The Handbook of Social Work and Social Development in Africa Mel Gray, 2016-10-26 All recent books on international social work mention Africa only briefly and few engage with the broader field of development studies This book focuses solely on the unique African context engaging with issues relating to social work and development more broadly thus enabling a deeper examination and more complex and nuanced picture to emerge Unlike most academic works this book highlights multiple practitioner voices with authors or co authors that have recently been or are currently practising social workers As an edited book it draws from both academic research as well as lived practice experience supported by strong theoretical positioning and guidance in introductory chapters drawing on African literature wherever possible Looking at case studies from Lesotho Botswana Kenya Zimbabwe Ethiopia Namibia Uganda Nigeria Kenya South Africa Rwanda Zambia and Tanzania and covering established areas of practice such as child protection working with older people working with people with disabilities mental health and mainstream services targeting women as well as emerging areas of developmental social work practice such as humanitarian assistance in post conflict situations work with immigrants and refugees and the training of community based workers this book takes a future oriented perspective that aims to move beyond well worn critiques to envision constructive and sustainable futures for social work and social development in Africa from a critical perspective

Older People And Community Care Hughes, Beverly, 1995-09-01 Older People and

Community Care sets social and health care practice with older people firmly in the context of the new community care arrangements and the consequent organizational trends towards a market culture. However, it also questions the relative lack of attention given by professionals to issues of structural inequality in old age compared for example to race and gender. Thus the book tackles a double agenda: How can community care practice be suffused with anti-ageist values and principles? Addressing this question, the book sets out the foundation knowledge and values which must underpin the development of anti-discriminatory community care practice and examines the implications for practitioners in terms of the essential skills and inherent dilemmas which arise. Older People and Community Care is essential reading for all those working with and managing services to older people and who aspire to make empowerment for older people a reality. Handbook of Social Work Practice with Vulnerable and Resilient Populations Alex Gitterman, 2014-05-06. When community and family support systems are weak or unavailable and when internal resources fail, populations that struggle with chronic, persistent, acute and/or unexpected problems become vulnerable to physical, cognitive, emotional and social deterioration. Yet despite numerous risk factors, a large number of vulnerable people do live happy and productive lives. This best-selling handbook examines not only risk and vulnerability factors in disadvantaged populations but also resilience and protective strategies for managing and overcoming adversity. This third edition reflects new demographic data, research findings and theoretical developments and accounts for changing economic and political realities including immigration and health care policy reforms. Contributors have expanded their essays to include practice with individuals, families and groups, and new chapters consider working with military members and their families, victims and survivors of terrorism and torture, bullied children and young men of color.

The book discusses international and national social work strategies and practice and investigates the responsibilities for social welfare held by the state, the market and civil society. Hans van Ewijk then elaborates a new concept of citizenship-based social work which supports and encourages self-responsibility, social responsibility and the implementation of social rights. The main themes covered are international social policy and social work from welfare to workfare, citizenship essentials of citizenship-based social work, community policy and community work, social work and alternative areas of activity such as youth care and social care.
