The Politics of the Book of the twentieth century either trained formally as ethnographers or worked as amateur collectors of folklore and folk culture. In Inventing the New Negro Lamothe explores the process by which key figures such as Zora Neale Hurston, Katherine Dunham, W. E. B. Du Bois, James Weldon Johnson, and Sterling Brown adapted ethnography and folklore in their narratives to create a cohesive collective and modern black identity. Lamothe explores how these figures assumed the roles of self-reflective translators and explicators of African American and African diasporic cultures to Western, largely white audiences. Lamothe argues that New Negro writers ultimately shifted the presuppositions of both literary modernism and modernist anthropology by making their narratives as much about ways of understanding as they were about any quest for objective knowledge. In critiquing the ethnographic framework within which they worked, they confronted the classist, racist, and cultural biases of the dominant society and challenged their readers to imagine a different set of relations between the powerful and the oppressed. Inventing the New Negro combines an intellectual history of one of the most important eras of African American letters with nuanced and original readings of seminal works of literature. It will be of interest not only to Harlem Renaissance scholars but to anyone who is interested in the intersections of culture, literature, folklore, and ethnography.

Citizen of the World Phillip Luke Sinitiere, 2019-08-15. In his 1952 book In Battle for Peace, published when W. E. B. Du Bois was eighty-three years old, the brilliant black scholar announced that he was a citizen of the world. Citizen of the World chronicles selected chapters of Du Bois's final three decades between the 1930s and 1960s. It maps his extraordinarily active and productive latter years to social, cultural, and political transformations across the globe. From his birth in 1868 until his death in 1963, Du Bois sought the liberation of black people in the United States and across the world through intellectual and political labor. His tireless efforts documented and demonstrated connections between freedom for African descended people abroad and black freedom at home. In concert with growing scholarship on his twilight years, the essays in this volume assert the fundamental importance of considering Du Bois's later decades not as a life in decline that descended into blind ideological allegiance to socialism and communism, but as the life of a productive, generative intellectual who responded rationally, imaginatively, and radically to massive mid-century changes around the world and who remained committed to freedom's realization until his final hour.

W.E.B. Du Bois Gerald Horne, 2009-11-12. This biography of W. E. B. Du Bois gives full measure to his entire life, including his controversial final decades. This revealing biography captures the full life of W. E. B. Du Bois: historian, sociologist, author, editor, a leader in the fight to bring African Americans more fully into the American landscape, as well as a forceful proponent of them leaving America altogether and returning to Africa. Drawing on extensive research, Gerald Horne, a leading authority on Du Bois and a versatile and prolific scholar in his own right, offers a fully rounded portrait of this accomplished and controversial figure, including the often overlooked final decades without which no portrait of Du Bois could be complete. The book also highlights Du Bois's relationships with and influence upon other leading civil rights activists, both during and subsequent to his extraordinarily long life, including Booker T. Washington.

Frederick Douglass, Marcus Garvey, Martin Luther King, Malcolm X, and Jesse Jackson      Photography on the Color Line
Shawn Michelle Smith, 2004-06-07 An exploration of the visual meaning of the color line and racial politics through the analysis of archival photographs collected by W E B Du Bois and exhibited at the Paris Exposition of 1900      Classical and Contemporary Sociological Theory Scott Appelrouth, Laura Desfor Edles, 2020-08-13 Classical and Contemporary Sociological Theory Text and Readings provides students with the best of both worlds carefully edited excerpts from the original works of sociology's key thinkers accompanied by an analytical framework that discusses the lives, ideas, and historical circumstances of each theorist. This unique format enables students to examine, compare, and contrast each theorist's major themes and concepts      Toni Morrison Adrienne Lanier Seward, Justine Tally, 2014-08-12 Toni Morrison Memory and Meaning boasts essays by well-known international scholars focusing on the author's literary production and including her very latest works, the theatrical production Desdemona and her tenth and latest novel Home. These original contributions are among the first scholarly analyses of these latest additions to her oeuvre and make the volume a valuable addition to potential readers and teachers eager to understand the position of Desdemona and Home within the wider scope of Morrison's career. Indeed, in Home we find a reworking of many of the tropes and themes that run throughout Morrison's fiction, prompting the editors to organize the essays as they relate to themes prevalent in Home. In many ways, Morrison has actually initiated paradigm shifts that permeate the essays. They consistently reflect in approach and interpretation the revolutionary change in the study of American literature represented by Morrison's focus on the interior lives of enslaved Africans. This collection assumes black subjectivity rather than argues for it in order to reread and revise the horror of slavery and its consequences into our time. The analyses presented in this volume also attest to the broad range of interdisciplinary specializations and interests in novels that have now become classics in world literature. The essays are divided into five sections, each entitled with a direct quotation from Home and framed by two poems: Rita Dove's The Buckeye and Sonia Sanchez's Aaayeee Babo Aaayeee Babo Aaayeee Babo      The African Diaspora and the Study of Religion T. Trost, 2007-12-25 This book focuses on the location of the religious heritage of Africa within the academic study of religion, including indigenous African religions, African Christianities, African American forms of Islam, the religions of African Americans, Afro-Caribbean religions, and Afro-Brazilian religions      Du Bois Reiland Rabaka, 2021-03-24 W E B Du Bois is widely considered one of the most accomplished and controversial African American intellectuals in U.S. history. A pioneering historian, sociologist, political economist, and civil rights activist, his masterpiece The Souls of Black Folk remains one of the most widely read books in the history of American literature. In this new book, Reiland Rabaka critically explores Du Bois's multidimensional legacy, lucidly introducing his main contributions in areas ranging from American sociology and critical race studies to black feminism and black Marxism. Rabaka argues that Du Bois's corpus, particularly when attention is given to his contributions to the critique of racism, sexism, capitalism, and colonialism, can be persuasively interpreted as both an undeniable and unprecedented contribution to the origins and evolution of one of our most important contemporary critical concepts intersectionality Du Bois A Critical Introduction is an indispensable resource for scholars and students of history sociology politics and economics It will also be very valuable for those working in interdisciplinary fields ranging from African American studies critical race studies and critical white studies to black feminism black Marxism and black internationalism

Race, Social Science and the Crisis of Manhood, 1890-1970 Malinda Elaine Lindquist, 2012-05-31 Black Social Science and the Crisis of Manhood 1890 1970 describes the young black male crisis why we are largely unfamiliar with the story of the black superman and why this matters to contemporary debates It does so by returning to the work of those original black social scientists to explore the ways in which they understood the challenges of black manhood offered substantive critiques of the nation's race class and gender systems and worked to construct a progression The careful study of their work reveals the centrality of gender to discussions of race and class and also new possibilities for understanding and discussing black men This book offers a look at pioneering black social scientists as well as a history of the changing perceptions ideals and shifting depictions of black and white manhood over nearly a century

The Crisis, 2003-03 The Crisis founded by W E B Du Bois as the official publication of the NAACP is a journal of civil rights history politics and culture and seeks to educate and challenge its readers about issues that continue to plague African Americans and other communities of color For nearly 100 years The Crisis has been the magazine of opinion and thought leaders decision makers peacemakers and justice seekers It has chronicled informed educated entertained and in many instances set the economic political and social agenda for our nation and its multi ethnic citizens

Tennessee's Experience During the First World War Michael E. Birdwell, 2024-01-02 This book includes fourteen essays on Tennessee's experience during World War I The essays introduce a range of entry points to the conflict from typical soldier stories including Birdwell's own essay on Alvin York to politics agribusiness African Americans and present day recollections

Sounding the Break Jason Frydman, 2014-04-03 The idea of world literature has served as a crucial though underappreciated interlocutor for African diasporic writers informing their involvement in processes of circulation translation and revision that have been identified as the hallmarks of the contemporary era of world literature Yet in spite of their participation in world systems before and after European hegemony Africa and the African diaspora have been excluded from the networks and archives of world literature In Sounding the Break Jason Frydman attempts to redress this exclusion by drawing on historiography ethnography and archival sources to show how writers such as W E B Du Bois Zora Neale Hurston Alejo Carpentier Derek Walcott Maryse Condé and Toni Morrison have complicated both Eurocentric and Afrocentric categories of literary and cultural production Through their engagement with and revision of the European world literature discourse he contends these writers conjure a deep history of literary traffic whose expressions are always already cosmopolitan embedded in the long histories of cultural and economic exchange between Africa Asia and Europe It is precisely the New World American location of these writers

Frydman concludes that makes possible this revisionary perspective on the idea of Old World literature      Belief Aaron Z. Zimmerman, 2018-04-12 Have you ever called yourself a pragmatist Have you ever wondered what that means Aaron Zimmerman traces the origins of pragmatism to a theory of belief defended by the nineteenth century Scottish philosopher Alexander Bain and defends a novel take on the pragmatic theory in light of contemporary cognitive neuroscience social psychology and evolutionary biology Pragmatists define their beliefs in terms of information poised to guide our more attentive controlled actions Zimmerman describes the consequences of this definition for the reader s thinking on the relation between psychology and philosophy the mind and brain the nature of delusion faith pretence racism and more He employs research on animal cognition to argue against the propositional attitude analysis of belief now popular among Anglo American philosophers offers pragmatic diagnoses of Capgras syndrome and various forms of racial cognition and defends William James famous doctrine of the will to believe Zimmerman believes we often have room to believe what we want Indeed the adoption of a theory of belief is an instance of this very phenomenon
