doesn't exist. Women are just not that interested in making horror films. This is what you get when you are a woman working in horror, whether as a writer, academic, festival programmer, or filmmaker. These assumptions are based on decades of flawed, scholarly, critical, and industrial thinking about the genre. Women Make Horror sets right these misconceptions. Women have always made horror. They have always been an audience for the genre, and today, as this book reveals, women academics, critics, and filmmakers alike remain committed to a film genre that offers almost unlimited opportunities for exploring and deconstructing social and cultural constructions of gender, femininity, sexuality, and the body. Women Make Horror explores narrative and experimental cinema, short anthology, and feature filmmaking, and offers case studies of North American, Latin American, European, East Asian, and Australian filmmakers, films, and festivals. With this book, we can transform how we think about women filmmakers and genre.

ShockDecember Charles Roxburgh, 2002-11-28. 21 horror movies in 48 hours. Had anything comparable ever been attempted? Would it be possible to absorb such a volume of madness and stupidity? Could we maintain our sanity after such a barrage of bad taste? Out of these questions, an experiment was born: an experiment that will forever be known as ShockDecember. Three young men push the limits of taste and sanity by plunging headlong into the movie marathon to end all movie marathons. Misleading box covers. Foolish teenage victims. Continuity errors galore. The pole vault to freedom. Multiple Donald Pleasance sightings. Rampaging panavans. Tom Hanks and his diatribe on fear. And the worm eating the glorious worm eating. The mind-bending experience of ShockDecember is documented within these pages.
