Abstract:

Suicide is a serious public and social health problem in Bangladesh. The seasonal variance in suicide is an under-researched area in Bangladesh which needs attention due to the nature of its prevalence. This article describes the seasonal variation of suicide for a Bangladeshi district named Jhenaidah for the 2011-2018 period. Suicide data was obtained from the Societies for Voluntary Activities (SOVA), who is knowingly the only non-government organization (NGO) working to prevent suicide in the area. In this paper, descriptive analysis was undertaken. A total of 2,786 suicides occurred in the Jhenaidah district across the study period. Data is aggregated by sex and month. The highest average overall suicide rates occurred during the hot, summer monsoon period, ranging from April to September ($\geq 8.7\%$ per month for the study period). This period represents the time when Bangladeshis experience the highest average temperatures around $+28.8^{\circ}\text{C}$. The incidence of suicide is reported to be higher during summer for both the sexes, though males deviated with a high incidence in winter too. Females still commit more suicide than men, but the gap is narrowing gradually. As an important variable, seasonality may contribute significantly to the explanations of the complex phenomenon of suicide. This study not only contributes to the existing knowledge but also paves the way to undertake further research that can contextualize the relationship between suicide and seasonality in Bangladesh.

M. Yasir Arafat,Sujita Kumar Kar,2025-06-12 This book discusses the association between ecological and social determinants and suicidal behavior Suicidal behavior is an extremely complex human behavior It is an outcome of complex interactions among multiple factors like gene and environment biopsychosocial proximal and distal factors Several risk factors such as psychiatric disorders life events social deprivation personality traits and disorders and substance abuse have been identified even though those vary based on culture time country and methods of assessment In recent times evidence has shown associations among ecological variables like the human development index the income of the country the GINI index educational attainment the green environment climate change and suicidal behavior At the same time there are interlinked confounding variables that challenge the findings Given the lack of literature discussing these findings this book seeks to compare and contrast the ecological aspects and suicidal behavior holistically

Suicidal Behavior in Muslim Majority Countries S. M. Yasir

Arafat, Mohsen Rezaeian, Murad M. Khan, 2024-06-07 The book is about suicidal behavior in Muslim majority countries Islam is the second largest religion in the world There are also sizable Muslim populations in non Islamic countries Suicide is strongly prohibited in Islam and based on this tenet suicide and self harm remain criminalized acts in many Islamic countries When compared to the global estimates for suicide rates and to non Islamic countries Muslim majority countries have lower rates indicating that Islamic faith and practice may be protective against suicidal behaviors However several factors such as criminal status stigma toward suicide extreme dearth of research low quality data and under reporting make it difficult to draw any firm conclusions Hence this book aims to do a deeper study of suicidal behaviors in Muslim majority countries covering epidemiology risk factors and the challenges of suicide prevention in Muslim majority countries
