The Handbook of Critical Theoretical Research Methods in Education

Cheryl E. Matias, 2021-05-12 The Handbook of Critical Theoretical Research Methods in Education approaches theory as a method for doing research rather than as a background framework Educational research often reduces theory to a framework used only to analyze empirically collected data In this view theories are not considered methods and studies that apply them as such are not given credence This misunderstanding is primarily due to an empiricist stance of educational research one that lacks understanding of how theories operate methodologically and presumes positivism is the only valid form of research This limited perspective has serious consequences on essential academic activities publication tenure and promotion grants and academic awards Expanding what constitutes methods in critical theoretical educational research this edited book details 21 educationally just theories and demonstrates how theories are applied as method to various subfields in education From critical race hermeneutics to Bakhtin's dialogism each chapter explicates the ideological roots of said theory while teaching us how to apply the theory as method This edited book is the first of its kind in educational research To date no other book details educationally just theories and clearly explicates how those theories can be applied as methods With contributions from scholars in the fields of education and qualitative research worldwide the book will appeal to researchers and graduate students

Gender, Conflict and International Humanitarian Law Orly Maya

Stern, 2018-07-27 This book conducts a gendered critique of the principle of distinction in international humanitarian law IHL with a focus on recent conflicts in Africa The principle of distinction is core to IHL and regulates who can and cannot be targeted in armed conflict It states that civilians may not be targeted in attack while combatants and those civilians directly participating in hostilities can be The law defines what it means to be a combatant and a civilian and sets out what behaviour constitutes direct participation Close examination of the origins of the principle reveals that IHL was based on a gendered view of conflict which envisages men as fighters and women as victims of war Problematically this view often does not accord with the reality in new wars today in which women are playing increasingly active roles often forming the backbone of fighting groups and performing functions on which armed groups are highly reliant Using women's participation in new wars in Africa as a study this volume critically examines the principle through a gendered lens questioning the extent to which the principle serves to protect women in modern conflicts and how it fails them By doing so it questions whether the principle of distinction is suitable to effectively regulate the conduct of hostilities in new wars This book will be of much interest to students of international law gender studies African politics war and conflict studies and international relations Culture, Power And History Stephen J. Pfohl, 2006 This volume brings together theoretical meditations and empirical studies of the intersection of culture power and history in social life Contributors bring a diversity of critical sociological perspectives and subject matters to this important edited book Community Practice Skills Dorothy N.
