Ten Tough Trips:

Ten Tough Trips William W. Bevis, 2004-04-01 Ten Tough Trips is William W. Bevis's literary journey through the works of ten of the West's most prominent authors including A. B. Guthrie Jr., D. Arcy McNickle, James Welch, Richard Hugo, Ivan Doig, and Norman Maclean. In a series of essays originally assembled to complement The Last Best Place, a Montana Anthology, Bevis deflates European myths of escape to a natural West beyond civilization and shows how Montana has developed its own voice true to the complications and austerities of a splendid land. His chapters on Native American writers have been especially well received. Through sensitive and discerning analysis, Bevis shows how love of the land can become more enduring and haunting even as the myths are stripped away, and in a new afterword he addresses the emergence of important women writers from 1990 to the present. Of particular note is his consideration of Mary Clearman Blew and her extraordinary memoir All But the Waltz, which Bevis believes to be a pioneering work reflective of the post-modern West.

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc. All Rights Reserved Fifty Years After The Big Sky William E. Farr, William W. Bevis, 2001 Writers, historians, and public intellectuals from James Welch and Mary Clearman Blew to Dan Flores. William W. Bevis and Daniel Kemmis explore A. B. Guthrie's life and legacy in Fifty Years after The Big Sky. New Perspectives on the Fiction and Films of A. B. Guthrie Jr. Best known for his novels The Big Sky and The Way West and as the author of the screenplay for the movie classic Shane, A. B. Guthrie is a much-loved but under-studied Montana author. There has been almost no serious study of Guthrie's work until now. This wide-ranging anthology examines this beloved western author in multiple contexts. Essays examine Guthrie's relationship with the movie industry, how the Cold War influenced Guthrie's work, how people in his hometown of Choteau, Montana, and others close to him remember the man, and how the myths that lie at the core of Guthrie's fiction haunt today's Montanans.

That Dream Shall Have a Name David L. Moore, 2020-04-01 The founding idea of America has been based largely on the expected sweeping away of Native Americans to make room for Euro-Americans and their cultures. In this authoritative study, David L. Moore examines the works of five well-known Native American writers and their efforts beginning in the colonial period to redefine an American and American identity that includes Native Americans. That Dream Shall Have a Name focuses on the writing of Pequot Methodist minister William Apess in the 1830s, on Northern Paiute activist Sarah Winnemucca in the 1880s, on Salish M'tis novelist, historian, and activist D. Arcy McNickle in the 1930s, and on Laguna poet and novelist Leslie Marmon Silko and on Spokane poet, novelist, humorist, and filmmaker Sherman Alexie both in the latter twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. Moore studies these five writers' stories about the conflicted topics of sovereignty, community identity, and authenticity, always tinged with irony and often with humor. He shows how Native Americans have tried from the beginning to shape an American narrative closer to its own ideals, one that does not include the death and destruction of their peoples. This compelling work offers keen insights into the relationships between Native and American identity and politics in a way that is both accessible.
