Interquadrangular George Frederick Gundelfinger,1924 A Rhetoric of Meanings Gergana Apostolova,2015-09-04 This book presents an in depth analysis of language's role as the tool and environment for human survival on Earth examining its ability to provide an unlimited space for telling individual stories that bear the knowledge of mankind's self significance The book is the result of a 20 year long composite study of language phenomenology grounded in the interactions of Bulgarian and English approached in a game like fashion where the play with language units transcends levels of meanings based on significances and explored through the four basic avatars of activated language the learner the teacher the translator and the creator of texts The book is divided into three sections the first details the motivation for this study and the design of the method of exploration This is followed by an application of this method to the talkative web in order to find ways of meeting the enormous demand for human content The final section brings together the colourful practices of activated language movement This book is not about the philosophy of language per se It is concerned with the practical field beyond the philosophy of language where the self identification of the Subject is brought to a higher stage of communicative creativity The rhetoric theory of argumentation is argued throughout the book to be the relevant ground for building a holistic tool of language learning where language acquisition is seen as the capability of the subject to construct worlds in a universe whose leading structure involves the rhetoric criteria of ethos pathos and logos on the one hand and the self identifying choice of meanings to situations of complex nature on the other As such the book is primarily concerned with linguistics rhetoric semiotics of culture ethics and language learning viewed through a philosophical preoccupation with humanity

E-Kind Gery Apostolova,2016-06-24 There are three main drivers of human progress fear of death new toys and telling tales The fear of death makes us look for extended spaces of human activity and bridges over spans of inexistence Virtual space created by the electronically supported web supply such infinity to our kind The fast growing twenty first century is still a time of technology and humankind look like kids playing at the gates where routes through time start And still we are keen on telling our individual tales lest they might fail to get in their niche of extended existence In our passionate impatience to reach infinity of the race humankind is turning into e kind It takes up the vast spaces of virtuality making itself free from material and spiritual cargo at the same time being dependent on both material and ideal modes of existence The author has been on the track of active philosophy for the late thirty years or to put it in a metaphoric way in the misty grounds of teaching young people of a dying country how to survive in a fast changing environment The name chosen for misty people in a misty space is e kind The book is the authors report about her experience with growing e kind The approach to knowing is called SIAN systematic integrated approach to the net and the general field of this type of philosophizing thus is fixed as belonging to the philosophy of the infosphere
