Proceedings of the 2025 4th International Conference on Social Sciences and Humanities and Arts (SSHA 2025) Sun Jing, Sun Hefei, Liu Shuli, Ren Xianpin, Cuneyt Birkok, 2025-07-22 This is an open access book With the progress of social civilization social science and its research are becoming more and more important Theoretically and practically the study of social phenomena and social problems and the development of prosperous social sciences are the eternal themes of human beings At present social science research and its results can hardly meet the needs of social development especially the unscientific evaluation of social science results which has aroused great concern from all walks of life and has produced dirt and questions on social science thus affecting the proper development of social science Max Weber once said that the most important function of social science in modern times is to keep people clear headed and to resist the delusions of prophetic legislators Humanities and arts are the process of perceiving realizing thinking manipulating and expressing objective or subjective objects through capturing and excavating feeling and analyzing integrating and applying or displaying the stage results in the form obtained through feeling seeing hearing smelling touching The social sciences and humanities and arts contain content that will directly affect our lives and the way society functions And by reacting to today s increasingly intricate problems and situations through systematic and professional discussions they will further contribute to the improvement of institutions and the development of society By thinking about issues and looking at problems and the world from different perspectives by putting the two together it may be possible to have more comprehensive appropriate and better responses for example the development of laws requires a deeper understanding of the environment in which they are implemented international trade requires a certain understanding of the customs of different countries and the development of tax and economic policies requires a certain understanding of the population consumer demand etc Agents, Structures and International Relations Colin Wight, 2006-10-12 The agent structure problem is a much discussed issue in the field of international relations In his comprehensive 2006 analysis of this problem Colin Wight deconstructs the accounts of structure and agency embedded within differing IR theories and on the basis of this analysis explores the implications of ontology the metaphysical study of existence and reality Wight argues that there are many gaps in IR theory that can only be understood by focusing on the ontological differences that construct the theoretical landscape By integrating the treatment of the agent structure problem in IR theory with that in social theory Wight makes a positive contribution to the problem as an issue of concern to the wider human sciences At the most fundamental level politics is concerned with competing visions of how the world is and how it should be thus politics is ontology International Conflict Analysis in South Asia Safeer Tariq Bhatti, 2015-12-03 International Conflict Analysis in South Asia A Study of Sectarian Violence in Pakistan analyzes the ideological relationship of the Muslim identity to its perceived practice of Islam among the Shia and Deobandi sects A Muslim identity defined as the parameters of who is and who isn t a Muslim has led to the political conundrum of Pakistan to an anticipated single interpretation of Islam causing severe sectarian violence across the country. Sectarianism has been rooted in Pakistan's affairs since 1953 but most recently the country has been victimized by political and sectarian Islamic movements. The collective mobilization and propaganda campaigns of these movements have led to the exclusion of certain religious minorities and their practices. The study takes root in Punjab, Pakistan, among twenty-seven interviews where the Deobandi sect and the Shia sect face severe fatalities and undefined conflict.

Trust in International Relations Hiski Haukkala, Carina van de Wetering, Johanna Vuorelma, 2018-04-09. Trust is a core concept in International Relations (IR) representing a key ingredient in state relations. It was only relatively recently that IR scholars began to probe what trust really is, how it can be studied, and how it affects state relations. In the process, three distinct ways of theorising trust in IR have emerged: trust as a rational choice calculation, as a social phenomenon, or as a psychological dimension. Trust in International Relations explores trust through these different lenses using case studies to analyse the relative strengths and weaknesses of different approaches. The case studies cover relations between the United States and India, ASEAN and Southeast

Asian countries Finland and Sweden USA and Egypt The European Union and Russia Turkey's relations with the West This book provides insights with real world relevance in the fields of crisis and conflict management and will be of great interest for students and scholars of IR security studies and development studies who are looking to develop a more sophisticated understanding of how different theories of trust can be used in different situations The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY 4.0 license

International Norms and Mobilization for Democracy Manuel Orozco, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2002 This volume demonstrates that international action for democracy does not solely rest on American democracy promotion strategies but that it actually depends on a variety of global actors and interactions It is suitable for policy experts non governmental organizations international aid agencies and courses on international relations theory comparative politics and Latin American politics The book introduces a theoretical framework about the effect of international norms on democracy promotion connects the role of international institutions and norms with advocacy movements in shaping the mobilization to promote democracy analyses the relationship between the international dimension of democracy promotion and democratization explains the effect of international democracy promotion in the political transition of Nicaragua from 1979 to 2001 and brings into analysis the various modalities of democracy promotion and their effects

International Change and the Stability of Multiethnic States Badredine Arfi, 2005-02-23 An important contribution to scholarship rigorous and intelligible Patrick James University of Missouri International Change and the Stability of Multiethnic States contributes to the debate over ethnic conflict and cooperation in multiethnic states destabilized by the changing environment of the post Cold War era proposing a new way of viewing and dealing with these problems Through an analysis of important moments in the history of two prominent multiethnic societies the former Yugoslavia and Lebanon in which nonstate actors such as communal groups played important roles in events that determined the fates of both states Badredine Arfi builds a general theory of how the governance of multiethnic societies is transformed under changing international conditions His work provides new insights on how policymaking can be improved to respond to the challenges posed by the creation maintenance transformation and when it occurs collapse of state governance in multiethnic societies This timely work will interest scholars of international relations and comparative politics regional specialists policymakers and activists

The Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank M. Wan, 2016-04-29 This book assesses the strategic significance of the Asian Infrastructure

Investment Bank AIIB by examining the logic of international power and order historic trends in East Asian international relations the AIIB's design in comparison to rival financial institutions such as the World Bank and the Asian Development Bank recent tendencies in Chinese foreign policy and the Chinese system of political economy It focuses on how China constructs international arrangements at a critical juncture in history compared to other great powers especially the United States and Japan Viewed in isolation the AIIB does not represent a radical departure from the existing international order it is a hybrid institution built on China's integration into the West dominated international structure and conditioned by the global financial market But the AIIB does draw in part from a different institutional lineage a different historical root and a different national system of political economy In this context China's greater success will constitute a partial change to the existing international order whatever the Chinese intention

The Power of Language in the Making of International Law Stephane Beaulac, 2004-04-01 The purpose of this book is to enter into the history of the mental social phenomena that are the word sovereignty and the myth of Westphalia Given the circularity of language the project proposes to examine the reality creating role of language as an organic instrument of social power within humanity In semiotic terms the complex structures of words and also myths form part of sign systems in which they can both represent and create reality These are the passive and active functions of language which explain that words and myths not only represent and describe reality but may also play a leading part in creating and transforming reality thus demonstrating and being used to carry fabulous power within humanity The Peace of Westphalia is analysed to show that in spite of what actually took place in 1648 Westphalia has had an incredible social effect in international law standing for the proposition that it signalled the beginning of a new era based on state sovereignty However it is argued that Westphalia constitutes a myth an aetiological myth which has provided a way for society to explain itself to itself that is a way for international society to explain its genesis to itself As regards sovereignty it is shown that Jean Bodin introduced the word in Six Livres for the purpose of having the French ruler enjoy supreme power in the hierarchical organisation structure of society This is the original creative and transforming social effect on the shared consciousness of humanity for which the linguistic sign must be credited which has continued unaltered to this day With respect to Droit des Gens it is demonstrated that Emer de Vattel utilised and actually changed the reality associated with sovereignty also for a specific reason namely to carry out its externalisation the ruling entity was now to enjoy exclusive power to govern which entailed being the sole representative of the people both internally and externally and also meant that it could not be submitted to any foreign state or to any higher law externally Vattel's use of the word has had an extraordinary effect on the shared consciousness of society including that of the emerging international society which is still very much present today These two archetype cases in which sovereignty developed show how this word has really had two paradigms over the years that is it has represented and created the two distinct realities of the internal and the international
