Mathematics (Education) in the Information Age Stacy A. Costa, Marcel Danesi, Dragana Martinovic, 2020-12-10 This book brings together ideas from experts in cognitive science mathematics and mathematics education to discuss these issues and to present research on how mathematics and its learning and teaching are evolving in the Information Age Given the ever broadening trends in Artificial Intelligence and the processing of information generally the aim is to assess their implications for how math is evolving and how math should now be taught to a generation that has been reared in the Information Age It will also look at the ever spreading assumption that human intelligence may not be unique an idea that dovetails with current philosophies of mind such as posthumanism and transhumanism The role of technology in human evolution has become critical in the contemporary world Therefore a subgoal of this book is to illuminate how humans now use their sophisticated technologies to chart cognitive and social progress Given the interdisciplinary nature of the chapters this will be of interest to all kinds of readers from mathematicians themselves working increasingly with computer scientists to cognitive scientists who carry out research on mathematics cognition and teachers of mathematics in a classroom

English Sandra Greiffenstern,2010 Computers and the Internet gave rise to the emergence of computer mediated communication CMC The Influence of Computers the Internet and Computer Mediated Communication on Everyday English focuses on the use of English in connection with computers and the Internet and on its influences on everyday English by analysing the dispersal of new meanings of words neologisms features of CMC and new metaphors The intention is to show the computer and Internet related impact on the English language from several perspectives and to take several ways into consideration in which the Internet and CMC are changing language use and to evaluate this influence at least as far as this is possible A History of Media W. Lambert Gardiner,2002 The conception day gift includes a means of storing information memory and of transmitting information speech Memory Speech could thus be considered as a first generation of media However natural selection can explain our evolution only to a hunter gatherer society How have we managed the transitions over historical time to an agricultural an industrial and now an information society We have learned how to extend our nervous systems by storing information Print Film second generation by transmitting information Telephone Television third generation and by both storing and transmitting information outside our bodies Multimedia Internet fourth generation A History of Media tells this story of the co evolution of the person and media as extensions This long perspective will help us better understand our turbulent transitional times as we assimilate the fourth generation of media This third transition will be clarified by analogy with the first and second transitions as we assimilated the second and third generations of media The work of Harold Innis Marshall McLuhan and their successors in the Toronto School of Media Studies will help illuminate those transitions The Extended Mind Robert K. Logan,2008-06-12 The ability to communicate through language is such a fundamental part of human existence that we often take it for granted rarely considering how sophisticated the process is by which we understand and make ourselves understood In The Extended Mind acclaimed author Robert K Logan examines the origin emergence and co evolution of language the human mind and culture Building on his previous study The Sixth Language 2000 and making use of emergence theory Logan seeks to explain how language emerged to deal with the complexity of hominid existence brought about by tool making control of fire social intelligence coordinated hunting and gathering and mimetic communication The resulting emergence of language he argues signifies a fundamental change in the functioning of the human mind a shift from percept based thought to concept based thought From the perspective of the Extended Mind model Logan provides an alternative to and critique of Noam Chomsky s approach to the origin of language He argues that language can be treated as an organism that evolved to be easily acquired obviating the need for the hard wiring of Chomsky s Language Acquisition Device In addition Logan shows how according to this model culture itself can be treated as an organism that has evolved to be easily attained revealing the universality of human culture as well as providing an insight as to how altruism might have originated Bringing timely insights to a fascinating field of inquiry The Extended Mind will be sure to find a wide readership maintains that a new comparative literature must take stock of the political impact of translation technologies on the definition of foreign or symbolic languages in the humanities while recognizing the complexity of language politics in a world at once more monolingual and more multilingual
