Language and Society in South Asia Michael C. Shapiro, Harold F. Schiffman, 2008-09-30 During the past two decades there has been a significant amount of research and publication concerning the sociolinguistics of South Asian languages

Language and Society in South Asia is the first major attempt to assess the impact of this new literature. It expounds the methodological and theoretical assumptions of sociolinguistic descriptions of South Asian languages and contrasts them with the assumptions of earlier characterizations of these languages. An important feature of this book is its detailed examination of numerous schools of linguistic analysis within which most past descriptive work on South Asian languages has been carried out. This is done in a language accessible both to the professional linguist and to non linguists interested in social aspects of language use in South Asia. Among the topics treated in this book are traditional taxonomies of South Asian languages, South Asia as a linguistic area, social dialectology, bi- and multilingualism in South Asia, pidginization, creolization and South Asian English, ethnographic semantics and the ethnography of speaking. The work also contains an extensive bibliography of the scholarly literature pertinent to the study of South Asian languages in their social contexts.
