As Thought is Led Alicia Keisker Van Buren,1904 Why Lyrics Last Brian Boyd,2012-04-19 In Why Lyrics Last the internationally acclaimed critic Brian Boyd turns an evolutionary lens on the subject of lyric verse He finds that lyric making though it presents no advantages for the species in terms of survival and reproduction is universal across cultures because it fits constraints of the human mind An evolutionary perspective especially when coupled with insights from aesthetics and literary history has much to tell us about both verse and the lyrical impulse Boyd places the writing of lyrical verse within the human disposition to play with pattern and in an extended example he uncovers the many patterns to be found within Shakespeare s Sonnets Shakespeare s bid for readership is unlike that of any sonneteer before him he deliberately avoids all narrative choosing to maximize the openness of the lyric and demonstrating the power that verse can have when liberated of story In eschewing narrative Shakespeare plays freely with patterns of other kinds words images sounds structures emotions and moods argument and analogy and natural rhythms in daily seasonal and life cycles In the originality of his stratagems and in their sheer number and variety both within and between sonnets Shakespeare outdoes all competitors A reading of the Sonnets informed by evolution is primed to attend to these complexities and better able to appreciate Shakespeare s remarkable gambit for immortal fame
