Social Logics, Conversations and Groups in Everyday Life James Hill Parker, 1985-06-11 Health Care and Freedom James Hill Parker, 1994 Logics II James Hill Parker, 1992 The author attempts to link the social and biological sciences in a new way It appears that there are Social Logics which are cross cultural and seem to have a biological substrate This book shows how the biological baseline can be used for research into social cultural and other forms of organization It includes three case studies which use Logics Analysis to illustrate how this method can be successfully applied to group structure and process Parker discusses evidence for Social Logics through principles of language art myth literature and music Contents The Social Logics Paradigm Issues about Interpretation and Method Social Logics Analysis of Real Situations Conclusion Human Resources Abstracts ,1986 Cybernetica ,1993 The New England Book of the Dead James Hill Parker, 1995 This unique book is a study of northern New England and its culture s views of death The author James Hill Parker pieces together conversations funerals and other evidence of a latent Book of the Dead He also makes comparisons with the Mayan and various books of the dead The book discusses several methodological problems that were encountered in the author s search for the New England and other books of the dead Readers will benefit from the information that Parker has gathered due to his insider outside status His intriguing work will surely interest historians sociologists and the literate public who want to learn more about New England s cultural history Social Thinking and History Constance De Saint Laurent, 2020-09-14 Social Thinking and History demonstrates that our representations of history are constructed through complex psychosocial processes in interaction with multiple others and that they evolve throughout our lifetime playing an important role in our relation to our social environment Building on the literature on social thinking collective memory and sociocultural psychology this book proposes a new perspective on how we understand and use our collective past It focuses on how we actively think about history to construct representations of the world within which we live and how we learn to challenge or appropriate the stories we have heard about the past Through the analysis of three studies of how history is understood and represented in different contexts in political discourses in France by intellectuals and artists in Belgium and when discussing a current event in Poland its aim is to offer a rich picture of our representations of the past and the role they play in everyday life This book will be of great interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of psychology memory studies sociology political science and history It will also make an interesting read for psychologists and human and social scientists working on collective memory A Handbook of Media and Communication Research Klaus Bruhn Jensen, 2013-03 This handbook covers perspectives from both the social sciences and the humanities It provides guidelines for how to think about plan and carry out studies of media in different social and cultural contexts The Logic of Intersubjectivity Darren M. Slade, 2020-08-27 To survey harsh criticisms against Brian Douglas McLaren 1956 readers gain the inaccurate impression that he is a heretical relativist who denies objective truth and logic While McLaren s

inflammatory and provocative writing style is partly to blame this study also suspects that his critics base much of their analyses on only small portions of his overall corpus The result becomes a caricature of McLaren s actual philosophy of religion What is argued in this book is that McLaren s philosophy of religion suggests a faith based intersubjective relationship with the divine ought to result in an existential appropriation of Christ s religio ethical teachings When subjectively internalized this appropriation will lead to the assimilation of Jesus kingdom priorities thereby transforming the believer s identity into one that actualizes Jesus kingdom ideals The hope of this book is that by tracing McLaren s philosophy of Christian religion future researchers will not only be able to comprehend and perhaps empathize with McLaren s line of reasoning but they will also possess a more nuanced discernment of where they agree and disagree with his overall rationale

Theory and Methods for Sociocultural Research in Science and Engineering Education Gregory J. Kelly, Judith L. Green, 2018-12-17

Introducing original methods for integrating sociocultural and discourse studies into science and engineering education, this book provides a much needed framework for how to conduct qualitative research in this field. The three dimensions of learning identified in the Next Generation Science Standards (NGSS) create a need for research methods that examine the sociocultural components of science education. With cutting edge studies and examples consistent with the NGSS, this book offers comprehensive research methods for integrating discourse and sociocultural practices in science and engineering education and provides key tools for applying this framework for students, pre-service teachers, scholars, and researchers.

Who Runs the Artworld Brad Buckley, John Conomos, 2017-09-01

Who Runs the Artworld: Money, Power, and Ethics examines the economics and mythologies of today's global artworld. It unmasks the complex web of relationships that now exist among high profile curators, collectors, museum trustees, and corporate sponsors, and the historic and ongoing complicity between the art and money markets. The book examines alternative models being deployed by curators and artists influenced by the 2008 global financial crisis and the international socio-political Occupy movement, with a particular focus on a renewed activism by artists. This activism is coupled with an institutional and social critique led by groups such as Liberate Tate, the Precarious Workers Brigade, and Strike Debt. Who Runs the Artworld: Money, Power, and Ethics brings together a diverse range of thinkers who draw on the disciplines of art theory, social sciences, and cultural economics and curatorship, and the lived experience of artists. The contributors to this book are in their respective contexts, working at the forefront of these compelling issues.

Routledge Introductions to Applied Linguistics is a series of introductory level textbooks covering the core topics in Applied Linguistics, primarily designed for those beginning postgraduate studies or taking an introductory MA course, as well as advanced undergraduates. Titles in the series are also ideal for language professionals returning to academic study. The books take an innovative practice to theory approach with a back to front structure. This leads the reader from real world problems and issues through a discussion of intervention and how to engage with these concerns, before finally relating these practical issues to theoretical foundations. Additional features include tasks with commentaries, a glossary of key terms, and an annotated further reading section. Exploring Health Communication brings together many of the various linguistic strands in health communication while maintaining an interdisciplinary focus on method and theory. Innovations in Educational Ethnography George Spindler, Lorie Hammond, 2012-10-12 This volume focuses on and exemplifies how ethnography a research tool devoted to looking at human interaction as a cultural process rather than individual psychology can shed light on educational processes framed by the complex internationalized societies in which we live today Part I offers theoretical chapters about ethnography and examples of innovative ethnography from particular perspectives In Part II the emphasis is on the application of ethnographic approaches to educational settings Each contribution not only takes the reader on a thoughtful and enlightening journey but raises issues that are important to both educators and ethnographers including the relationship of researcher to subject the meaning of participant in participant observation and ways to give voice to disenfranchised players and on the complex ways in which all parties experience identities such as race in the modern world Innovations in Educational Ethnography Theory Methods and Results is a product of both continuity and change It presents current writings from mentors in the field of ethnography and education as well of the work of their students and of educators engaged in cultural studies of their work In many ways it provides fresh new vistas on the old questions that have always guided ethnographic research and can be used as a survey both of what ethnography has been and what it is becoming This book is the work of many hands and provides excellent examples of trends in both basic and applied ethnography of education These two kinds of work augment and reinforce each other and also represent important current research directions in depth reflection on the process of ethnography itself and an application of its insights to teaching and learning in schools universities and communities No one philosophy guides the contributions to this volume nor were they chosen as exemplary of a particular approach yet foundational understandings and principles of ethnography shine through the work in both predictable and unexpected ways
