The Living Alphabet

Henry William Elson

The Living Alphabet:

The Living Alphabet Warren Chappell, 1975 The collection contains the corrected typescript galley proofs page proofs on galley sheets unbound signatures and hand drawn illustrations for Chappell's book Living Alphabet Famke Zonneveld, 2003 The reader is challenged to find a variety of things in pictures featuring each letter of the alphabet Includes an afterword that discusses the philosophy of teaching at Waldorf schools The Living Alphabet Angeline Welk, 2016-11-22 Now more than ever cursive handwriting needs to be included in our curriculum of evolution because appropriate cursive maintains neurological connections establishes new pathways to receive higher frequencies of knowledge and activates latent regions of the brain that transmit through the whole physiological design In addition each letter in the alphabet is a channel to activate for specific wisdom and knowledge within the individual and collective mind spirit When we resonate with each letter we become part of its directive consciousness to be expressed in this physical reality We attain this resonance as we mindfully write the letters allowing their spiritual rays to activate within us the extended consciousness of the Infinite Mind that each represents Divine attainment is coded within the alphabet Students of all ages can progress beautifully in consciousness through cursive writing and alphabet studies This book is composed of two parts The first includes articles that appeared in the Sedona Journal of Emergence about each letter Following each article is a guide on how to form that letter and a mantra to use as you trace it The second part is a workbook with exercises designed to increase your connection to your true being and the universe War Letters from the Living Dead Man Elsa Barker, David Patterson Hatch, 1915

War letters from the living dead man Elsa Barker, 1916 Letters From a Living Dead Man, War Letters From the Living Dead Man, Last Letters From the Living Dead Man David Patterson Hatch (Elsa Barker), One night last year in Paris I was strongly impelled to take up a pencil and write though what I was to write about I had no idea Yielding to the impulse my hand was seized as if from the outside and a remarkable message of a personal nature came followed by the signature X The purport of the message was clear but the signature puzzled me The following day I showed this writing to a friend asking her if she had any idea who X was Why she replied don't you know that that is what we always call Mr I did not know Now Mr was six thousand miles from Paris and as we supposed in the land of the living But a day or two later a letter came to me from America stating that Mr had died in the western part of the United States a few days before I received in Paris the automatic message signed X So far as I know I was the first person in Europe to be informed of his death and I immediately called on my friend to tell her that X had passed out She did not seem surprised and told me that she had felt certain of it some days before when I had shown her the X letter though she had not said so at the time Naturally I was impressed by this extraordinary incident X was not a spiritualist I am not myself and never have been a spiritualist and so far as I can remember only two other supposedly disembodied entities had ever before written automatically through my hand This had happened when I was in the presence of a mediumistic person but the messages were brief and I had not attached any great importance to the phenomena In childhood I had several times put my hand upon a planchette with the hand of another person and the planchette had written the usual trivialities On one occasion some months before the first X letter I had put my hand upon a planchette with the hand of a non professional medium and the prophecy of a fire in my house during a certain month in the following year was written supposedly by a dead friend which prophecy was literally verified though the fire was not caused by my hand nor was it in my own apartment A few times years before I had been persuaded by friends to go with them to professional sances and had seen so called materialisations I had also seen independently a few appearances which I could not account for on any other hypothesis than that of apparitions of the dead But to the whole subject of communication between the two worlds I felt an unusual degree of indifference Spiritualism had always left me quite cold and I had not even read the ordinary standard works on the subject Nevertheless I had for a number of years almost daily seen hypnagogic visions often of a startlingly prophetic character and the explanation of them later given by X may be the true explanation Soon after my receipt of the letter from America stating that Mr was dead I was sitting in the evening with the friend who had told me who X was and she asked me if I would not let him write again if he could I consented more to please my friend than from any personal interest and the message beginning I am here make no mistake came through my hand It came with breaks and pauses between the sentences with large and badly formed letters but quite automatically as in the first instance The force used on this occasion was such that my right hand and arm were lame the following day Several letters signed X were automatically written during the next few weeks but instead of becoming enthusiastic I developed a strong disinclination for this manner of writing and was only persuaded to continue it through the arguments of my friend that if X really wished to communicate with the world I was highly privileged in being able to help him X was not an ordinary person He was a well known lawyer nearly seventy years of age a profound student of philosophy a writer of books a man whose pure ideals and enthusiasms were an inspiration to everyone who knew him His home was far from mine and I had seen him only at long intervals So far as I remember we had never discussed the question of postmortem consciousness Gradually as I conquered my strong prejudice against automatic writing I became interested in the things which X told me about the life beyond the grave I had read practically nothing on the subject not even the popular Letters from Julia so I had no preconceived ideas The messages continued to come After a while there was no more lameness of the hand and arm and the form of the writing became less irregular though it was never very legible For a time the letters were written in the presence of my friend then X began to come always when I was alone He wrote either in Paris or in London as I went back and forth between those two cities Sometimes he would come several times a week again nearly a month would elapse without my feeling his presence I never called him nor did I think much about him between his visits During most of the time my pen and my thoughts were occupied with other matters Only in one instance before the writing began had I any idea as to what the letter would contain One night as I took up the pencil I knew what X was going to write about but though

I remember the incident I have forgotten to which message it referred While writing these letters I was generally in a state of semi consciousness so that until I read the message over afterwards I had only a vague idea of what it contained In a few instances I was so near unconsciousness that as I laid down the pencil I had not the remotest idea of what I had written but this did not often happen When it was first suggested that these letters should be published with an introduction by me I did not take very enthusiastically to the idea Being the author of several books more or less well known I had my little vanity as to the stability of my literary reputation I did not wish to be known as an eccentric a freak But I consented to write an introduction stating that the letters were automatically written in my presence which would have been the truth though not all the truth This satisfied my friend but as time went on it did not satisfy me It seemed not quite sincere I argued the matter out with myself If I said I publish these letters without a personal introduction they will be taken for a work of fiction of imagination and the remarkable statements they contain will thus lose all their force as convincing arguments for the truth of a hereafter If I write an introduction stating that they came by supposedly automatic writing in my presence the question will naturally arise as to whose hand they came through and I shall be forced to evasion But if I frankly acknowledge that they came through my own hand and state the facts exactly as they are only two hypotheses will be open first that they are genuine communications from the disembodied entity second that they are lucubrations of my own subconscious mind But this latter hypothesis does not explain the first letter signed X which came before I knew that my friend was dead does not explain it unless it be assumed that the subconscious mind of each person knows everything In which case why should my subconscious mind set out upon a long and laborious deception of me on a premise which hadnot been suggested to it by my own objective mind or that of any other person That anyone would accuse me of deliberate deceit and romancing in so serious a matter did not then and does not now seem likely my fancy having other and legitimate outlets in poetry and fiction The letters were probably two thirds written before this question was finally settled and I decided that if I published the letters at all I should publish them with a frank introduction stating the exact circumstances of their reception by me The actual writing covered a period of more than eleven months Then came the question of editing What should I leave out What should I include I determined to leave out nothing except personal references to X s private affairs to mine and to those of his friends I have not added anything Occasionally when X s literary style was clumsy I have reconstructed a sentence or cut out a repetition but I have taken far less liberty than I used as an editor to take with ordinary manuscripts submitted to me for correction Sometimes X is very colloquial sometimes he uses legal phraseology or American slang Often he jumps from one subject to another as one does in friendly correspondence going back to his original subject without a connecting phrase He has made a few statements relative to the future life which are directly contrary to the opinions which I have always held These statements remain as they were written Many of his philosophical propositions were quite new to me Sometimes I did not see their profundity until months afterwards

study Witness Lee opens up Paul's second Epistle to the Corinthians a book on the new covenant ministry and its ministers. The first Epistle to the Corinthians was the apostle's argument an argument that defeated and subdued the distracted and confused Corinthians. Now the second Epistle brought them back into the experience of Christ who was the subject of his argument in the first Epistle. Hence the second Epistle is more experiential more subjective and deeper than the first. In the first Christ the Spirit with our spirit the church and the gifts are covered as the major subjects. In the second Christ the Spirit with our spirit and the church are developed further but the gifts are not even mentioned. The gifts are replaced in this book by the ministry which is constituted with and produced and formed by the experiences of the riches of Christ gained through sufferings consuming pressures and the killing work of the cross. This Epistle gives us a pattern an example of how the killing of the cross works how Christ is wrought into our being and how we become the expression of Christ. These processes constitute the ministers of Christ and produce the ministry for God's new covenant.
