Steeple And Stacks Religion And Steel Crisis In Youngstown Ohio:

Steeple and Stacks Thomas G. Fuechtmann, 2009-02-12 Steeple and Stacks is an examination of the religion based community group that formed in Youngstown Ohio in 1977 in opposition to the proposed shutdown of a portion of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube's steel works one of the most dramatic of the plant closings that have come to symbolize American deindustrialization Church leaders and steel workers banded together to form a powerful ecumenical political coalition established links with Washington lobbyists and proposed to buy the plant and run it as a community industry Though the proposal ultimately failed the story of the coalition illuminates the growing interaction of religious and public affairs in American life and provides an analysis of the dynamics of intergovernmental corporate and community relations at the local level Fuechtmann who became involved as a participant observer in the coalition and is trained in both political science and theology focuses on the process of coalition formation and the pivotal role of religious leaders that distinguished the Youngstown case from so many other plant closings

History of Jewish Youngstown and the Steel Valley, A Thomas Welsh, Joshua Foster & Gordon F. Morgan, with the Mahoning Valley Historical Society, 2017 Founded in the Mahoning Valley during 1837 a tiny settlement of secular German immigrants grew into one of the most influential centers of Jewish life in the Midwest Home to nationally renowned rabbis and Zionist firebrands alike the community produced an astonishing array of leaders in an impressive range of fields throughout the twentieth century This notable legacy ranges from the entertainment juggernaut of Warner Brothers to the Arby's fast food empire and the prominent Youngstown Sheet Tube among many others Authors Thomas Welsh Joshua Foster and Gordon F Morgan trace the unique history of one of Ohio's oldest Jewish communities from its humble beginnings into the challenging climate of the new millennium A History of Jewish Youngstown and the Steel Valley Thomas Welsh, Joshua Foster, Gordon F. Morgan, The Mahoning Valley Historical Society, 2017-05-01 Founded in the Mahoning Valley during 1837 a tiny settlement of secular German immigrants grew into one of the most influential centers of Jewish life in the Midwest Home to nationally renowned rabbis and Zionist firebrands alike the community produced an astonishing array of leaders in an impressive range of fields throughout the twentieth century This notable legacy ranges from the entertainment juggernaut of Warner Brothers to the Arby's fast food empire and the prominent Youngstown Sheet Tube among many others Authors Thomas Welsh Joshua Foster and Gordon F Morgan trace the unique history of one of Ohio's oldest Jewish communities from its humble beginnings into the challenging climate of the new millennium

Steelworker Alley Robert Bruno, 1999 For retired steelworkers in Youngstown Ohio the label working class fits comfortably Questioning the widely held view that laborers in postwar America have adopted middle class values Robert Bruno shows that in this community a blue collar identity has provided a positive focus for many residents The son of a Youngstown steelworker Bruno returned to his hometown seeking to understand the formation of his own working class consciousness and the place of labor in the larger capitalist society Drawing on interviews with dozens of former steelworkers and on research in local archives Bruno explores the culture of the community including such subjects as relations among co workers class antagonism and attitudes toward authority He describes how because workers are often neighbors the workplace takes on a feeling of neighborhood He also demonstrates that to understand class consciousness one must look beyond the workplace in this instance from Youngstown s front porches to its bowling alleys and voting booths Written with a deeply personal approach Steelworker Alley is a richly detailed look at workers which reveals the continuing strength of class relationships in America

Lost Youngstown Sean T. Posey, 2016-04-11 The massive steel mills of Youngstown once fueled the economic boom of the Mahoning Valley Movie patrons took in the latest flick at the ornate Paramount Theater and mob bosses dressed to the nines for supper at the Colonial House In 1977 the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company announced the closure of its steelworks in a nearby city The fallout of the ensuing mill shutdowns erased many of the city s beloved landmarks and neighborhoods Students hurrying across a crowded campus tread on the foundations of the Elms Ballroom where Duke Ellington once brought down the house On the lower eastside only broken buildings and the long silent stacks of Republic Rubber remain Urban explorer and historian Sean T Posey navigates a disappearing cityscape to reveal a lost era of Youngstown

Beyond the Ruins Jefferson Cowie, Joseph Heathcott, 2003 The immediate impact of deindustrialization the suffering inflicted upon workers their families and their communities has been widely reported by scholars and journalists In this important volume the authors seek to move discussion of America s industrial decline beyond the immediate ramifications of plant shutdowns by placing it into a broader social political and economic context Emphasizing a historical approach the authors explore the multiple meanings of one of the major transformations of the twentieth century The concept of deindustrialization entered the popular and scholarly lexicon in 1982 with the publication of The Deindustrialization of America by Barry Bluestone and Bennett Harrison Beyond the Ruins both builds upon and departs from the insights presented in that benchmark study In this volume the authors rethink the chronology memory geography culture and politics of industrial change in America Taken together these original essays argue that deindustrialization is not a story of a single emblematic place such as Flint or Youngstown or a specific time period such as the 1980s Nor is it limited to the abandoned factory buildings associated with heavy industry Rather deindustrialization is a complex process that is uneven in its causes timing and consequences The essays in this volume examine this process through a wide range of topics from worker narratives and media imagery to suburban politics environmental activism and commemoration

Running Steel, Running America Judith Stein, 2000-11-09 The history of modern liberalism has been hotly debated in contemporary politics and the academy Here Judith Stein uses the steel industry long considered fundamental to the U S economy to examine liberal policies and priorities after World War II In a provocative revision of postwar American history she argues that it was the primacy of foreign commitments and the outdated economic policies of the state more than the nation s racial conflicts that transformed American liberalism from the powerful progressivism of the New Deal to the feeble policies of the 1990s Stein skillfully integrates a number of narratives usually treated in isolation labor civil rights politics business and foreign policy while underscoring the state's focus on the steel industry and its workers By showing how those who intervened in the industry treated such economic issues as free trade and the globalization of steel production in isolation from the social issues of the day most notably civil rights and the implementation of affirmative action Stein advances a larger argument about postwar liberalism Liberal attempts to address social inequalities without reference to the fundamental and changing workings of the economy she says have led to the foundering of the New Deal state

Closing Chapters Thomas G. Welsh, 2011-01-01 Closing Chapters attempts to explain the disintegration of urban parochial schools in Youngstown Ohio a onetime industrial center that lost all but one of its eighteen Catholic parochial elementary schools between 1960 and 2006 Through this examination of Youngstown Welsh sheds light on a significant national phenomenon the fragmentation of American Catholic identity
