as philosophers focus on the question of the relevance of Mauss work on the gift for the understanding of actual social phenomena Luminescence, Volume 3 C. K. Barrett, Fred Barrett, 2018-05-04 What is found in this series unveils an entirely different side of C K Barrett a side one might never have known about if one had knowledge only of his famous commentaries and monographs Herein lies a goodly selection of Kingsley s sermons preached largely in small and medium sized Methodist churches in the northeast of England though often elsewhere in England and around the world Fred Barrett was not the scholar his son was but on close inspection one can most definitely see the impact of the father on the son when it came to preaching It seems right to include as many sermons from both of these men as we can in this series One thing sorely lacking in much preaching these days is in depth engagement with both the biblical text and one s tradition and theology The sermons in these volumes demonstrate what such preaching can look like This third volume presents sermons from both the Old Testament and the New Testament
