Building Tomorrow's Biomedical Workforce: Evaluation of How Evidence-Based Training Programs Align Skill Development and Career Awareness with a Broad Array of Professions Adriana Bankston,Rebekah L. Layton,Audra Van Wart,2025-08-27

Building the future STEM workforce requires robust federal investments to support the next generation of innovators as well as systemic changes to enable graduate and postdoctoral researchers to transition with confidence into the biomedical workforce This effort involves the transformation of the biomedical research enterprise and training environment at all levels but especially at the predoctoral and postdoctoral levels Innovative initiatives in education and training as well as career and professional development of biomedical trainees are necessary to build upon the robust biomedical workforce of today and create and sustain a diverse innovative and highly trained biomedical workforce of tomorrow An important aspect of supporting the biomedical workforce relates to changes within training and the research enterprise with opportunities for reimagining what STEM education should look like at different levels including providing agency for junior scientists in the field The future of the field should focus on inclusivity supporting trainees from different backgrounds and with diverse perspectives including but not limited to intersectional identities in race ethnicity gender sexual orientation first generation status and international talent in STEM This requires critical policy changes in order to support the transition of biomedical research professionals into the labor market

Committee on Education and the Workforce. Subcommittee on 21st Century Competitiveness,2002 The Adaptable Degree Melanie Dreyer-Lude,2024-09-20 This book utilized a mixed methods research study of the career experiences of theatre graduates in the U S to provide data on employment patterns and job satisfaction With a population of over 1 000 participants this study examined where graduates were working how their careers had changed over time which skills acquired with their theatre degree were being used in current employment and whether they believed their course of study was worth the financial investment given their current circumstances Evidence from this study revealed that a theatre degree provided many of the skills the employment market is currently seeking and that theatre graduates were gainfully employed in multiple sectors of the economy This important data based field specific information will aid chairs deans provosts politicians students and parents in decision making at a time when arts and humanities departments across the country are under the threat of elimination International Training Programs in Labor Statistics ,1986 Options for Restructuring the Federal Employment and Training System United States. Congress. House. Committee on Government Operations. Employment, Housing, and Aviation Subcommittee,1995 Distributed to some depository libraries in microfiche Information Systems and Technology Education: From the University to the Workplace Lowry, Glenn R.,Turner, Rodney L.,2007-05-31 This book presents a multifaceted global view of the human dynamics of education supply demand and career development in the information systems and technology industry It provides a tool to meet the challenges of providing improved education and employing an optimal supply of information systems and technology graduates in the decades to come Provided by publisher Resources in Education ,2000-10 Class Degrees Evan Watkins,2009-08-25 A current truism holds that the undergraduate degree today is equivalent to the high school diploma of yesterday But undergraduates at a research university would probably not recognize themselves in the historical mirror of high school vocational education Students in a vast range of institutions are encouraged to look up the educational social scale whereas earlier vocational education was designed to cool out expectations of social advancement by training a working class prepared for massive industrialization In Class Degrees Evan Watkins argues that reforms in vocational education in the 1980s and 1990s can explain a great deal about the changing directions of class formation in the United States as well as how postsecondary educational institutions are changing Responding to a demand for flexibility in job skills and reflecting a consequent aspiration to choice and perpetual job mobility those reforms aimed to eliminate the separate academic status of vocational education They transformed it from a cooling out to a heating up of class expectations The result has been a culture of hyperindividualism The hyperindividual lives in a world permeated with against all odds plots from beat the odds of long supermarket checkout lines by using self checkout and buying FasTrak transponders to beat the odds of traffic jams to the endless superheroes on film and TV who daily save various sorts of planets and things against all odds Of course a few people can beat the odds only if most other people do not As choice begins to replace the selling of individual labor at the core of contemporary class formation the result is a sort of waste labor left behind by the competitive process Provocatively Watkins argues that in the twenty first century academic work in the humanities is assuming the management function of reclaiming this waste labor as a motor force for the future Employment and Training Report of the President United States. President,1998
