Songs from the Stations Myfany Turpin, Felicity Meakins, 2019 The Gurindji people of the Northern Territory are perhaps best known for their walk off of Wave Hill Station in 1966 protesting against mistreatment by the station managers The strike would become the first major victory of the Indigenous land rights movement Many discussions of station life are focused on the harsh treatment of Aboriginal workers Songs from the Stations portrays another side of life on Wave Hill Station Amongst the harsh conditions and decades of mistreatment an eclectic ceremonial life flourished during the first half of the 20th century Constant travel between cattle stations by Indigenous workers across north western and central Australia meant that Wave Hill Station became a cross road of desert and Top End musical styles As a result the Gurindji people learnt songs from the Mudburra who came further east the Bilinarra from the north the Nyininy from the west and the Warlpiri from the south This book is the first detailed documentation of wajarra public songs performed by the Gurindji people in response to contemporary events in their community Featuring five song sets known as Laka Mintiwarra Kamul Juntara and Freedom Day it is an exploration of the cultural exchange between Indigenous communities that was fostered by their involvement in the pastoral industry Publisher's website

Sukuma Labor Songs from Western Tanzania Frank D. Gunderson, 2010 This volume is an interpretive analysis of a collection of 335 song texts treated as primary historical sources The collection highlights the cultural practices that link music with labor in Sukuma communities in northwestern Tanzania These linkages are evident in the music of the elephant snake and porcupine hunting associations that flourished in the precolonial epoch in the nineteenth century regional and long distance

porter associations and in the farmer associations that have proliferated since the beginning of the twentieth century Acting primarily as an interpretive editor the author collaborated with several Tanzanian scholars and translators towards fine tuning the translation of these texts into English and gathered testimonies in order to create succinct interpretive statements about the songs

Songs from the Operas for Tenor Henry Edward Krehbiel,1909 Greek Folk-songs from the Ottoman Provinces of Northern Hellas John S. Stuart-Glennie,1888 Songs from Sweden Ola Johansson,2020-05-16 Songs from Sweden shows how Swedish songwriters and producers are the creative forces behind much of today's international pop music. As Ola Johansson reveals, the roots of this music miracle can be found in Sweden's culture, economy, and thriving music industry concentrated in Stockholm. While Swedish writer-producers developed early global recognition for making commercially successful pop music, new Swedish writer-producers have continuously emerged during the last two decades. Global artists travel to Stockholm to negotiate record deals and co-write songs. At the same time, Swedish writer-producers are part of a global collaborative network that spans the world. In addition to concrete commercial accomplishments, the Swedish success is also a result of the acquisition of reputational capital gained through positive associations that the global music industry holds about Swedish music. Ultimately, pop songs from Sweden exhibit a form of cultural hybridity drawing from both local and global cultural expressions.
