The National Review ,1904 The Lost Province Or the Worth of Britain Martin Percival Charlesworth,1949

The Last Train from Elkland Doug McGuinn,2007-01-01 Not only is THE LAST TRAIN FROM ELKLAND a brief history of four northwestern North Carolina mountain communities it is also about two railroads that operated in and around these communities the Virginia Carolina also known as the Virginia Creeper in 1916 the Virginia Carolina Railway was bought by the Norfolk Western Railway and renamed the Abingdon Branch and the Deep Gap Tie and Lumber Company s railroad whose former Hassinger Lumber Company s Shay logging locomotive operated alongside Gap Creek from Deep Gap in Watauga County North Carolina to the South Fork of the New River near Fleetwood in Ashe County North Carolina a distance of only about five miles Although these communities were located in North Carolina they all had a common tie in with the neighboring state of Virginia the trains of the two railroads hauled logs that had been felled in the area surrounding the four communities timber destined to be cut at the Hassinger Lumber Company s sawmill in Konnarock Virginia By the time the blades went silent on Christmas Eve 1928 almost 400 million board feet of the area s best hardwood had passed through the Hassinger Lumber Company s sawmill How much did this unchecked logging contribute to the immense damage done to the area by the disastrous floods of 1916 and 1940 This question is also explored in this book German Literature in the Age of Globalisation Stuart Taberner,2004-11-01 Literary fiction in Germany has long been a medium for contemplation of the nation and questions of national identity From the mid 1990s in the wake of heated debates on the future direction of culture politics and society in a more normal united country German literature has become increasingly diverse and seemingly disparate at the one extreme it represents the attempt to reinvent German traditions at the other the unmistakable influence of Anglo American forms and pop literature A shared concern of almost all of recent German fiction however is the contemporary debate on globalisation its nature impact and consequences for local culture In its engagement with globalisation the literature of the Berlin Republic continues the long established practice of reflection on what it is to be German This book investigates literary responses to the phenomenon of globalisation The subject is approached from a wide range of thematic and theoretical perspectives in twelve chapters which taken together also provide an overview of German fiction from the mid 1990s to the present The book serves both as an introduction to contemporary German literature for university students of German and as a resource for scholars interested in culture and society in the Berlin Republic The
