

- Structural elements - the bands unnerving performance and shots of urban landscapes
- Typical performance style - band members performing the song to the camera, looking directly at the lens and lip syncing the lyrics - making eye contact with the viewers as if the group are communicating directly to the audience
- Hypnotic chant of "this town is coming like a ghost town" - suggesting a nightmarish version of the world / wailing chorus - suggesting frightening prospect of the future
- "Can't go on no more" - tone of despair - also shown through the bands performance inside the car eg - verse 1 - stiff body language and dull facial expressions
- "All the clubs have bee closed down" - night clubs are supposed to be places where young people can meet and have a good time but they are closed so their lives are 'dead' or muted
- hellish chorus - madness in bands faces - conveys the anger felt and sense of insanity felt by young people who were abandoned by the uncaring elite.
- Cramming in the car uncomfortably. Could show their struggle to find a place in society beyond the confined vehicle.
- Towards the end of the chorus , its shown that one of the band members is thrown out the car - signifying their journey through life in 1980s and that not everyone will survive.

NARRATIVE ANALYSIS:

- Music begins with unnatural sounds of wind and shots of tower blocks that are taken from a worms eye view - makin observers appear insignificant and powerless - audiences might feel at unease from these opening tilting and panning shots of these buildings.
- In the music video, movements from one shot to the next is determined by the rhythm of the song - focusing on different skyscrapers with each beat - these are recognisable to audiences that they are skyscrapers from London
- Urban landscapes to be represented in an isolated and intimidating tone - focus on the young people affected and the government being blind to their needs -

Word and Music Studies Walter Bernhart, Werner Wolf, David L. Mosley, 2001 This volume assembles twelve interdisciplinary essays that were originally presented at the Second International Conference on Word and Music Studies at Ann Arbor MI in 1999 a conference organized by the International Association for Word and Music Studies WMA The contributions to this volume focus on two centres of interest The first deals with general issues of literature and music relations from culturalist historical reception aesthetic and cognitive points of view It covers issues such as conceptual problems in devising transdisciplinary histories of both arts cultural functions of opera as a means of reflecting postcolonial national identity the problem of verbalizing musical experience in nineteenth century aesthetics and of understanding reception processes triggered by musicalized fiction The second centre of interest deals with a specific genre of vocal music as an obvious area of word and music interaction namely the song cycle As a musico literary genre the song cycle not only permits explorations of relations between text and music in individual songs but also raises the question if and to what extent words and or music contribute to creating a larger unity beyond the limits of single songs Elucidating both of these issues with stimulating diversity the essays in this section highlight classic nineteenth and twentieth century song cycles by Franz Schubert Robert Schumann Hugo Wolf Richard Strauss and Benjamin Britten and also include the discussion of a modern successor of the song cycle the concept album as part of today's popular culture

Reading Texts in Music and Literature of the Long Nineteenth Century Phyllis Weliver, Katharine Ellis, 2025-06-10 This collection offers students a practical guide to understanding the ways music and literature intersect and the influence of each on the other as well as developing methods of study This is the first coursebook to help students explore the many types of relationship that exist between music and literature when studied in historical or aesthetic contexts It fosters interdisciplinary study among students in these subject areas and helps to break down the barrier of music as seeming impenetrable to students outside musicology Chapters each discuss music text relationships via an important social aesthetic or cultural theme that maps onto key preoccupations of the long nineteenth century Each chapter presents a case study text first followed by a short summary that sets out the challenges of approach and interpretation involved A section on background then places the featured case study in historical or aesthetic context leading to a detailed discussion The book offers a learning experience combining the methodological in
