Psychophysiological Aspects of Reading and Learning Victor M. Rentel, Samuel A. Corson, Bruce R. Dunn, 2017-11-01 Bringing together neurological assessments of reading and cognition this provocative volume originally published in 1985 presents eight major and sometimes controversial studies on the parts and patterns of the reading process With comprehensive coverage ranging from psycholinguistics and education to neurophysiology these studies highlight new directions in the field at the time The contributors support an interactive rather than dichotomous model of brain function and stress individual differences in assessing reading and cognitive skills Psychology Library Editions: Psychology of Reading Various Authors, 2021-03-01 The psychology of reading investigates the process by which readers extract visual information from written text and make sense of it Psychology Library Editions Psychology of Reading 11 Volumes brings together as one set or individual volumes a small series of previously out of print titles originally published between 1980 and 1995 The set includes topics such as dyslexia and the relationship between speech and reading Psychobiology of Stress Stefano Puglisi-Allegra, A. Oliverio, 2012-12-06 From a historical point of view the first studies on the response of the organism to stressful situations in general and on the psychobiology of stress in particular are probably those of Cannon and de la Paz the physiologists who showed in 1911 that the adrenal medulla and the sympathetic system are involved in emergency situations Cannon noted that the venous blood of cats frightened by barking dogs contained adrenaline a response of the organism which was prevented by adrenal ectomy or by section of the splanchnic nerve innervating the adrenal medulla Cannon suggested that the adrenal medulla was acting in concert with the sympathetic nervous system so that both systems were activated during stress The role of the sympathetic system in response to stressful events was later emphasized by the experiments carried out by Maickel et al 1967 and by Mason 1968 these authors clearly showed that stressors activate the sympathetic system causing it to release adrenaline and noradrenaline This line of research may be contrasted with that carried out by Hans Selve centered on of the adrenal cortex in the stress response Selve s findings and theories originated the role the so called hypothalamic pituitary adrenal cortex HPA model of stress in short during stress adrenocorticotropic hormone is released from cells of the anterior pituitary and elicits secretion of glucocorticoids from the adrenal cortex Adjustment Disorder Patricia R. Casey, 2018 Adjustment Disorder From Controversy to Clinical Practice provides concise and comprehensive information on Adjustment Disorder and advances a greater understanding and better diagnostic skills among those clinicians working with this group of patients Stress, Shock, and Adaptation in the Twentieth Century David Cantor, Edmund Ramsden, 2014 This edited volume brings together leading scholars to explore the emergence of the stress concept and its ever changing definitions since the 1940s Stress is one of the most widely utilized medical concepts in modern society Originally used to describe physiological responses to trauma it is now applied in a variety of other fields and contexts such as in the construction and expression of personal identity social relations building and engineering and the various complexities of the competitive capitalist economy In addition scientists and medical experts use the concept to explore the relationship between an ever increasing number of environmental stressors and the evolution of an expanding range of mental and chronic organic diseases such as hypertension gastric ulcers arthritis allergies and cancer Thisedited volume brings together leading scholars to explore the emergence and development of the stress concept and its definitions as they have changed over time It examines how stress and closely related concepts have been used to connect disciplines such as architecture ecology physiology psychiatry psychology public health urban planning and a range of social sciences its application in different settings such as the battlefield workplace clinic hospital and home and the advancement of techniques of stress management in a number of different national sociocultural and scientific locations Contributors Theodore M Brown David Cantor Otniel E Dror Rhodri Hayward Mark Jackson Robert G W Kirk Junko Kitanaka Tulley Long Joseph Melling Edmund Ramsden Elizabeth Siegel Watkins Allan Young David Cantor is acting director Office of History National Institutesof Health Edmund Ramsden is Wellcome Trust University Award Research Fellow at the School of History Queen Mary University of London Epidemiology of Aging ,1975 Psychiatry and Psychology in the USSR Samuel Corson, 2012-12-06 This book is aimed at a professional audience of psychiatrists psychologists and educators as well as Slavic studies scholars and teachers and intelligent lay readers It would be presumptious to attempt to cover the entire field of Soviet psychiatry and psychology in one modest volume During the past several decades there has been a remarkable flourishing and diversification of research in psychology and psychiatry in the USSR What we have attempted to do in this symposium is to present a constructive critical overview of certain limited areas by arranging an interchange of observations and ideas between several American scientists knowledgeable in these fields and a psychologist and psychiatrist who obtained their education and working experience in the USSR We hope to be able to expand such symposia in the future so as to cover other important areas of these disciplines This monograph presents an eyewitness account of Pavlov by W Horsley Gantt one of three surviving students of Pavlov and to the best of my knowledge the only American who actually studied and worked with Pavlov It is a measure of Dr Gantt's devotion to the development of scientific psychiatry that he went to the USSR to spend six years in Pavlov s laboratory at a time of extreme economic hardship and political turmoil in that country and in the face of having to master a difficult language In his presentation Dr Lifeskills Dr. Redford Williams, Virginia Williams, 2010-06-09 Here are the eight skills this book will help you master 1 Identify your thoughts and feelings how to tap into your feelings especially the negative ones 2 Evaluate your negative feelings negative thoughts and options how to decide when to take action 3 Communicate better how to be a more effective listener and speaker 4 Empathize with others to understand their behavior how to appreciate a situation from someone else s point of view 5 Do problem solving how to define the problem generate alternatives and evaluate the outcomes 6 Practice assertion how to get others to do what you want 7 Practice acceptance how to back off without feeling like a failure 8 Emphasize the positive how to build better relationships using a proven ratio of positive to negative interactions Lifeskills shows how building better relationships is an essential part of preserving health and offers eight clear steps anyone can use to make that happen
